THE CAROLINE.
WEST NEWTON HAS A MODEL NEW APARTMENT BUILDING.

The Caroline is the name bestowed upon the handsome new brick block on Washington street, West Newton, which has just been completed and a cut of which appears above. It is one of the finest blocks in the city, and it is the intention of the owner, Mrs. C. J. Barker, to continue it to the westward, so that it will contain when fully completed,
seven stories and fourteen apartments.
The fact that all the apartments are already rented ought to lead to the building of other apartment houses in the city, as this proves that there is a good demand for them, and that they will be profitable investments. Such has been the case in the other suburbs of Boston.

The building is of the colonial style,
three stories, and constructed of brick finished in white mortar, with trimmings to match and with an elaborate copper cornice. It has a frontage of 75 feet and a depth of 80 feet. There are now three stories and six apartments.

There are hardwood floors throughout the building, and the apartments are finished in hard wood, with excellent arrangements for light and heat. They have all the modern improvements, such as steam heat, hot and cold water, bath rooms, set tubs, electric and gas lights, and elevators. Each apartment is entirely separate, and has its own electric bell,

and speaking tubes connecting the front and rear.
The construction has been very thorough, Mr. C. J. Barker of Hannewell avenue, Newton, being the builder,
who is well known for the excellent work
he puts into his contracts. The architect was J. A. Hasty of 68 Devonshire street, Boston.

The building is erected on the old Barker estate, which has been in the family since 1819, and the Barker house,
one of the old landmarks of Newton, stands just beyond, but will be removed
when the extension to the block is built.
Business in West Newton has been moving westward, and the building of this block will add to the movement. The stores have been looked over by a number of business men, and will probably soon be engaged. The cost of the block when completed will be $75,000.

Boston and Y. H. Eaton, Esq., of Lawrence will deliver addresses.

—Sunday was the most perfect day of the year and every one seemed to be out enjoying it. By the afternoon there was not broken a kind to be obtained at any of the Newton stables. The streets were filled with bicyclers and with every kind of a vehicle that could be put in use.

—Miss Florence A. Danham, bookkeeper single later that will stop this early canning for a while.

—Mr. Frank Cotton owns an intelligent
fox. The canine got aboard the $3.00 express for Boston yesterday and managed to reach the city. It is supposed it was a case of evasion of fare. Anyhow, a telephone message was received at the telegraph office toward noon from S. S. Pierce & Co., stating that the dog was then at their Copley square store. Not rats but groceries must have been the object.

—The Social Science Club held its first meeting this week. This year the club will study the mutual relations of the employer and the employed. They will take up current topics, strikes, preventable causes of poverty and crime, public schools, the relations of government to public functions, moral reform in literature and art, the cultivation of the artistic sense in the young, and the preservation of the forests.

As the St. Johnsbury Club recently asked:
"What would you do for St. Johnsbury if you had time and money?" this club is to ask: "What can this club do for Newton as a community?"

—Numerous complaints have been made of late concerning that confounded nuisance, the sling shot. Every boy has one and uses it during his early career. The club can be made to execute a great amount of damage and that is just what they are being utilized for by some of the young urchins hereabouts. Windows are broken in Hove's block, in a residence on Channing street and in several houses in the vicinity of Boyd street. Children have been pelted with beans, small pebbles and like, and altogether the boys have been having what they call a gala time. They will be obliged to abandon the pastime or take their chance of appearing before Judge Kennedy in the municipal court.
The authorities are determined to put an end to it.

—Mr. John Cheney Potter died at his home on Walnut Park, on Thursday morning at 2 o'clock. He has been ill for nearly three years, and while his disease was one that might prove fatal at any time, he had been quite comfortable of late, but about midnight he grew very suddenly, and although Dr. McIntosh was summoned, medical skill was of no avail. Mr. Potter was born in West Brookfield, this state, but came to Boston when a young man to take a position with his uncle, who was in the boot and shoe business. For many years he was the head of the firm of Potter, White & Bailey, one of the largest shoe firms in Boston. They had factories in Farmington, N. H., Cohasset and North Abington, and did a business of many hundred thousand dollars yearly. The approach of the hard times, which caused the failure of some western firms, which were heavily indebted to them, and the failure of the Potter Lovell company brought about the downfall of the firm, after an honorable existence of nearly fifty years. Soon after these business troubles and as a result of them Mr. Potter was taken ill and his condition has been so serious that his death at any time during the past two years would not have surprised his physicians, as his disease was considered hopeless from the beginning. Mr. Potter has lived in Newton ever since his marriage to Miss Lucy Bailey, daughter of one of the old residents of the city, and he always took a prominent part in city and social affairs.
He leaves a wife, two sons and a daughter.

CITY COUNCIL IN SESSION.

HEARING ON MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP OF GAS AND ELECTRIC LIGHTING PLANTS—ATTORNEY J. B. GOODRICH PRESENTS A STRONG ARGUMENT IN OPPOSITION—JUDGE KENNEDY AND MR. E. W. REDPATH SPEAK IN FAVOR OF THE PROPOSITION—ROUTINE BUSINESS.

Both branches of the city council were in session Monday evening.

In the board of aldermen, Mayor Fenno announced the appointment of Wade E. Dearborn and Richard Kyle as regular police officers, both having satisfactorily served the probationary six months. The appointments were confirmed, also those of election officers in Ward Six to fill vacancies laid over for one week under the rules.

A communication from the school board was read, notifying the city council of the resignation of Colon S. Ober as a member of that body, Oct. 24, and of the existence of a vacancy in the board in Ward Four.

A communication was received from Mary A. Sweet opposing the granting of a location for an electric street railroad on Eldredge street.

H. Suider of Boston was granted a gun license. A license to keep and sell gunpowder was granted to G. N. B. Sherman, Lincoln street, Newton Highlands.

At this point, the hearing on the municipal ownership of gas and electric lighting plants was opened. It relates to the authority given under Chapter 370 of the acts of the Legislature of 1891, permitting cities and towns to establish or purchase existing plants for the manufacture and distribution of gas and electricity.

The hearing was held in the aldermen's room before both branches of the city government.

Alderman Roffe said that he desired to offer some explanation of the position of the street lighting committee in reference to the municipal lighting proposition, as it had not submitted any report prior to introducing the order, which, if passed, places the city council on record as favoring the scheme and provides for the submission of the people of the city to a vote on the question.

The committee, said Alderman Roffe, has been confronted with a very serious problem in arriving at a decision in reference to the exercise of the authority given under the statute of 1891, permitting cities and towns to manufacture and distribute gas and electricity. There have been many perplexing features, notably concerning the taking of portions of existing plants, the effect upon the company now owning those plants and the matter of management after the city assumes the control of the lighting. It seemed expedient, continued Alderman Roffe, to recommend that the city assume the responsibility of both gas and electric lighting. It was a hard problem to solve and one entirely outside of the engineering department of the city. It has been exceedingly difficult to get any information bearing on the cost and a great many legal questions have been involved. The committee has been unable to secure any tabulated statement of cost except that for electric lighting. The property in the city utilized for the distribution of gas is assessed for $188,700.

The whole question of municipal ownership and control of gas and electric lighting, the committee considers as one out of the general course and in presenting the order providing for the initial steps in that direction, the committee does not desire to have it construed as a pet scheme of its own, but on the contrary, it is the belief of the members of the city council are here tonight to discuss it and give to the general subject the fullest consideration before the question is submitted to the people.

There have been a great many complaints about the lighting, and endeavors to remedy the trouble have not been attended with the greatest degree of success. Of course, when there have been cases of neglect of light by the company, according to provisions of contract, deductions have been made from the bills, but that cannot be regarded as satisfactory to the city, for the appropriation for lighting has been made to use and to save. The company has consented each month to make a deduction from its bills rather than perfect the system.

Under these circumstances, it was decided best to introduce the order upon which this hearing was called. If the city has a system of lighting of its own, it was thought, that better regulations could be provided. Now, there is an insufficient number of lamps. It would be possible to provide more and improve the quality of the light. There was no desire on the part of the committee to injure the business of the company. It was willing, in fact, that it should continue to furnish the city with gas, but the law provides that the company shall have the option of offering both plants to the city, provided it takes advantage of the municipal ownership provisions of the statute, hence it seemed desirable to recommend the assuming of the lighting by the city of both gas and electric lighting service. The scheme is so hedged in with difficulties, that the committee would not have decided to introduce the order at this time, had it not been for the fact that the question must be submitted to the people for a final decision. Through discussion and otherwise, it was thought that some good might come out of the introduction of the order. That such is to be the fact seems obvious, for already the company has agreed to take steps to furnish better light and better service.

City Solicitor Slocum, at the request of Alderman Roffe, explained some of the provisions of the statute. He said that the law passed in 1891 had been amended several times since. The authority for establishing a municipal lighting plant now stands under the enactments of 1894. It is required that the order must pass both branches of the city council by a two-thirds vote before the question is submitted at a municipal election for final decision. It is provided by amendment that the question may be submitted to the voters at either a regular municipal or a special election. The company, after the vote is passed, has the option of getting the city to purchase the portions of its plants within the city limits.

The management of the municipal lighting plant is placed in the hands of one officer, who is appointed by the mayor and can be removed by the same officer.

Mr. Redpath—How do you get at the value of existing plants?

City Solicitor Slocum—That is determined under the acts of 1893, which provides that the city shall pay a fair market price.

Alderman Plummer—If the power houses were located, say in Watertown, the city would be absolved from purchasing that part of the plant would it not?

City Solicitor Slocum—Yes, sir.

Alderman Plummer—If it rendered the company's plant in Watertown valueless, would the city be held for damages?

Representative Estabrook—I have looked into this question very carefully. The city would only be obliged to pay for the pipes, poles and wires within its territory. It cannot be held for any damages.

City Solicitor Slocum—The section governing this point provides that if the main gas works are outside of the town or city territory, the town or city shall pay for the pipes, etc., within its limits, without allowance of damages because of severance of the plant.

Following the explanations of the law by the city solicitor, Mayor Fenno called first upon those in favor of the municipal lighting proposition.

Mr. E. W. Redpath was the first speaker. A few years ago, he said, I was a member of the street lighting committee of the city council and at that time became considerably interested in the general question of street lighting. I became convinced that the proper thing for the city to do was not only to provide for furnishing its own light, but to also provide for furnishing light to consumers, citizens of the city. I looked into the question very carefully, and it seemed to me that more satisfactory results would obtain if the city owned and operated its own lighting plant. It has been shown that it only costs 35 cents per one thousand feet to manufacture the gas and put it into the mains. The Brookline Gas Company is selling gas to consumers for $1.00 per one thousand feet and offers as a special inducement a gas stove free of cost to the end that its consumers will use gas for fuel as well as for lighting purposes.

If the city of Newton establishes its own plant, consumers can obtain gas here for about $1.00 per one thousand feet. That will make the cost so cheap that people can afford to use it for fuel.

What a benefit that will be for the housekeepers of Newton, especially for the poorer people. If it is a good thing for the city to own its own water works and supply private consumers, I cannot see why it would not be an equally good thing for the city to manufacture gas and electricity and supply the same in a similar way. There is no one who would advocate the city buying up its water works plant to a private corporation and if it should establish a gas and electric plant there would be, I think, no one who would wish to return to the present system of supply.

Judge J. C. Kennedy was the next speaker. This question, said he, is not a new one. I remember, he continued, in 1889, when I was a member of the street lighting committee, the question of street lighting was one to which a great deal of attention was paid. At that time Newton was paying more for electric lighting than other cities and towns of about the same area and population in the state. It was thought that some steps should be taken to bring the cost down to a lower figure. In 1891 the trustees of the Newton free library considered the question of putting in electric lights to replace gas. The gas bill for the preceding year was $600.00. After the electric lights were put in, the bill for 1891 amounted to $772.40. In 1892, with about the same amount of light furnished, the bill was $1041.00. The trustees had a conference with the gas officials and as a result they made a discount. Still, the cost of the change from gas to electricity increased the amount of our bills about 35 per cent. In addition to that, the light is very poor. A great deal of the time, we do not get one half the light we should have. The trustees finally formulated a report on the subject of lighting in which they stated that the electric service both as regards quality and cost was very unsatisfactory. It seems to me that it would be better, so far as the interests of the library are concerned, to make a contract with the company based upon the quality and quantity of light furnished.

I have long thought that it could be a wise thing for the city to have its own plant and to do its own lighting. It seems to me that a great benefit would result. The service would be much improved, there would be an additional number of lights, providing for more air circulation in public thoroughfares. In my judgment, the main streets should be lighted all night.

Alderman Roffe—In your judgment, Mr. Kennedy, could the city establish a plant simply to do its own lighting? Is it not obligatory for the city to furnish light to private consumers?

Judge Kennedy—I have not followed closely the amendments to the statute of 1891 governing municipal lighting, but from the explanations in regard to the conditions of law given here tonight by the city solicitor, I should say that it was obligatory.

At this time Councilman Green read a clause from the statute which provides that any city or town may purchase gas or electricity from any adjoining city or town, or from any existing corporation. Addressing himself to Judge Kennedy, he said: "Under this provision, if the city owned the pipes through its territory, could it not go to Brookline and purchase its gas and electricity if it seemed desirable?"

Judge Kennedy—I can see no reason why the city could not do that.

Mr. John J. Goodrich opened the arguments for the opponents of the municipal lighting scheme. It is a great question, said he. The municipal ownership of gas and electric lighting plants, he continued, are always alluded to in public as having many extremely important and perplexing phases for consideration. The chairman of the street lighting committee of the city council in his report tonight states that after an experience of several years, if the question were left to him for decision, he would not favor the passage of the order upon which this hearing was called. But, he says, the people may form an intelligent opinion on the subject. Now, I submit that if the street lighting committee endorse this proposition, can it be that it is ready to ask the people to pass upon this question in a few weeks, without having an opportunity for a careful consideration of the subject? The experience that we have had upon municipal lighting furnishes so little that is satisfactory that it leaves it entirely in the character of an experimental project. The people, therefore, are going it blindly. They don't know what they are about and they have no facts or experience behind them upon which they can form an intelligent judgment.

The law governing municipal lighting has been on the statute books for four years, and during all that time not a city in the Commonwealth has undertaken to take advantage of it. Only a few towns have undertaken the task of supplying gas to private consumers. The towns of Middleboro and Wafeld have established lighting plants under the provisions of the statute, but the experience of those towns gives us nothing to work upon because the conditions are entirely different. Newton is more unfortunately situated for the establishment of its own plant than almost any other place in the state. It is the very last city in the Commonwealth that ought to think of it. It cannot go into the business without sacrificing large private interests. It will affect the interest of the existing company greatly, practically taking away from it about nine-tenths of its business. There are 2500 shares in this company and of these over 1400 are held by trustees, widows and women. If this order is passed it will knock the stock of the company into smithereens, unless the company decides to immediately tender its property to the city. In fact, the company would be obliged to do that.

The situation in Newton is this. The city by paying an indefinite sum, probably about one quarter of a million, can start into the gas and electric light business. This private corporation whose interests are affected must be sacrificed before anything can be done. Now suppose some arrangement could be made whereby the city could take the electric lighting part of the business. Well, of the electrical business of this corporation, at least 46 per cent. of it goes to the public. If the city withdraws its patronage, that would leave the private company with only 54 per cent. of its business. If the city does not help to maintain its part, I should like to know how consumers are to get the benefit of any cheaper electric lighting in Newton? Is there any evidence that the city can produce electricity any cheaper than the company can?

The street lighting committee furnishes us with no decision on that point. About a year ago the committee was requested to report in print upon this subject. It has not done so, neither has it given any facts or figures. It merely recommends the passage of an order enabling the city to go into the business of electric lighting. If the city council is ratified in the decision of the city council relating to this subject was passed by the aldermen, Nov. 27, 1893. It received concurrent action the same night in the common council. It will be seen that the first steps were taken upon the subject. Nothing has been said about the matter since and why the subject has been delayed so long before the second order was introduced I am at a loss to understand.

There is no more information before us upon the subject. Where is any information to go into the hands of the committee of the city council don't desire to furnish it? Now, when the legislative committee of the city council appeared before the legislature on a petition for special enactment governing municipal lighting, it stated that the city did not intend to go into the gas business at all. In my judgment, no city will be able to secure any special legislation. The laws upon this subject must be general laws and what is good enough for Waltham and Cambridge must be good enough for Newton. Newton cannot get any advantage over any other city or town. Brookline and some other cities and towns petitioned to have the general law changed. Newton was the only city in the Commonwealth that asked for special legislation, and, of course, it had leave to withdraw.

I desire to say again that the example of any city is of no use in arriving at an intelligent judgment upon this question in Newton. The lighting here is spread over sixteen square miles. The conditions, therefore, are altogether different. It costs more to maintain the schools, fire department and other branches of the public service in Newton on account of the great territorial area of the city. This would hold true in regard to lighting. I understood Mr. Redpath to imply that experience had shown that the city could do its lighting cheaper than a private company. I cannot see upon what he based that opinion. Can any one mention any one thing that the city can do cheaper than a private corporation? Can it buy its wire, or coal or supply labor any cheaper? Is the vigilance of the city officials over their subordinates any greater than that of the officials of a private corporation conducting business to make money out of it?

CITY COUNCIL IN SESSION.

The existing company has a first-class plant and first-class machinery. It has a power house equal to the wants of the city for years to come. The street light committee informed the committee on manufactures at the State House that it did not know what the facilities of the works of this existing company were. The members of the committee had never visited the works, and therefore, could not tell from personal observation anything about them. It seems to me that the committee should show in what direction the city can exercise economy that a private corporation cannot.

A great deal has been said in regard to complaints relative to the quality of light furnished and the character of the service. It should be clearly understood that the city has no practical way to give the company to work upon. The faulty system now governing the street lighting service was laid out by the city, and not by the company. The company is obliged to work on the city's plans and specifications and the reason that the lighting is so unsatisfactory.

Mr. Potter—Mr. Goodrich, is the Newton & Watertown Gaslight Company prepared to establish a plant in Newton and to undertake to do the whole of the street lighting by the incandescent system?

Mr. Goodrich—The company is prepared to make figures upon anything that the city desires it to estimate on.

Mr. Potter—If the city provides proper plans and specifications for an efficient system of lighting, is the company willing to make a bid?

Mr. Goodrich—I have no doubt of it. Councilman Bullard—The street light committee has had great difficulty in getting answers from the company to business requests. I know of communications that have been sent by body that have laid ten months without a reply.

Mr. Goodrich—The company did receive a communication from the street light committee asking at what figure it would light the lamps all night for the balance of the year. Some of the members of the company were away and it was therefore impossible to prevent a delay in submitting a reply. The answer would have been forwarded at once had it been in the power of the company to do so.

Picking up the thread of his argument again, Mr. Goodrich said, "Let us see how neglectful the company has been in the matter of contracts. The street light committee has never asked for a decrease in price or for a revision in the contract."

Councilman Green—The superintendent of the company was asked a year ago what figure would be submitted, furnishing lights to burn all night. Mr. Goodrich—That is quite likely true, still that has nothing to do with it. The company has never revised any official communication in reference to the subject. The company did receive a notice to the effect that the city was willing to extend its present contract for two years.

Councilman Bullard—When the street light committee sent the notice to the company of its willingness to extend the contract, it asked to be informed at what price the company would furnish lights to burn all night long. Up to the present time, the committee has received no reply from the company.

Mr. Goodrich—We not aware that any such communication had been sent, but it is not important. The company has sent several communications to the street light committee and has received no replies, so honors are easy on that score. The contract, he continued, provided that lights should be kept burning during certain nights of the month and on stormy nights, also, without extra charge. Has the gas company ever failed to keep lights burning on nights outside of the contract when requested to do so? For two months it received no requests at all. The superintendent, without being asked, lighted the lamps on stormy nights. Since August last, more frequent requests have been received and they have always been attended to.

The street light committee informed the company when it gave it the notice of its intent to extend the contract that it hoped ere long to make a new contract that would be entirely satisfactory to both parties concerned. Since that time the company has been waiting patiently to hear from the street light committee since last February. It is willing to make a favorable contract and it does not expect to make any money out of the city. There never was a street light committee that would allow the company to make a cent.

Now, a few words about gas. The company submitted a proposition to the street light committee offering to furnish gas at $1.00 per one thousand feet, provided the city would take the care of the lamps off its hands. No answer has been received.

Concerning electric lights, let me say that the city imposes a great burden upon private consumers when it starts a plant of its own and secures its own service at cost. The company can furnish electricity at a small profit, as cheaply, it believes, as the city can. Wakefield is the only town that affords any illustration of the advantages or disadvantages of this municipal lighting enterprise. It paid $170,000 for the existing plant and started in to manufacture gas and electricity. The old company charged $2 per 1000 feet for gas and $1.80 for incandescent for monthly payment. After a while, it was discovered that it would be necessary to raise the price. Not wanting to do that, the legislature was petitioned for the right to charge the cost in excess of $2 to the town. That is about the only experience that I know of that furnishes any light upon the experiment. The town of Wakefield has its own electric lighting plant. It purchases electricity at a cost of 60 per light. Add to that the cost of operation and the total cost figures up $8.89 per light, without allowing anything for the depreciation on plant and the interest on borrowed money. With these factors taken into consideration, the cost per light for incandescent lamps is $13.50 each, the price that the city of Newton is paying now.

Councilman Green—Has the gentleman ever noticed the lights in Wellesley? If he has, he must have observed that they were much more brilliant than those in Newton.

Mr. Goodrich—Are not the lamps nearer together in Wellesley than they are in this city?

Councilman Greene—Yes sir.

Mr. Goodrich—Now, Councilman Greene, if the lamps were put nearer together in Newton, wouldn't the result be in getting a better light?

Councilman Greene—Yes, but even then the lights here would not be so good as those in Wellesley. I would like to ask the gentleman if he believes that it is the fault of the city that lights supposed to burn all night are put out at 11 o'clock?

Mr. Goodrich—Such cases as that referred to by the councilman are exceptional. The city should hold the company to their contract and the company will keep it.

Councilman Greene—How is it, then, that the lights are turned on quite frequently after going out, say at 11 o'clock, an alarm of fire is rung in? Would the gentleman have us to understand that such cases are purely accidental? I should like to know, too, why it is that when the engine in the electric light station breaks down that you cannot shift to another engine?

Mr. Goodrich—Did you ever visit the works of the Newton & Watertown Gas Light Company, Councilman Greene?

Councilman Greene—No sir.

Mr. Goodrich—If you had, you would have discovered that it was possible to do that. Continuing the line of his argument, Mr. Goodrich said that if Newton had a clear field to start with, no interest to affect and no portion of plants to buy, it could not produce electricity for street lighting purposes or private supply any cheaper than a private company. It stands to reason that the company can do it cheaper, because it always has its plant.

The city has got to buy one. It will be remembered that when the question of municipal lighting was first brought up in the legislature, there was some fear expressed of the danger that might arise through political influences. It was determined to prevent that at all hazards, therefore the statute provides that the management of the city or towns' gas or electric plant shall be placed in the hands of a lord high commissioner. He is supreme. He makes all the contracts, fixes the prices and collects all the bills. The city council or town has no more to do with this office than the city of Boston has to do with its police department, except so far as it may establish regulation as to the manner of management by ordinance. Does the city of Newton want to put this business into the hands of one man?

What constraint is there upon this lord high commissioner? He will give you a plant and it will be a beauty. You must pay the bills or there will be trouble.

If the city votes to do this thing the company will immediately tender its property to the city. There is a sentiment of fair play in any subject which comes up for consideration and action. It is not generous or defensible to argue that the only point worthy of notice is that which determines what the street lighting of Newton can be done for, regardless of private interests. Is it well to get a little good at the expense of so much private injury? The situation of the city, with its extended territory and the perplexing phases of the law, practically forbids your entering upon this project. It is said that there are a large number of people in the community who are in favor of this thing. I know that some of them, at least, are not actuated altogether by a disinterested sentiment. The capital of the existing company is $250,000. The city taxes it for $450,000 and the company has never entered any price in favor of its stock. It paid $80,000 to the former electric light company when it bought it out and increased the value of the plant $100,000, besides spending a large sum for poles and wires in order to do the business of the city of Newton. Notwithstanding, it paid $80,000 to the former electric light company on a capitalization of $50,000. The company has been saying its surplus, then, that you may have a very valuable plant on a capitalization of $50,000. If that is not in the interests of the people, I should like to have somebody remark to that effect. The price is which the company makes on its electric lighting would not pay the interest on the money which it has borrowed to purchase and perfect its plant. You won't find a company in the state with a better record on this matter of capitalization or one that furnishes better service for the money received. As to the quality of the gas furnished by the company, which some people say is inferior to that furnished to consumers in other places, I would call attention to the fact that the gas furnished by all companies undergoes a system of state inspection and analysis. The Commonwealth of Massachusetts has given to the Newton & Watertown Gas Light Company a certificate stating that the quality of its gas was up to the standard. If it is really so that it is not, then the people must fall back upon the state for their redress.

If the electric lights burn dimly, make it a compulsory provision of your contract that they shall burn well. You can attach to electric lights now a fixture that will show the quantity of the current of electricity flowing into the lamps. There are many ways in which the city can impose regulations relative to the service.

Judge Kennedy addressed the chair at this point and requested permission to state his position in appearing at the hearing. I understood from Mr. Goodrich, said he, that the interests of some other company were represented here tonight. I desire to say that I am not interested directly or indirectly as counsel in this matter. The sentiments that I have expressed are those which I have entertained and expressed the past ten years.

Mr. Goodrich—I did not mean to imply anything of that kind. If any here thinks that I intended any reference to Judge Kennedy, allow me to say they are mistaken.

Alderman Bothfield expressed a desire to put some questions to Mr. Goodrich and permission having been granted by the chair, he first asked if the company would be willing to put in a plant to do the street lighting with the city wholly by either the arc or incandescent systems and if it would agree to have the price for the service dependent on the quantity and quality of the light furnished?

Mr. Goodrich—The superintendent says yes. Perhaps, it could be more business like to say that if the city council will meet the gas company, the latter will agree to any fair proposition. If the street light committee will submit a proposition, I am sure it would have reason to feel encouraged by the manner in which the company would meet all reasonable requests.

Alderman Bothfield—If the street light committee had a conference with the directors of the gas company, can you give us any assurance that the latter would agree to such a proposal as the one I outlined?

Mr. Goodrich—The directors are anxious to make a contract that will be entirely satisfactory to the city. They would like to have some definite proposition submitted to them.

Councilman Greene made an explanation at this point. He said that the statement offered by Alderman Bothfield on the municipal street lighting proposition was not the report of the committee. It was not, he added, considered by the committee before it was presented to the board of aldermen. It seemed necessary to direct attention to that fact, because it must not be understood that the committee members of the committee have so little confidence in the scheme.

Alderman Bothfield in reply stated that the report only intended to show that the committee was not rabid on the municipal lighting project and that it had no pet scheme to foist upon the people.

Mr. Edwin O. Childs spoke in opposition. The city, he said, was under a big strain now on account of various expensive improvements. I doubt the expediency, he added, of the city going into this thing. I do not like the clause of the law, either, relative to the management. Under its provisions we get a C. & W. an officer with superior power to that which created him. It seems to me that the company is willing to meet the street light committee and make a favorable arrangement. Draw up an iron clad contract and hold them to it.

The hearing closed at 10:20 o'clock. No one appeared in remembrance at the hearing on Joseph W. Farmer's petition to keep a billiard room in Associates' block. The hearing was closed.

A draft of a new ordinance relating to transient schools was reported and passed for enactment.

Orders were adopted authorizing the water board to repair the pumping engine and appropriating $1000 therefor; authorizing the water board to lay 1148 feet of pipe in Hillsdale, Lenox and other streets, and appropriating $1265 therefor; requesting the mayor to petition the General Court for authority to increase the sewer debt limit to $1,000,000.

A petition, presented by Alderman Hunt, requesting the extension and widening of Oak avenue and the construction of a way through the Davis estate from Watertown street to Webster, to provide for a continuous avenue from West Newton to Auburndale, was referred to the highway committee.

On a petition of the New England Telephone Co. for a location for poles in Walnut, Harvard and Chestnut streets, a hearing was ordered for Tuesday evening next at 7:30 o'clock. Hearings were also ordered for Nov. 6 before the board of aldermen and Nov. 12 before the common council on the laying out of Oxford road.

J. F. EDMANDS DEAD.
PROMINENT AT ONE TIME IN THE CITY COUNCIL—SKETCH OF HIS LIFE.

Mr. James F. Edmonds died suddenly at his home on Lincoln street, Newton Highlands, late Monday evening.

Mr. Edmonds was apparently in the best of health up to a few days of his death. He was left alone in the house Monday evening while the other members of the household were absent on various errands, and was found lying dead on the hearth in the sitting room on their return.

A deep cut extended across his forehead, which was probably received as he fell from the chair in which he had been sitting. A physician was summoned, and decided that death was caused by a shock of apoplexy.

Mr. Edmonds was born in Newton, and was 68 years of age. He was a member of the well known Edmonds family, which was among the first to settle in Newton, and which has been one of the most prominent in the community. His brother was J. Wiley Edmonds, who donated the Public Library to the city.

He was educated in the Newton schools, and had resided in Newton during his entire life. He was for many years a wholesale fruit merchant, with an office on State street, Boston.

He was prominently identified with the interests of the city, and took an active part in Newton affairs. Soon after Newton was incorporated a city he was elected to the board of aldermen from Ward 5, running as an independent against two regular party nominees.

He remained in the board for seven years. He filled the position of chairman of the highway committee for several years, and inaugurated the policy of constructing the fine streets for which Newton has since become noted. Some of the roadways built under his administration are still in use without repair.

Of late years Mr. Edmonds has lived very quietly at his home in Newton Highlands. He leaves a widow.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, and in this way positively cures catarrh.

GRADE CROSSING ACT.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON RAILROADS OF THE GARDEN CITY IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY—SOME FACTS ABOUT THE AMENDMENT REJECTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF 1894—VALUABLE SUGGESTION ON THE SEPARATION OF GRADES.

Below is given the report of the committee on railroads of the Garden City Improvement Society, presented by Chairman Luford at its meeting in Eliot Hall last week:

On the 19th of May, 1894, the Garden City Improvement Society unanimously passed a resolution favoring an amendment to the grade crossing act, and requested our senators to use their influence to secure its enactment by the legislature.

THE AMENDMENT.

The amendment gave to cities and towns the right to pay a sum in excess of the 10 per cent provided under the law, "for the purpose of securing such plan for separation of grades, or such method of construction, which, combined with 'Security and Convenience' would best promote the public welfare."

The amendment further provided (and this provision was added by mutual consent at the second hearing) that the commission appointed by the court, after hearing all parties, should set forth a plan, and if the plan which they were authorized to select was not satisfactory, then the city or town might within sixty days apply to the court for a rehearing and an opportunity to present another plan or a new method of construction; and if after due hearing the commission decided that the new plan or method of construction would, in addition to giving "Security and Convenience" better promote the public welfare than the plan first selected by them, then they should determine the difference in cost between the two plans and might apportion to the city or town any excess cost of the plan selected, and if within 90 days thereafter, the city or town government voted to accept the plan and pay the excess cost, then the court should take action upon the new plan, otherwise, the court should take action upon the plan first reported by the commission, and the city or town should pay the cost of the second hearing.

The amendment was drawn to protect the interests of the cities or towns and their inhabitants, they to pay all excess costs for such construction as they might desire, so that no complaint could be raised, that for their public welfare, they were imposing added cost upon the railroad or the Commonwealth. The plan selected must be in the judgment of the commission better promote the public welfare, while fulfilling all the requirements of the grade crossing law, and before the plan could be approved by the court, the city or town must agree to pay all excess costs. Under such liberal conditions, to the railroad and the Commonwealth, why should they not be permitted to enjoy the plan and the prosperity which it would bring?

The Boston & Albany Railroad through its counsel objected, and contested step by step the passage of the amendment, and its succeeding bill, first through the railroad committee and then through the house of representatives and the senate, employing every available means to prevent enactment and finally accomplished its defeat in the senate on the last night of the session.

In addition to the resolution passed by this society the mayor and aldermen passed a like resolution and requested our senator and representatives to urge the enactment of the bill.

It will be instructive to follow the amendment and its succeeding bill from its introduction until the final defeat of the bill, so as to know the power of corporate control in legislation, the means employed to accomplish defeat and what we may reasonably expect to encounter in future legislation where the railroad is the opposing party.

The amendment was presented to the legislature in January 1894 and February 7th referred to the railroad committee, of which our senator was the chairman. Naturally we expected at his hands courteous and favorable consideration. At the first hearing before the committee the counsel of the B. & A. being present, the amendment was approved and a bill prepared and favorably reported by the committee to the house. After it had been reported it was discovered by the counsel of the B. & A. that the city of Newton by paying the excess cost (if any) could, if the bill was enacted, obtain depression of tracks. At once the bill was ordered back to the railroad committee and a long struggle began with the counsel of B. & A. as the chief opposing power. If he had occupied the seat of our senator in the senate and at the head of the railroad committee, the bill would have been more faithfully served for railroad not more completely ignored the request of the city government and of this society, than did our senator. For about four months the bill was in the hands of the railroad committee and at last after great pressure the chairman was induced to take final action and make a report: the report came, it was short but to the point: i. e. "Reference to the next General Court," a polite way of killing the bill.

The house of representatives at once rejected the report of the railroad committee and substituted the original bill therefore and then referred it to the finance committee who approved and returned it to the house where it was enacted and sent to the senate.

While a majority of the railroad committee acted with its chairman, a minority, withstanding the pressure of the railroad, favored the bill and by voice and vote aided its passage. One of the members of the committee, after the close of his speech in favor of the bill, said: "I have done what I believed to be my duty, but suppose I shall be marked for decapitation for doing it." It takes courage to oppose entrenched power. Upon reaching the senate the bill was referred to the treasury committee and since it had been approved by the finance committee of the house, who reported "That the bill contained no provision changing the financial interests of the state," it was expected that the treasury committee would at once favorably report the bill for passage; but the friends of the railroad had an important work to perform, the bill must be defeated and every art in legislation, most if necessary, be employed to accomplish its defeat. The report of the railroad committee had been rejected by the house and the bill substituted and passed against their protest, but the senate must not have a like opportunity, so the bill was retained by the treasury committee, a majority of whom were friends of the railroad until action could no longer be deferred, and then upon the last night of the senate (June 30) the bill was reported at an hour when many of its supporters were absent from the senate. The committee feared that the senate like the house might pass the bill, as the senate would have done if fair consideration had been allowed, reported in substance the following amendments:

First, that the railroad and the Commonwealth equally with the city should have the right to apply for a second hearing; Second, that the court should exercise discretion in granting a second hearing.

The report closed with the following recommendation: "Ought to pass amended."

A member of the treasury committee then made this motion, "That the bill be referred to the next General Court," duplicate of the recommendation of the railroad committee, and probably dictated by the same central power.

Rule 27 of the senate says: "Bills involving expenditure of public money shall be referred in course to the treasury committee whose duty it shall be to report on their relation to the finances of the Commonwealth or any country thereof."

House rule 44 says in addition, "New provisions shall not be added to such bills by the committee on finances, unless directly connected with the financial features thereof."

It will be noticed that the amendments of the treasury committee are without reference to the financial interests of the Commonwealth. If the treasury committee did not exceed their authority under the rules, they certainly showed great favor and performed an important service for the railroads against the people, and also against the expressed desire of our city government and the society whose resolutions had been placed before them.

When a strictly permissive bill framed in the interests of the people and in strict justice to the railroad and the Commonwealth, cannot at the request of our city government receive fair and open treatment at the hands of the legislature, it is time that the people knew of it and recorded their protest against this abuse of corporate power in legislation.

The report of the treasury committee was followed by a remarkable speech against the bill made by our senator, after which a vote was taken upon the amendments which were unanimously adopted and then followed a vote upon the passage of the bill to its final stage. At the conclusion of this vote the president of the senate declared the bill passed. Instantly our senator challenged the vote, asked for the roll call to place the senators upon record, and aided by absentees who recorded their votes after their names had once been called, the bill was defeated by only three votes. He later moved the suspension of rule 8 which would allow reconsideration when the friends who had promised to vote for the bill had returned to the senate, and thus sealed his work.

The B. & A. are to be congratulated upon having so faithful a friend in the city of Newton is to be congratulated that he will no longer occupy the chair of senator from the second Middlesex District. In marked contrast was the action of our representatives who faithfully complied with the request of the mayor and aldermen, and this society, and did everything in their power to accomplish enactment.

The bill, though defeated, had performed excellent work, it had shown the attitude of the B. & A. in legislation, and towards our city, the danger that lies before us on the grade crossing question, and the necessity of action on the part of the city and its inhabitants, in order to obtain such a plan for separation of grades as will best promote the public welfare.

This subject of grade crossings should be made an issue in our coming city election, that we may know the plan desired by a majority of our people. Under the law the commission, after the city government and the railroad company have presented their plans and arguments thereon, are to determine "the manner" in which separation of grade shall take place.

Some plan of separation should be adopted at the earliest possible moment, as the separation of grade is now practically limited to these two named plans, a choice between them, made by our citizens, will enable the city government, the commission and the legislature to know the will of the majority and to act accordingly.

The friends of depression must be alive to this issue, for the friends of the railroad are ever active. While railroads exercise great power in legislation to the credit of our General Court, it can be said that the power of the railroads in the senate and house of representatives has been largely overestimated. They have been enabled to do most effective work in and through the committees, the make up of which shows favor in their interests, but even with the aid of the committees (whose reports are sometimes as one-sided as impartial) it will be difficult for the railroad to defeat any just legislation which the city may especially ask for and desire.

It will be a matter of general surprise that the grade crossing act of 1890 made no provision for the public welfare, that the act was so drawn that the rights of the cities, towns and property owners were not guarded and protected.

Our fellow citizen, Mr. Joseph N. Bacon, has said, "That the elevation of the railroad would damage his property many thousands of dollars, for which he could not recover a penny," and all property located along the line of an elevated railroad will be likewise damaged without compensation to the owners.

The grade crossing law neglects to provide indemnity for such damages, and the city before consenting to the appointment of a grade crossing commission, should seek such additional legislation as will protect her interests and the equal rights of her citizens. She should ask that the law as applied to Newton contain this provision, "That in addition to 'Security and Convenience,' the plan to be approved by the commission should best promote the public welfare." And also, "That damages caused by a change of the railroad should be paid for the same as damages caused by a change of grade of a highway."

The legislature of 1894 recognized that there was a damage which the elevation of a railroad would cause estates beyond the damage for the taking of land, and in the "Meigs Railway Bill" and also in the "Boynton Bicycle Railway Bill" passed in 1894, it was provided that those named by reason of the location, construction, maintenance and operation of said lines of railway could recover reasonable compensation. Here we find the legislature providing payment for consequential damages caused by one class of railroads, why should they not apply the same law to all railroads? Let them insert the consequential damage clause in the grade crossing act and we will hear no more of elevation of tracks through the city of Newton.

There is another defect in the grade

crossing act that needs correction. The railroad is made a competitor of the city in the work upon her highways to keep down the price for performing work, but who is the competitor of the railroad to perform their work, which coupled with countless chances possible to be made for delays for switches, etc., etc., may enable the R. R. Company under elevation which affords the greater opportunity for gain, to make a profit out of the work large enough to pay all their proportionate part of the cost.

Nominally under the law the railroad company pays sixty-five (65) per cent of the total cost of separation, out there is nothing in the law to prevent them multiplying that cost to such an amount that the actual cash expended may be the money that the city and the Commonwealth pays into the treasury.

Can the city proceed under such a law with any safety to its treasury or to its inhabitants?

Mark the unjust law which now controls separation of grades, but let us remember that the railroads are not all powerful. The city of Chicago had laws enacted in spite of the opposition of the railroads which it is said compels the separation of grades in that city at the expense of the railroads who must pay every dollar of the cost. Two grade crossing bills were prepared for presentation to the legislature of 1894, and on account of certain conditions existing were laid over until 1895, the intent and purpose of the bills being to force the railroads to pay the whole cost for separation of grades in the State of Massachusetts.

These bills, it is said, are based upon the grade crossing acts as applied to Chicago. If they are not enacted into law undoubtedly through them and the agitation which this subject will receive before the legislature of 1895, will come some modification of the grade crossing act of 1890 which will remove part, at least, of the gross injustice which that law now contains.

The Street Lighting Issue.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:—

During the week municipal lighting received a new start and as a writer in last week's issue has already stated, it seems to be with a desire to rush it through just on the eve of election.

The reason for municipal lighting seems so far to have been kept in the dark. Newton's streets at night are a disgrace to the city and the lighting company does not fulfill its contract, nevertheless the great difficulty with our lighting lies with the city. The city does not do its part. Arc lamps are jumbled up with gas, incandescent and oil lamps; the shade trees are allowed to hang far lower than they should; the arc lamps on the principal streets are placed too far apart and then most of all, they are not lighted on the dark and most disagreeable (would be) moonlight nights. The lighting companies in our neighboring cities, Cambridge, Brookline and so forth, are laboring under no such circumstances, and therefore their lighting is better. The arc lamps that we have are not always in the lamp posts are frozen up and the lights extinguished, and often some of the larger lights fail to work. Nevertheless municipal lighting will not correct this, there will be lights that are not lighted, as now. It seems to me that before undertaking any such step as municipal lighting, it would be far better to give the present company a fair chance to make the lighting what it should be. By placing lights nearer, having less obstructive foliage, and having the lights lighted every night in the year we would thus expend a very small sum in comparison with that required on the dark and light nights. No city around this part of the country is lighted on such schedule as ours; certainly the resolution of the Hunnewell Bill Society is a step in the right direction and it seems far more advisable than the enormous expense, especially at this time, of municipal lighting. CITIZEN. Newton, Nov. 2, 1894.

A cough which persists day after day, should not be neglected any longer. It may be the beginning of a serious trouble, and the sooner it is relieved the better. Take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It is prompt to act and sure to cure.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE—The Brownies, as placed on the stage by Messrs. C. B. Jefferson, Klaw & Erlanger is an attractive modern entertainment, replete with up-to-date humor, utilizing the latest knowledge of stage mechanism to perform wonderful things, together with a background of artistic productions of the painter's brush for the hundred and more people that compose the company. As the Brownies are booked for two weeks at the Hollis, one more, beginning November 5, is the limit of their stay, and all indications point to a huge volume of business as a recompense for the skill and ingenuity with which the entertainment has been organized. The audiences have been large and fashionable, and almost as entertaining to watch as the play, from the number of children who followed their heroes through their troubles, and final attainment of success.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE—This great melodrama of Sutton Vane's has broken all box office records at Manager Atkinson's popular and cozy West End Theatre and seems destined to continue the work so satisfactory to the management of the house and Manager W. A. Brady, who has produced the play in such capital shape. Simply as a production it ranks with the best Boston has ever seen, which is saying a great deal when one looks back upon the many magnificent presentations of dramas Boston has witnessed. Its heart interest is charming, particularly to the ladies and its many thrilling incidents, while not of the blood-curdling order, serve to fascinate the beholder and arouse audiences to the highest pitch of enthusiasm.

COLUMBIA THEATRE—"Sowing the Wind." Sydney Grundy's play, continues to draw audiences that are large and fashionable to the Columbia, and it will be continued at that house for some little time to come. The week beginning November 5 will be the third of its stay, and indications point to the fact that it will be the largest from a business point of view that the play has yet enjoyed. It is seldom that a more interesting play has been placed upon the Boston stage, or one more admirably acted. The company is under the direction of Charles and his many abilities were all bent to secure a cast that should be worthy of the play. Seats for any performance for a period of three weeks ahead are ready at the Columbia box office.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE—Great actors are inseparably connected with some particular play, and James O'Neill has become identified so completely with "Monte Christo" that the two names are spoken in one breath by the whole theatre-going public of America. He is this season supported by a splendid company that has been selected with particular consideration of each actor's ability. His leading lady is Miss Marie Burress, whose career at the Boston Museum carried her fame beyond the confines of the Hub. New scenery for Monte Christo has been painted by Rex Morgan of New York. Only two matinees will be given during Mr. O'Neill's engagement at the Grand Opera House next week; Tuesday (Election Day) and Saturday at 2 o'clock. On election night the returns will be announced to the audience. Next week Mr. O'Neill will be seen as Richelieu, Virgil and Don Carlos de Seville, a new romantic play from the pen of Eugene Feller of Boston.

Henry Wilson, the postmaster at Waltham, Florida, says he cured a case of diarrhoea of long standing in six hours, with one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. What a pleasant surprise that must have been to the sufferer. Such cures are not unusual with this remedy. In many instances only one or two doses are required to give permanent relief. It can always be depended upon. When reduced with water it is pleasant to take. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. W. Keyes, Auburndale; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

WOMAN KILLED, MAN AND CHILD INJURED—TRAGEDY RESULTED THROUGH BURSTING OF A GUN—FLYING IRON SPLINTERS STRUCK WIFE AND SON.

A frightful accident in West Newton, Sunday afternoon, destroyed the peace of a humble home and plunged a contented, happy family into the deepest sorrow and mourning.

The family consisted of Philip Raymond, aged 28, and his wife, aged 25, young niece and two children aged respectively 9 and 6 years. They lived in a small one-story cottage of three rooms, adjoining Hussey's greenhouses, and located a short distance from the junction of Crafts and Waltham streets.

There was a hen house a short distance from the house, and of late it had been visited regularly by a colony of rats that infested the neighborhood. Mrs. Raymond had lost several valuable pullets and she urged her husband to take some steps to get rid of the rodents.

He loaded an old fashioned double-barrelled shot gun, several days before, and on Sunday about 4:30 saw the rats near the hen house, and opened the window and pulled the trigger. There was a deafening report and the gun exploded, sending the fragments in all directions.

His hand was severely hurt, one of the fragments struck his wife in the side and pierced the abdomen, and she only lived about an hour. One child and a niece, who were in the room, escaped unhurt, but his oldest son, Raphael, aged nine years, was hit in the left side above the hip, and an iron splinter pierced the roof of his mouth.

The father, horrified at the fearful results of the shooting, with the blood spurting from his wounded arm and hand, rushed from the house and across the field to the neighbors, who hastened in search of a physician. He returned quickly with assistance and, faint from loss of blood, staggered to the door of his home and tried to open it. He had not strength to lift the latch and sank down upon the threshold completely exhausted. Some of the neighbors broke open the door, which had closed and locked itself and carried the sorrow-stricken man within. A crimson trail of blood led from the kitchen to the chamber where Mrs. Raymond lay cold in death. The boy was found lying on the floor. He was breathing laboriously and the blood was slowly oozing from his lips. Dr. Curtis, who arrived soon after the accident, rendered every assistance possible. His efforts were ably seconded by Capt. Davis and several officers from police headquarters, who were notified and came at once to the scene of the accident. The father and son were taken to the Cottage hospital. The former, after having his wounds dressed, returned to his home. The boy, whose injuries proved to be more serious, remained in the hospital and had the advantage of skilful treatment and nursing. It is thought that he will recover.

Medical Examiner Swan of Cambridge arrived about 8 o'clock, and after viewing the body of Mrs. Raymond ordered the relatives to procure the services of an undertaker. Philip Raymond was employed in the Newton highway department, and had steady work at good wages. He had built his home with his own hands after his regular day's work was done, and had furnished it neatly. The injured boy is a regular attendant at the Newton school, and is a fair scholar and a lad of the best disposition. The Raymonds have always been thought well of by their neighbors, and as the news flew from house to house the people gathered round till the police ambulance had to pass through quite a crowd.

The window near which the accident happened faces north, and all around could be seen traces of the explosion. The floor and walls were spattered with blood, and in places in the woodwork there were jagged holes made by the fragments of steel.

It is not believed that any of the pieces of the gun or any of the shot went out of the room.

The remaining barrel of the weapon was handled tenderly by the police, for in that rusty, time-worn tube still remains a charge like the one that worked such havoc in the Raymond home.

Philip, the father, was born in Italy 29 years ago, of an American father and Italian mother. He was married to Catherine when he was but 19 and she 15 years old, and Raphael was their first-born.

"Yield not to Misfortune." I was afflicted with catarrh last autumn. During the month of October I could neither taste or smell and could hear but little. Ely's Cream Balm cured it.—Marcus Geo. Shultz, Rahway, N. J.

I suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since a boy, and was hoped for cure, but Ely's Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren Ave., Chicago, Ill. Cream Balm is agreeable.

Coughing Leads to Consumption. Kemp's Balm stops the cough at once.

IT TAKES YOUR MONEY

—only 25 cents to buy a glass vial of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—but then you get a lasting benefit and a permanent cure of your Bilious or Sick Headache, Constipation or Indigestion, loss of appetite, and all those troubles which follow a disordered liver.

The time to treat an inactive liver is before it becomes a disease. If these tiny Pellets were in every day use people would be germ-proof. The germs of disease make their entrance to the system through the liver—your health and well-being depends on the liver. If you suffer from wind and pain in the stomach, giddiness, costiveness, disturbed sleep, you get immediate relief from the use of "Pleasant Pellets."

They're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or money returned.

A "COLD IN THE HEAD" is quickly cured by Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. So is Catarrh Headache, and every trouble that is caused by Catarrh. So is Catarrh itself. The proprietors offer $500 in cash for any case which they cannot cure. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

—By unanimous request of season ticket holders, Rev. J. J. Lewis will give his famous lecture on the "Passion Play," Tuesday evening, Nov. 13. The closing lecture will be "Fair Florence and Beautiful Venice," the most brilliantly illustrated of all Mr. Lewis' European lectures. Evening admissions: 35 cents. Course ticket 50 cents. For sale at Noble's drug store.

—Mr. James F. Fennessey of this place and Miss Jennie H. Stockwell were married Wednesday at the bride's home in Cambridge. Rev. Alexander Blackburn of the First Baptist church, that city, officiated. Mr. J. B. Baxter of Cambridge was best man and Miss Annie Stoltaker, maid of honor. After an informal reception, the couple departed on a wedding tour. Upon their return they will reside here in Mr. Bishop's house on Clark street.

—Rev. Edward McArthur Noyes was installed as pastor of the First Congregational church, Wednesday. The council met in the afternoon. There was a large attendance at the impressive public installation ceremonies in the evening. The exercises followed: Invocation, Rev. Theodore P. Prudden, D. D.; Reading of the Scriptures, Rev. Richard Montague, D. D.; Hymn, tune, "Boylston," choir and congregation; Sermon, Rev. Smith Baker, D. D.; Anthem, "God shall charge His Angel Legions"; Installing prayer, Rev. Daniel L. Furber, D. D.; Right hand of fellowship, Rev. Wolcott Calhoun; Hymn, "Lyons," choir and congregation; Charge to the Pastor, Rev. Frederick B. Richards; Charge to the people, Rev. Theodore J. Holmes; Greeting of the churches, Rev. Edwin H. Hughes, Pastor of the Methodist church; Doxology, congregation; Benediction, the pastor.

—An incendiary fire destroyed the handsome stable on the Colby estate, Centre street, early Thursday morning. The fire was first discovered by Michael Casey of Clinton place, about 2 a. m., but he had to run to the Newton Centre engine house to give the alarm, as there is no signal box within half a mile of the stable. The fire had made such headway when it was discovered, that it was only possible to save some wagons in a shed, and the stable with all its contents was destroyed. The stable was occupied by Mr. A. C. Walworth, and the contents included three horses and a pony, two cows, five carriages, four sleighs, a large number of harnesses, robes, etc., a large quantity of hay and grain, the property of Mr. Walworth and a carriage belonging to the Colby estate. The loss on the stable was about $4,000, which was insured, and Mr. Walworth's loss will be $2,500, which is partly covered by insurance. One of the horses burned was Max, a handsome saddle horse, formerly owned by Mr. Lancaster, and valued at $500. The stable was burned clean to the ground, as it had gained such headway before being discovered that the firemen could do nothing. This is the fifth incendiary fire in Newton Centre within a few months, and the guilty parties have not been discovered. Most of the fires have also been in the same section of the ward, the Gunnison house, the Speare house and the Fennessey barn and now the Colby stable, all being within a short distance of each other.

—A brilliant wedding took place Tuesday evening at the North Avenue (University) church in Cambridge. Mr. Edward Ray Speare, son of Hon. Alden Speare of Newton Centre, was united in marriage to Miss Dorothy Simmons, the eldest daughter of W. L. Simmons of Cambridge. The church was beautifully decorated with cut flowers, ferns and potted palms. Wreaths of flowers interwoven with maidenhair fern adorned the aisles leading up to the altar, which in turn was appropriately and artistically decorated with cut roses and chrysanthemum. The officiating clergyman was Rev. A. E. White, the uncle of the bride, and he was assisted by Rev. Dr. Biddell. Mr. Franklin Murphy, Jr., was best man, and Miss Demetrius Simmons was maid of honor. The ushers were Avery L. Rand of Newton Centre, Roger Simmons, William F. Rogers, Albert Faine Carter and Fred L. Pratt of Cambridge.

At the appointed time the clergymen entered from the vestry, and together with the groom and best man approached the altar. A little later the maid of honor, leaning on the arm of her father, proceeded down the aisle, and soon the nuptial knot was tied. The bride was beautifully attired in a dress of white satin, cut en train, and trimmed with duchess lace. Her veil was fastened with lilies of the valley, and she carried a bouquet of lilies. The maid of honor wore pink crepe de chine, and carried Catherine Mermet roses. After the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride's parents, on Meacham street, and a large number of people were present. Mr. and Mrs. Speare will reside in Newton.

—Mr. Thomas Weston has sold two building lots on Hinkley road near Woodward street.

—The Newton fire department wish to express their thanks for refreshments furnished by two ladies of this place and served at the fire at Newton Centre on Thursday morning last.

—The funeral of the late Mr. J. F. Edmunds took place at his late residence on Thursday. Rev. Dr. Furber and Rev. C. E. Havens officiated. Interment at Newton cemetery.

—"Pinafore" was the first in the series of entertainments to be given under the auspices of the Highland Club which took place on Wednesday evening. It was a first-class performance and the hall was filled to its utmost capacity.

—Mr. J. P. Estabrook has a cellar staked out for a house for his own occupancy at the corner of Griffin avenue and Saxon road. Mr. T. D. Sullivan has the cellar contract which is a guarantee of first-class work.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS.

—Dr. Hildreth has returned from a short outing in the country.

—Mr. Thomas Hale is driving a fine new horse, which he recently purchased.

—Mrs. J. E. Warren of Chestnut street, who has been spending a few weeks in New Hampshire has returned to her home.

—There are letters remaining in the postoffice for Mary Richards, Mrs. Mary B. Weeks and Mr. B. Soule.

—The Pettie Machine shops took account of stock last Thursday. This event occurs annually and includes all departments.

—The second of assemblies given by the Young Men's Association, was held last Friday night. It was largely attended, about 50 couples being present.

—Hallowe'en was observed by quite a number in this village. Many of our English residents celebrated in the old-fashioned manner and greatly enjoyed themselves.

—Mr. A. Matthews of High street, while picking apples in his orchard, fell from the step ladder to the ground dislocating his shoulder. He was attended by Dr. Thompson, and is now quite comfortable.

—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Manning of Mechanic street, mourn the loss of an infant daughter. The child was two years old and the parents have the full sympathy of the community.

—Miss Emma Gaultier of Chandler place gave a very pleasant party to a number of friends last Wednesday night. Games were enjoyed after which a collation was served.

—Mr. Florence Crowley of this place, who is employed in a foundry in South Boston, had the misfortune of having his foot severely burned. He was carrying a pot of melted iron and accidentally dropped it on his foot, lacerating it terribly. He was removed to his home here and attended by Dr. McOwen.

—Mr. Joel Chandler of High street met with a most serious accident last Monday. He was driving a team on the new boulevard when the horse became frightened and started to run away. Mr. Chandler was thrown from the seat breaking his leg, two ribs and otherwise injuring himself; he was removed to his home and attended by Dr. Thompson.

—The many friends of Mr. Daniel Collins gathered at the latter's residence last Wednesday evening, to express their gratitude and friendly feeling. Mr. Collins was presented by one of their number with a handsome meerschaum pipe, the donor making a very fitting speech, to which Mr. Collins responded. The evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner, and the party broke up with best wishes for Daniel.

Real Estate News.

Alvord Bros. & Co. have consummated the sale of eleven lots, comprising 75,000 square feet of land situated on the west side of Oxford road, for Luther Paul to a party whose name is withheld for the present. This is one of the most important sales of land that has taken place in this section for some months. What has been known as the Paul farm consisting of from 20 to 30 acres and situated almost in the heart of the village, is now being rapidly developed. The houses that are being built are artistic and thorough in construction, and Newton Centre will soon have a new neighborhood of from fifty to seventy-five families.

Alvord Bros. & Co. report the sale of a lot on the west side of Oxford road to Thomas Jackson of Plymouth, Mass. Ground will be broken at once for a ten room house.

Wiley S. & Frank Edmunds have sold 16 acres of land belonging to David Blaisdell, and 1.2 acres owned by S. M. Jackson, located on Dudley street, to a Boston merchant, whose name is withheld, but who will improve the property.

Garden City Improvement Society.
An adjourned meeting will be held in Eliot lower hall Thursday evening, Nov. 8, at 8 o'clock. Subjects before the meeting, Grade Crossings.—What action is necessary to secure such a plan for separation of grade as will further the prosperity of our city and its inhabitants.

Washington street.—What plan for widening this great thoroughfare will best adapt it to the present and future needs of our city?

Electric Railroads.—Shall the electric cars cross the tracks of the Boston & Albany at grade? A full expression upon these important questions is desired.

NEWTON.

—Pianos, Farley, 433 Washington St., N.

—Rev. Mr. Merrill and Rev. Mr. Bronson exchange pulpits next Sunday morning.

—Grace church choir is to sing in Music Hall next Thursday night at the Church Congress meeting.

—Mr. H. C. Sawin has been chosen one of the vice presidents of the Middlesex County Teachers' Association.

—An important meeting of Channing Guild will be held next Sunday evening at quarter of seven in the chapel.

—No evening service at the Methodist church next Sunday on account of Y. M. C. A. anniversary in Eliot church.

—Ward Seven will have to choose a new alderman this fall, and it is said that the choice will be between Councilmen Tolman and Weed.

—Mr. Frank G. Phelps took part in the Union Cycle Club's Century run, last Sunday, and Mr. E. P. Burnham was one of the pacemakers.

—Rev. Mr. Ferguson will deliver the second of his new series of practical discourses in Grace church on Sunday night. Topic: "It is well to begin life in the humblest way."

—Shirts with double backs and fronts cost some more, but are very warm and serviceable. Order now for winter wear. See Blackwell's adv. on 5th page.

—Mr. Wm. B. Bates will read a paper before the Bostonian Society at the Old State House, Tuesday, Nov. 13. Subject: "Eliot's work at Nonantum."

—Miss Alice F. Peirce will give the first of a series of "Musical Talks" for her pupils, at her studio, Eliot block, Nov. 10. Her subject for that afternoon is "The Piano-Forte, Past and Present."

—If you are fond of fine, juicy beef, lamb, pork or sausages, also fresh fish, visit the market near the bank a call. Telephone 224-2.

—Marcus Morton, Esq., is the secretary of the church congress committee on hospitality. His work is to provide for the officers, speakers and writers of the meeting to be held in Boston next week.

—People who are fortunate enough to go to Trinity church, Boston, next Tuesday morning at the opening of the church congress will hear a remarkable chorus made up of three of the best vested choirs in Boston.

—The electric lights were not lighted Tuesday night by order of the superintendent of wires, as the storm had crossed so many wires that it was considered dangerous. Fortunately it was a fine moonlight night.

—The Social Science Club will meet at Mrs. Chas. E. Billings, Franklin street, Wednesday, Nov. 14, at 10 A. M. Mrs. Phelps of Newton Highlands will give a paper on "The Real Uses of Clubs." Each member may invite a guest.

—Some changes have just been made in the chancel seats in Grace church. They have been brought forward so as to give more space near the chancel railing. It is quite an improvement although scarcely making any difference in the appearance from the front.

—Mr. Samuel L. Powers has established a scholarship at Dartmouth College, yielding $100 annually, to be used as an entrance scholarship, covering the freshman year. Mr. Powers is a graduate of Dartmouth and still retains a lively interest in the college.

—Music in Grace church - Friday night: Processional, "Forward be our watchword." West. Magnificat. West. Anthem, "How lovely are the messengers." West. Anthem, "The Lord is Great." Right. Recessional, "Hark! hark! my soul!" All seats free.

—The ladies of the Methodist church give a supper and entertainment at the church on Wednesday evening next in behalf of the new church fund. About 200 persons are expected to be present and will bring their money and tell usually in rhymes how they earned it. This will furnish a very spicy and interesting entertainment.

—Charles Howard Smith has sold to Sydney Harwood of this city the larger of the two cottages on the northern side of the county road at Point Albert n. Hull. The lot contains 9200 square feet of land. Mr. Harwood will improve the property somewhat and use it for his summer residence.

—Miss Sara Carter Wing, formerly of this city and popular in Newton society, was married last week Tuesday, at Westfield, Mass., to Dr. Fayette Hewitt Montgomery, son of Congressman Montgomery of Kentucky. They have gone to that state on their wedding tour, and after a several weeks there, will make their home in Washington, D. C.

—Councilman Tolman had two fine elm trees seriously damaged by the storm, and his front door was blocked by the debris. One large limb in falling struck the house and aroused all the inmates, but fortunately it did but little damage. Dr. Bartlett had seven apple trees broken down, and from all over the city come reports of great damage to trees and shrubs.

—Mr. George W. Lane, formerly a clerk in A. J. Gordon's store, died on Monday last, at Everett, of typhoid pneumonia, after a brief illness. He had many friends here, who will be pained to learn of his death. After leaving Newton he was employed by Batchelder & Lincoln of Boston and was held in the highest esteem by the firm and his associates. He was only 27 years old, and leaves a widow and one child. The funeral services were held Wednesday, from his late residence in Everett.

—The Newton Y. M. C. A. will hold its seventeenth anniversary exercises in Eliot church, next Sunday evening, Nov. 11th, at 7.30 o'clock, to be preceded by a praise service of fifteen minutes. Rev. Geo. E. Merrill, Rev. Geo. W. Shinn, D. D., and Rev. Dillon Bronson will take part in the exercises, and addresses will be made by Rev. J. J. Lansing, D. D., of Park Street church, Boston, and James H. Eaton, Esq. of Lawrence. Music by the Eliot church choir and a quartet of male voices.

—A break in the water service pipe in the trench which is being dug on Elmwood street for the construction of a new drain, caused a small sized flood about 9 o'clock Monday morning. The water thoroughly drenched the laborers at work in the trench and the foreman. It almost filled the excavation, and caused a complete suspension of work. Several efforts were made to locate and stop the leak, but it was nearly noon before any success in that direction was attained.

—A mile race between Harry Tyler and Porter of this city is one of the possibilities of the near future. Arthur Sidwell, Tyler's manager, says that if Porter will raise $300 his man would raise a like amount to purchase a suitable prize for a mile race. That would enable the friends of these crack wheelmen to settle the disputed point as to which one is the superior rider. A few months ago Porter was looked upon as a back number, but his recent performances have clearly proven him the equal of any rider in the world.

—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jones are receiving congratulations. It's a boy.

—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dalton are receiving congratulations over the birth of a son.

—Horses clipped by electric power or hand at Kirwin's stables, Waltham. Telephone 61-3.

—Mr. D. A. Long, manager of the Kansas City B. B. Club, was in town this week visiting friends.

—Mr. G. Abbott Gilman, who was injured in the Newton-Hyde Park foot ball game, is about now on crutches.

—Dr. E. B. Hitchcock read a paper on "Food Adulterations" before the Mass. Dental Society in Boston, yesterday.

—A bicycle, the property of H. L. Lovell, was stolen last Saturday morning. It had been left at the curbing in front of Cole's block and was spirited away while the owner was procuring his daily installment of news matter.

—The boards in the tunnel that afford pedestrians dry footing have been removed and the concrete underneath proved pretty poppy during the stormy weather of the past few days. It is hoped that a new plank will be put in position as soon as practicable.

—The King's Daughters of the Congregational church have reorganized for the season with the following new officers elected: President, Miss Brooks; secretary, Miss Helen Cobb; treasurer, Miss Emilie Potter. The club, as usual, will devote itself to the sewing for the poor.

—Mrs. S. M. Duncklee had a narrow escape yesterday. She started across the tracks at the Centre street crossing when an express train was bowling along on the inward track at a fast clip. The flagman saw her danger and pushed her across clear of the flyer. It is a train used to bring milk to the Hub and comes down on the local track. The consequence is that many people suppose that it is going to stop at the station and, therefore, have no idea how fast the train is travelling.

—There will be no formal opening, but visitors are welcomed at all times at the studio of Mrs. Elizabeth Gowdy Baker, especially Thursday afternoons from 2 to 5, when one or more of her water color portraits just completed, can usually be seen.

—Mrs. Baker's class in art begins work Wednesday next at 9 A. M. and will continue through the winter on Wednesday and Friday mornings. A class for children, one hour lessons twice a week, will be organized quite soon. Information as to either class may be had at the studio any morning from 9 to 12.

—At Grace church Sunday evening, Rev. Charles Ferguson of Cohasset preached the first of a series of four sermons on "Vital American Principles." The sermon was based upon the principle that "it is better to work than to be worked for." America, said the speaker, is the most significant fact of modern historical times.

—This has been the chief source of the democratic influences which are pervading the whole world. Beneath her flag gather together people from all sections of the earth and each is equal to any other before the law. One of the chief factors, if not the chief one, in welding into a common allegiance to their adopted country, these elements possessed of dissimilar prejudices, is the dignity accorded to every man under democracy. The nobility and the worth of work are being more and more appreciated as time goes on. The time is almost passed in which the highest ambition of men was to be served instead of to serve. In the new era, already beginning to dawn, the great captains of industry will be fellows instead of being, as heretofore and now, the successful in commanding the services of the greater number. This, according to the preacher, is the lesson in regard to the proper appreciation of the dignity of labor taught by Christianity, and by the founder of Christianity, both by precept and by example. The church was crowded by an interested audience. The coming Sunday the sermon will be based on "It is better to begin life in a humble way."

—The moral and legal obligations of the city of Newton to the laborers employed in the construction of its sewers in 1891 were considered by the sewer committee of the city government Wednesday evening.

A hearing was given the legal representatives of the assignees of James Killian, contractor, and of the 600 Italian laborers employed by him.

The question at issue involves the payment of a sum by the city variously estimated at from $43,000 to $75,000. The case is of long standing and is regarded as of great importance to the city.

When Contractor Killian failed Nov. 2, 1891, his $35,000 was due the Italian laborers in his employ, and the sum was not paid by the city. The bondsmen of Killian also claim that several other sums were due Killian at that time. The city ordered the contractor to stop work, and finished sec. 1, 2 and 3 of the sewer system.

The representatives of the claimants claim that the city is under moral and legal obligations to pay these laborers, who were turned on the streets, starving, and the fruits of whose labor the city has enjoyed for two years.

The claimants were represented by Judge Kennedy, John Lowell, Jr., Jesse C. Ivy and H. L. Sawyer. They were willing to compromise on the basis of settlement of the laborers, but in case the proposition was not accepted they proposed to carry the fight into the courts, where they would endeavor to recover a sum in excess of $75,000. If their proposition was accepted the settlement would cost only $43,000.

The contract with Killian was criticised severely, and it was intimated that the city had taken advantage of Killian, who could neither read nor write, and that he was not treated justly in regard to the unexpected difficulties encountered. It is probable that a compromise will be effected.

HOSPITAL SUNDAY.

The finance committee of the Newton Hospital now ask the churches of Newton to take active measures on Hospital Sunday, Nov. 25th, to obtain an increased collection. The work of the Hospital is increasing year by year, and the increase this year is larger than any previous one.

This is partly due to the employment of so many laborers upon our public works. In fact, our institution has become almost an Emergency Hospital, so many accident cases have been sent there. Also the contagious wards have been in constant use throughout the year, and the number of cases treated in the general Hospital has been greater than ever before.

In the past nine months forty-eight contagious cases have been treated, at a nineteen typhoid fever patients.

It will be readily seen that more money must be raised to meet this large outlay, and we have entire confidence that the citizens of Newton, through the Hospital Sunday collections, will meet our needs. In addition to the usual method of taking up a contribution, if each church would choose a committee of one or more, to make personal application to some of its members, asking them to name an amount they would pay, by check or otherwise, when the contribution was taken up, the result would be far more satisfactory.

Alderman Bothfeld for Mayor.

The undersigned citizens of Newton, solely with the view of serving the public welfare, ignoring partisan affiliations, unite in commending to our fellow-citizens Alderman Bothfeld as a man well qualified for the office of mayor. His faithful discharge of the duties pertaining to the public positions already filled by him, his unswerving integrity and enlightened views indicate his fitness for the position. In electing Alderman Bothfeld mayor, the city of Newton will secure as its chief executive a man who will creditably meet the requirements of the position and insure a conservative and capable administration of the city government.

Garden City Improvement Society.

A fair sized company of prominent citizens gathered in Eliot Hall last evening in response to a call issued by the Garden City Improvement Society.

The meeting was devoted to the consideration of three questions—the best solution of the grade crossing problem, the widening of Washington street (Newton's main thoroughfare) and street railway extension.

In the absence of the president, Mr. Edwin M. Gay was elected to the chair, and after a few introductory remarks called for the report of the railroad committee.

John T. Langford on behalf of the committee of railroads reported a resolution, which was adopted, condemning the grade crossing law of 1890. The resolutions all on the City Council to obtain an amendment to the act to further protect the interests of the city.

A form of vote was prepared and ordered to be submitted to the citizens in order to obtain an expression of opinion on the grade crossing question. Sentiment favored lowering the tracks.

A letter from Hon. J. F. C. Hyde was read favoring depression.

In regard to the widening of Washington street, A. F. Noyes stated that the best plan seemed to be to widen on the south side of the street and to take all the land between the street and the railroad tracks. This plan, he understood, had received the approval of the city committee on highways, and he believed the orders would pass the City Council.

Messrs. A. R. Mitchell, N. H. Chadwick, Walter U. Lawson, and Councilman Wing spoke in favor of the widening.

In regard to street railway extension the majority of the speakers, while recognizing the need of a more extended service, were opposed to the granting of any franchises to cross the Boston & Albany tracks at grade.

Y. M. C. A.

Rev. Dillon Bronson will address the Men's meeting next Sunday afternoon, taking for his subject "Salt." The service begins at 4 o'clock. All men are invited. Boys meeting at 8 o'clock.

CITY GOVERNMENT PROCEEDINGS.

ALDERMEN RECEIVE ELECTION RETURNS—ORDER FOR PURCHASE OF LAND FOR WEST NEWTON SCHOOLHOUSE SITE PASSED—HEARING ON TELEPHONE COMPANY'S PETITION FOR LOCATIONS—ROUTINE MATTERS.

The board of aldermen met Tuesday evening to receive the election returns.

The session was inaugurated with regular business. Mayor Fenno announced the appointment of Frank H. Humphrey as assistant engineer of the fire department. He was confirmed.

The drawing of five jurors to serve in the Superior Court was next proceeded with, resulting in the choice of George A. Ward, Ballard avenue; Harry B. Brewer, Institution avenue; Henry B. Little, Henshaw street; George W. Torrey, Woodbine street, and Wilmet S. Johnson, Grove street.

A petition that came up from the common council relative to furnishing the Hall of the New England Telephone Company for locations for poles on Walnut, Chestnut and Washington streets having arrived, it was declared opened by the chair. Mr. Blaney asked for information as to the object of the line of poles petitioned for on Chestnut street. The representative of the company was not present at the time, but gave the desired facts later.

The time for the hearing on the petition of the New England Telephone Company for locations for poles on Walnut, Chestnut and Washington streets having arrived, it was declared opened by the chair. Mr. Blaney asked for information as to the object of the line of poles petitioned for on Chestnut street. The representative of the company was not present at the time, but gave the desired facts later.

Alderman Rumery presented the petition of J. T. Bailey opposing the location on Walnut street. Mr. W. C. Boyden, a resident of Walnut street, appeared in remonstrance. He said that there were 52 poles already located on Walnut street between Watertown and Washington streets. The residents were opposed to any additional poles. It was felt that the wires should hereafter be placed underground. Ex-Alderman Chadwick, Mr. Boyden stated, informed him that he intended to appear in opposition.

Mr. Horton S. Allen, representing the telephone company, said that the location on Walnut street was not wanted for the purpose of adding to the number of poles already there. The idea was to replace the old poles with higher ones to prevent contact of the telephone, street railway and electric light wires. It was intended as far as practicable to unite with the street railway company in the use of the same poles.

Alderman Roffe said that the chief of the fire department thought that the arrangement would afford relief for the street in decreasing the number of poles there.

Mr. Allen said that the same idea was to be carried out on Washington street. The location petitioned for on Chestnut street was, he understood, to provide for municipal service.

Mr. Blaney said that he thought it would be well to put all wires underground gradually. It would, he thought, obviate much of the danger from overhead wires and the impairing of the telephone service through storms. The telephone company, he continued, have secured locations, but have not always proceeded with the work of putting up poles and wires after securing that privilege in certain thoroughfares. I recall, especially, a case of that kind in West Newton and I now give notice that I shall petition this board to revoke a permit to locate poles on Highland street granted last June and not taken advantage of by the petitioners up to the present time. The telephone company also secured permit and constructed an underground conduit through a portion of Chestnut street, but so far as I am able to learn have not placed any wires underground or decreased the number of poles on that thoroughfare. Before any more locations are granted, it seems to me that the company should be required to keep its promises concerning those already granted.

Ex-Alderman Chadwick—I trust that no more locations for poles and wires will be granted for Walnut street. Perhaps one needs no stronger argument than that afforded by Tuesday's storm and its damaging results. The board, I hope, will insist upon putting the wires underground. This arrangement for combination use of poles may mean a largely increased number of overhead wires. It is a serious matter deserving of careful consideration.

Mr. Boyden, in reply to Alderman

Roffe, said that there would be less objection if it was not planned to increase the number of poles. He favored, however, putting the wires underground. The hearing was closed.

The hearing on the petition of the Newton & Boston Street Railway Company for permit to extend its tracks and to cross the Boston & Albany railroad at grade over Walnut street was next opened. Mayor Fenno read a communication from Mr. Hunt, general counsel of the B. & A., stating that a previous engagement prevented his being present on election night and requesting His Honor to have the hearing postponed. Mayor Fenno stated that he replied to Mr. Hunt to the effect that he had no authority to postpone the hearing, but that he would make the request to the board in his behalf.

On motion of Alderman Roffe, it was voted to postpone the hearing until Monday evening, Nov. 12.

More papers at this point came up from the common council. One, an order authorizing the water board to repair the engine at the pumping station and appropriating $1000 therefor, to be charged to the water construction account, was passed in concurrence. Another, an order calling for an appropriation of $700 for finishing the third story of the Claffin schoolhouse, brought up Alderman Bothfield with an inquiry. He wanted to know who was responsible for the order. Has it been passed upon in committee, said he?

Alderman Rumery stated that the order originated with the master of the school and was to provide for what was regarded as a necessary piece of work. Following that explanation, it was passed in concurrence, six voting in the affirmative, one member absent.

Petitions from W. H. Rogers for a street lamp on Edinboro street and from Johanna Deady for two street lamps on Claffin place were referred to the committee on fuel and street lights. A petition for better water supply from residents of Brookline, Dedham and Dudley streets was referred to the water board.

Alderman Hunt offered an order authorizing the city messenger to employ a night watchman in the City Hall until Jan. 1, and providing for an appropriation of $100 to be used for payment of that service. He said that the order was introduced at the request of the city treasurer who would have large sums in the safes up to that time.

Alderman Plummer—Is this necessary with a police station in the same building?

Alderman Hunt—The services of one of the officers might be obtained, but it would necessitate taking a patrolman off his route.

After some further discussion, the order was passed.

Patrick Cunningham was granted a license as a sewer layer.

A petition of residents pointing out the inexperience of extending the Auburndale section of the central boulevard at present was referred to the highway committee.

Alderman Bothfield presented the report of the committee on the ordinance relating to truants and neglect of children; also orders which were passed providing for the enforcement of the ordinance relative to truants and neglect of children.

An order was passed authorizing the mayor to enter into a contract with the city of the city with abutters and owners of land on Appleton street, in conformity to the provisions of deeds of gift and contributions of money for the widening and extension of that thoroughfare.

At this point, a recess was taken.

Upon resuming the session, Alderman Roffe presented the report of the license committee on the petition of Joseph W. Farmer to conduct a billiard room in the new Associates' block, and upon its recommendation the petitioner was granted leave to withdraw. Alderman Roffe said that the committee did not intend to reflect in any way upon the character of Mr. Farmer whom it believed to be a very worthy gentleman, but that investigation had shown that the location of a pool room in the place named, (in Newtonville in fact), was contrary to the wishes of residents.

On motion of Alderman Roffe, the city clerk was authorized to authorize the laying of water pipe in Lenox, Williams Hillside streets and Glenwood avenue and appropriating $685 therefor; giving notice to A. W. Adams, et al., of the city's intent to take land for the widening of Washington street and appointing a hearing thereon for November 20, before both branches of the city council.

At this point, the election returns from the various wards were received. They are given in detail elsewhere in this paper.

Following the receiving of election returns, the water board presented notice to Washington street residents of the city's intent to take land for the improvement of that thoroughfare in accordance with the plan on which a hearing had already been held. This relates to that portion not changed under the scheme which departs from the original proposition of the highway committee in widening largely on the north side of the B. & A. tracks.

Leave to withdraw was granted to Elizabeth Stanley and Thomas Riley on claims for damages.

On motion of Alderman Roffe, the city clerk was authorized to correct errors in the election returns corrected.

On motion of Alderman Hunt, order 17,612 relating to purchase of land, corner of Elm and Webster streets, for a schoolhouse site, was taken from the table. Alderman Hunt then moved its passage, providing for the purchase of about 165,000 feet of land and an appropriation of $20,000 therefor to be provided for by 20-year notes.

Alderman Lumery—Is that the lot containing a much larger amount of land than is actually required for the school? Alderman Hunt—It is, I am informed, however, that the city solicitor, after looking into the matter, gives it as his opinion that the city can sell the land not needed.

Alderman Plummer—We should go slow in this matter. There is doubt concerning the ability to locate the land, it having been argued that the land is not in the geographical centre of the school district. I am not quite prepared to vote for it.

Alderman Hunt—It is necessary to take action now, if at all, for the owner has had overtures for other parties for the land.

the purchase of the land. The school board is unanimously in favor of the location and it is the opinion of that body that the lot is in the geographical center of the school population of the district.

Alderman Thompson—The public property committee considered this matter very carefully and decided that the lot for which this order provides was altogether desirable. How long, Alderman Plummer, do you desire to wait before voting on it?

Alderman Plummer—I don't want to wait unnecessarily. I simply desire to know if it is the best thing to do before action is taken.

Alderman Thompson—I have a communication from the superintendent of schools. He states that seven rooms in the proposed 12 room building could be filled at once. The location is planned to save a salary of an additional master and there is really not an argument that can be advanced in opposition to the locating of the structure on the north side of the tracks. This matter should be settled at once and the responsibility for further delay put where it belongs. The public property committee is of the opinion that the old school buildings are unfit for occupancy and that there is an urgent demand for better accommodations for school children in this city. Sooner or later this demand must be met. It is not creditable to the city to allow further delay in providing for the relief of the Pierce district.

Alderman Plummer—I don't wish to be understood as opposing the erection of a 12-room building. I had some doubts about the desirability of the location and as to what use was to be made of the land over and above that required for the school. If we can sell what land we don't want, I should withdraw my objection. I had the impression that we could not legally arrange a loan on the land if the city contemplated selling any part of it. The city solicitor says that we can. I presume he is a competent authority on that point.

Alderman Thompson—It has been done in a similar case, consequently I don't think there can be any ground for objection on that score.

Alderman Plummer—in reply to Alderman Roffe stated that only 70,000 feet of land was required for school purposes.

Alderman Roffe—Does the committee desire to retain the remaining portion of the land for park purposes? I would like to know just what I am voting for.

Alderman Thompson—My only desire is to get enough land for the schoolhouse and to sell the rest.

Alderman Roffe, who had been called to the chair, in reply to an inquiry of Alderman Plummer, stated that a loan could be arranged legally if part of the land was intended for sale.

Alderman Hunt—The committee only desires to retain the land intended for school use.

After some further discussion the much discussed order was passed, 6 yeas, 1 absent. The board then, at 10.10 o'clock adjourned.

W. A. McGuire, a well known citizen of McKay, Ohio, is of the opinion that there is nothing as good for children troubled with colds or croup as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He has used it in his family for several years with the best results and always keeps a bottle of it in his house. After having a gripe he was himself troubled with a severe cough. He used other remedies without benefit and then concluded to try the children's medicine and to his delight it soon effected a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. W. Keyes, Auburndale; H. B. Buck, Newton Centre; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

WASHINGTON STREET WIDENING.

LATEST DEVELOPMENTS IN THE PLAN OF THE HIGHWAY COMMITTEE.

The highway committee has come to a decision in regard to the much discussed Washington street widening. The matter has been before the committee for some time, and it is generally felt that urgent action is needed, as the street, which is the main thoroughfare, is dangerously narrow, and poorly constructed, and is in part occupied by street car tracks.

The committee has abandoned the plan of widening on the north side the entire distance, in view of the valuable property which would be seriously injured by such action. The plan which the committee will report to the city council in two weeks will vastly improve Washington street. In places the street will be widened into a boulevard, with a reservation for electric car tracks. The average width will be 85 feet, but in places it will be necessary to take all the land lying between the present roadway and the railroad tracks in order to settle the question of land damages, the street will be much wider through a great portion of its length.

In the course of the improvement the street is to be straightened, and several sharp and dangerous curves done away with. As far as possible all land needed for the widening will be taken on the south side, where it is of comparatively small value.

The plan is substantially as follows: From the square at Newton to Channing street the roadway will be 85 feet wide. From Channing to Adams street the entire strip to the railroad will be taken, making the street over 100 feet wide. A small portion will be taken at Church street on the north side in order to straighten the curve. From Harvard street to the hook and ladder house at Newtonville all the land between the street and the B. & A. tracks will be taken except at Newtonville square. West of the hook and ladder house the widening will be recommended after the preliminary survey.

Nonantum Boys' Club.

The Nonantum Boys' Club is indebted to Mr. A. J. Gordon for a valuable addition to the outfit of the cobbler class. Also to Mr. A. M. Gardner for carpentry supplies.

All contributions of money for the above work would be very acceptable. May be received by Mr. Edgar Billings of Billings, Clapp & Co.

THE BLIZZARD IN NEWTON.

RAILWAY AND STREET CAR SERVICE AFFECTED—GREAT DAMAGE TO FRUIT AND SHADE TREES—POLES AND WIRES KNOCKED DOWN—MORNING MAILS AND THE DAILY PAPERS DELAYED.

The city was storm-bound Tuesday morning. Not for years has so much damage resulted from a blizzard here. Before 10 o'clock Monday evening, the electric lights were ordered out as a measure of safety, and the city was in darkness all night.

The first train out of Boston for Newton did not reach its destination until near 9 o'clock.

The street railway service was seriously affected.

The tracks of the Boston & Albany railroad were blocked below Faneuil and between West Newton and Auburndale. Hundreds of telegraph poles were toppled over.

The express and freight tracks of the Boston & Albany railroad through the Newtons, numbered 1 and 2, were completely blocked. The tracks utilized for the passenger service, numbered 3 and 4, were in better shape. Track 4, over which all the inward bound passenger trains journey to Boston, was closed. The through inward bound passenger trains were, therefore, able to get over the iron through the Newtons and beyond Allston.

At the latter point they were hung up for a time, as all the tracks there were littered with telegraph poles.

The first passenger train, inward bound, reached Newton at 7.35. It was from Saxtonville, and was only six minutes late. About an hour later a Framingham train passed along on track 4. The inward trains passed after that rather irregularly until toward noon.

The first train out from Boston reached Newton nearly two hours late. It brought the morning papers, for which hundreds of belated passengers had been eagerly awaiting to obtain the latest election news, and such information as had been procured about the storm and its work of devastation throughout the New England states.

The delay in the train service, of course, interfered with Uncle Sam's postal business, and for the first time in years there was no early morning mail. With neither mail nor morning papers, Newton indeed seemed an isolated place.

The very appearance of the streets was dubious. Huge branches of trees littered the highways and sidewalks, wires were piled about on every hand, telephone, telegraph and fire alarm poles were toppled over throughout the city, and the evidence of the destructive character of the early November blizzard was to be seen on every hand.

The apple tree on the estate of Mrs. Dr. Reed, Centre street, was pulled up by the roots, fruit trees everywhere about the city suffered much damage, fences were knocked down, and, altogether, the storm scattered devastation along its path.

The telephone service was practically knocked out, and the company will sustain a heavy loss. Reports from three exchanges showed a serious condition of affairs. Only two trunk lines were spared, those running from Newton to West Newton and from Newton to Waltham. The lines to Boston and beyond Newton to Wellesley and Natick were badly crippled that they were rendered unavailable for service. The work of repairing wires, clearing the tracks and the highways was prosecuted with great vigor during the forenoon. The city put on an extra gang of men, and every available lineman was kept busy.

The local street car service was pretty well knocked out. No cars were run over the lines of the Newton Street Railway to Waltham until after 10 o'clock, and the service on the Newtonville & Watertown line was completely suspended for a while.

There was a heavy damage to fruit and shade trees. In all parts of the city trees which were but partially stripped of their foliage were broken down, and the owners of orchards suffered great losses.

The wires of the fire alarm service were shut down in various parts of the city, and on Watertown street a line of five poles was piled across the roadway. Pearl street was blocked by fallen poles, and several poles were knocked down on Centre street.

Of the police signal system several circuits were crippled and a number of patrolmen cut off from communication with headquarters.

LOWER FARES WANTED.

COMMISSIONERS LISTEN TO ARGUMENTS FOR AND AGAINST THE PETITION.

The railroad commissioners continued and concluded the hearing on the petition of the selectmen of Wellesley, Monday, for a more equitable system of railroad fares on the Boston & Albany railroad between Boston and the Wellesleys.

Counsel Samuel Hoar made the closing argument for the respondent company, insisting that the fares charged the residents of Wellesley Farms, Wellesley and Wellesley Hills were not excessive, and not peculiar, as had been contended. Mr. Hoar proceeded to show, by means of comparison, that the people of those towns had been dealt with fairly by the railroad at all times, and had no just cause for complaint. The petitioners, he said, were aiming at but one thing, and that was to have the board of commissioners declare in favor of a rate per mile of 2 cents. The single ticket was at the bottom of the whole question. Successive Legislatures had refused to declare in favor of the 2 cents per mile rate. It was in reality a legislative matter, and not an executive one.

The petitioners ask, he continued, that they be included in the suburban limit, and that Newton be excluded. But if the prayer of the petition were granted Natick would have the same right to come in here, and the same right to have a like petition granted as the selectmen of Wellesley.

Linus M. Childs closed for the petitioners, adhering to the stand taken during the hearings, and insisting on the claim that Wellesley suffered from excessive fares. He urged the board to grant the petition.

The hearing was then closed and the matter was taken under advisement.

Political and Otherwise.

Three or four booms in the interests of securing an opposition candidate to Alderman H. E. Boffield for the majority have been launched only to explode without attaining the object desired. It seems, however, that there is likely to be a contest over the head of the municipal ticket and it is, of course, beyond dispute that considerable of a fight is inevitable over the election of the members of both branches of the city government. Quiet elections are not much in favor here when local matters are at issue. There is always a sort of spoiling for political warfare, although the expenses incurred in the past in providing for the heeled and influential politicians connected with a campaign has blunted a tendency to contribute toward the fund for that purpose. In some contests, it has cost both successful and vanquished candidates a good round sum to run for mayor to say nothing of the work involved in the contest of the campaign.

The Non-Partisan movement a year ago attracted many wearied with bustling and anxious for the initiation of that sort of a campaign, classified as strictly legitimate, where the expenditures are merely nominal. Whether the scheme will live long enough to be perpetuated, the future alone can determine. There are so many perplexing questions involved that one cannot figure it out with any very satisfactory results. The latest report that comes to me concerning the majority is that the very numerous friends of Alderman Rumery are endeavoring to secure his consent to run. Should he decide to do so, there is sure to be a lively fight and one that will be likely to furnish considerable entertainment for the friends of rival candidates.

Lillian Russell, quite often alluded to in the latest of our notices as the queen of comic opera singers, has returned to this country, according to a New York dispatch, more beautiful and bewitching than ever. The fair Lillian seems to have a cold cinder on the press. She is always the most charming and lovely of prima donnas, and her performance in the opera of "The Girl of the Year" at the Metropolitan, for instance, was a far more beautiful woman and although, perhaps, not Miss Russell's equal in perfect stage presence, had, to my mind, a more sympathetic and better trained voice.

Experience in newspaper work, it seems, don't count for much after all. A case was brought to my attention recently of a young man who graduated from the mechanical department of a newspaper office a few months ago, who now feels the responsibility of acting as instructor to men who have been years in the business. Possibly time may have its effect in disabbing him of the notion of having attained the ideal of perfection. It is the goal that all literary workers strive for, but it requires no small degree of modesty combined with rare ability and persistence to get there.

Election morning found the city in a state of uncommon dreariness. The walks were covered with slush and obstructed by the fallen limbs of trees unable to stand the strain of the clinging, wet and heavy snow that came down during the night. The streets were completely blocked with wreckage and bringing little comfort to the early visitors to the polling places. It was not a Republican day according to tradition and yet it did not prove as advantageous to the Democrats as might be anticipated, judging from weather's effect in the past. The followers of the low tariff party did not turn out with surprising alacrity and for once, at least, the utility of the conveyance adopted to bring the voters to the balloting rooms, was rendered almost futile. There was a great deal of apathy, probably due to the feeling that the Republican ticket in this state was assured and that the only point not settled was that of the size of the plurality that its candidates would receive over opponents. The balloting was light during the forenoon hours and dropped off to a scattering vote in the afternoon.

A correspondent interested in the Newton High school foot ball eleven believes that insufficient attention is being given to team work. The players are light and, therefore, it is particularly essential that they should play well together. The impression seems to be general one that the men are working on independent lines, each playing after his own way, rather than by the rules and direction of thoughtful leadership. The best result, experience proves, are not obtained in that manner. Perhaps, a friendly suggestion may not be amiss, more, amiss, and if taken advantage of may result in strengthening the team in its general and defensive work.

"What did Degen do to him?" "What, little Johnny Degen?" "No! Not little Johnny Degen, but rather Councilman Degen, who is being exposed by some of the prominent politicians of Newton Centre for promotion to the upper branch. Some think it looks rather chilly for this member of the lower branch from Ward Six, but he may not get frozen out after all, and certainly would prove a good man to succeed Alderman Roffe."

"De Democrats, dey aint no good; dey cant hustle, see!" That's the way one young man explained the result of the state election Tuesday. Perhaps he was in a measure correct in his views, judging from the apathy shown by them in this city. Still, it must be remembered that the monkeying with legislation and the corruption shown up in New York under Tammany rule had much to do with the big sweep made by the Republicans. And I suspect, too, that some of those Democrats who stayed at home were a bit disgusted with the work of their representatives in Washington.

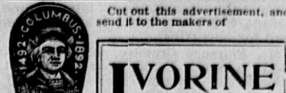

QUERICS.

Dangers from Catarrh.
The most important feature about that very common complaint, catarrh in the head, is its tendency to develop into some other more serious and dangerous disease. The foul matter dropping from the head is liable to the bronchial tubes or lungs is very liable to lead to bronchitis or consumption, that destroyer which causes more deaths in this country than any other disease. As catarrh originates in impurities in the blood, local applications can do but little good. The common sense method of treatment is to purify the blood, and for this purpose there is no preparation superior to Hood's Sarsaparilla. The powerful action of this medicine upon the blood expels every impurity, and by so doing cures catarrh and gives health to the entire organism.

Are you ever Annoyed

by a buzzing or roaring sound in your head? Have you difficulty in hearing distinctly? Are you troubled with a continual dropping of mucus, irritating the throat and causing you to cough? Is your breath unpleasantly affected and accompanied with a taste? Is your hearing less acute? If so, you have catarrh and should at once procure a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm, the best known remedy. The Balm will give instant relief.

THE PIERCE SCHOOL.

The Board of Aldermen had quite a discussion over the purchase of what is known as the West Newton Common for a site for the new Pierce school house, but finally passed an order appropriating $20,000 therefor. The land is bounded by Elm and Webster streets and Oak avenue, and there are 168,000 feet, of which the public property committee say they propose to take 70,000 feet for the school house and sell the rest. The price has been reduced to a little over 11 cents a foot, and perhaps the city may get out of the transaction without much loss, especially as small lots of land in that neighborhood are reported to have been sold recently for 10 cents a foot. Of course the city is expected to pay more than an individual would, and the usual story was brought up to hasten action, that other parties were after the land. It would be interesting to know what those other parties proposed to pay, and if they are "after it" any more than they have been for the last twenty years. The intention is, we understand, to locate the building on the corner of Webster street and Oak avenue, and the south side will front the street, to have the entrance doors in the rear of the building. This would make an attractive structure! It is still proposed to build a twelve room building, the reason therefor being stated to be that the Superintendent says that five rooms can be filled at once. The site will be very inconvenient for the children on the south side of the track and those east of Waltham street, but it was claimed that it is in the centre of school population, which shows what a large number of school children there are in the triangle formed by the railroad and River street. To bring this site in the centre of population, the children in that section must largely outnumber those in all the rest of the district, and in spite of the seeming absurdity of this assumption, it must be true, as the school committee have so stated. Parents in the hill section of West Newton are not at all pleased at having the school located so far away, but it is probably reasoned that they all keep carriages or ought to, and so the distance does not matter. It may be asked what has become of the scheme to use the balance of the land for a playground, but as this is a matter which can be brought up at any time, it is perhaps better to say nothing about it until after the deeds have been passed.

THE ELECTION IN NEWTON.

Election passed off so quietly in Newton that a large number seemed unaware of the fact, the total vote for governor being 3306, as compared with 3838 last year and 4095 in 1892. There are 4533 voters on the list, so that nearly a third of the entire voting list stand at home. The figures stand as follows:

	Voting.	Not Voting.
Ward One	418	126
"Two	734	159
"Three	378	320
"Four	383	204
"Five	406	190
"Six	500	206
"Seven	389	112

Mr. Greenhalge fell 102 behind his vote of last year, and Mr. Russell 431 behind, over half of which, or 258 votes, was in Ward Three. It is the lightest vote Newton has had for years, which was partly due to the storm, but mostly to the general lack of interest, neither party having made any special effort to arouse the voters, because this year neither party had any campaign funds to spare.

Lieutenant Governor Wolcott ran considerably ahead of the ticket, but the other Republican candidates kept about even with the vote for governor.

Messrs. Hollis and Harwood are elected representatives as was expected, by large pluralities, and Gen. Draper for Congressman ran only six votes behind Governor Greenhalge, and 140 behind his vote two years ago.

Judging from the vote the Democrats very generally refrained from voting, while the Republicans went to the polls about as usual.

The center of interest in this election was in New York State, and all interested in good government will rejoice at the crushing defeat given to Hill and Tammany, who represented the worst elements in the Democratic party. Mr. Hill evidently hoped that the Democrats in his state had forgotten his record in the Senate, where he fought his own party with all his great ability, but the people have long memories and his fellow citizens were glad of a chance to repudiate him and his following. His defeat was as thorough as that of the Republican candidate in the year that Mr. Cleveland was elected governor by such a phenomenal majority, and it ought to remove Hill and his following from future election contests. The revolt against Tammany was also an overwhelming one, and for a few years now New York city ought to be less corrupt. But Tammany has been as badly beaten before, so that it is not wise to assume too hastily that the cause of good government has met with a final victory.

These promises to be some lively contests over the nominations for aldermen in all the Wards except Ward One, where it is hoped to have Alderman Hamilton consent to serve another year. In Ward Two the men talked of are ex-Councilman E. P. Hatch and Councilman Green, with the chances in favor of the former, which would be an excellent choice. In Ward Three the nomination really belongs to Councilman Bullard, who has done excellent work in the lower branch, but there is some talk of Mr. James T. Allen as an opposing candidate. In Ward Four it is understood that Alderman Plummer would accept a renomination and also that Councilman Knapp would not object to being a candidate. In Ward Five, Councilman L. A. Ross and Mr. Thomas E. White are both favored. In Ward Six, as stated elsewhere, there is a contest between the friends of Councilman Degen and Councilman Parker. In Ward Seven one hears both Councilmen Tolman and Weed mentioned, so that there will be some excitement, even if we have only one candidate for mayor.

There promises to be a contest over alderman from Ward Six, between the friends of the two councilmen. The nomination belongs by custom and for faithful service to Mr. Degen, as he is the senior councilman, and the city needs such men in the board of aldermen. All who have watched his course in the city council would be glad to hear that the caucus has declared in his favor, and the voters of Ward Six can generally be depended on to do the right thing in city affairs. Mr. Degen would never solicit any man's support, or do anything to secure the nomination, as he is not that kind of a man, but now that his friends know the real condition of affairs, they will wake up to the necessity of some active work before the caucus. There is every reason why the old custom of nominating the senior councilman for alderman should be followed in Mr. Degen's case, and Councilman Parker can afford to wait.

TUESDAY'S election shows the great number of independent voters in the nation. The great mass of intelligent voters no longer vote blindly for their own party, without regard to the character of the candidates or the doings of the party leaders, but they judge for themselves and vote as they please. Accordingly we have one party successful one year and the other the next, and when the political leaders learn that they can no longer reckon with confidence on the unreasoning loyalty of their party, politics will become much more respectable.

The Republicans have been criticized for calling their convention on the last possible date for nominating candidates for the city election. But why should not the Citizens, or Non-Partisans, or whatever they are going to call themselves this year, call theirs for the same evening, but as this is a matter which can be brought up at any time, it is perhaps better to say nothing about it until after the deeds have been passed.

We shall now have prosperity in full force. The Democrats claimed that we had it already, and the Republicans argued that a Republican victory would give it to us; hence the wail of the calamity politician will be heard no longer in the land, and everybody will be prosperous and happy.

The hearing on the widening of Washington street is set for Nov. 20th, and it will be one of the most important hearings ever held at City Hall. Next to the abolition of grade crossings, this is the most important question now before the city.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS.

—Mr. J. A. Cahill lost a very valuable horse last Monday.

—Mr. C. B. Edes and family have moved to Waltham.

—Mr. J. B. Harrington of Taunton visited friends in town last week.

—Mr. Kelley, the barber, who has been quite ill, has now fully recovered.

—Mr. William K. Dunham is driving a handsome new horse, which he recently purchased.

—Michael Crowley of the Pettie Machine shops, was presented with a handsome easy chair by his friends Saturday night.

—Mr. George H. Chambers has returned from a shooting expedition. He was very fortunate and bagged considerable game.

—Mr. Daniel Welch of Reservoir street, left last week for Colorado, where he will spend the remainder of the winter.

—Mr. R. B. Fitton of Pawtucket spent last Sunday here. He was the guest of Mr. John R. Young.

—The new buildings at the Pettie Machine shops are rapidly nearly completed. The contractors have already engaged more men.

—Unclaimed letters in the postoffice for Mr. H. Brown, James J. Buckley, James Callahan, John McLoughlin, Mrs. M. Anderson, Mrs. Hanson, Mrs. H. Shonfeld.

—Mr. Billings says that there is an unusual demand for library books. Now that the cold weather has come the children are staying indoors and reading is a favorite pastime.

—The recent storm ruined a great many fruit trees and destroyed no end of shrubbery. The storm Thursday afternoon was as unexpected as its predecessor and completely tied up the electric road. The usual time allowed for a trip between the Falls and Newtonville is 25 minutes, one car made it 2 hours and 1-2, breaking the record for long trips.

—Mr. Florence Crowley, who was injured in a South Boston Foundry and not in the Pettie Machine shops as falsely stated in a small local paper, is not any better, but remains about the same.

—Mr. E. Jagger of High street, and Mr. J. T. Britain of Elliot street have returned from their European trip. They were met in New York by their families, who boarded the steamer Majestic as it came up the harbor, and welcomed them home.

—Jeremiah Kelly, while at work on the roof of a new building for the Pettie Machine Company about 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, lost his footing and fell to the ground, a distance of 60 feet, fracturing his spine and being otherwise seriously injured. The unfortunate man was taken to the Newton Cottage Hospital in an unconscious condition, where he died, without regaining consciousness, at 5:15 o'clock. He was a roofer, about 28 years of age, unmarried and resided in Somerville.

—Car 11 of the Echo Bridge line, in charge of Motorman Nickerson and Conductor J. H. Lee, jumped the track near the Elliot street bridge, and dashed across the street, knocking down a tree which prevented its going any further. There were a number of passengers aboard but none were hurt though badly shaken up. The car was damaged very little and traffic impeded for two hours. Cars No. 1 and 9 were sent for, and after strenuous efforts brought the car back on the track. No reason for the accident can be given as the car was going at the usual rate of speed.

NEWTON CLUB GOSSIP.

CALENDAR.

Saturday—Nov. 10, Gentlemen's night, J. G. B. Adams, Past President, in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Wednesday—Nov. 14, Club reception.

The social needs of the wives and daughters of members of the Club have not been forgotten by the entertainment committee in planning the entertainments for the season, and accordingly a series of fortnightly matinee entertainments for ladies was arranged for. The first in the series took place Monday afternoon in the large assembly hall. Almost 200 well known society women of the various Newtons were present, and the affair was a brilliant social success. A musical entertainment of a high order, was an especially enjoyable feature of the occasion.

The entertainment consisted of a concert by the Mrs. Sherman Raymond quartet, assisted by Miss Jennie Coren, soprano soloist. The instrumental parts of the quartet were exquisitely rendered, and an exceptionally good program of classical music was provided. Miss Coren's solos were highly appreciated, and proved among the most enjoyable numbers of the initial ladies' matinee.

These matches in the town bowling tournament were rolled beginning Nov. 2 (last Friday) and on the evenings of Nov. 5, 6, 8 and 9.

Nov. 6.

The reception next Wednesday promises to be one of the most brilliant affairs in the history of the club. Admiral Belknap, Congressman and Mrs. William F. Draper will be the receiving party. Gov. Greenhalge, Gov. Cleaves of Maine and Rear Admiral L. A. Kimberly are expected and will be present if possible. It will be a notable event in every way and the clubhouse will be thronged with people prominent in social and public life.

Capt. J. G. B. Adams and Rev. E. A. Horton, the eminent Unitarian divine, will speak in the assembly hall, gentlemen's night, tomorrow (Saturday), and are sure of a cord welcome from club members. They will be dined by President Cobb early in the evening with other distinguished guests including Gen. J. F. Merich of Lynn, Col. A. A. Hopkins, Col. William F. Olin, Col. A. A. Fortis, Col. F. Kingsbury, Maj. Charles G. Davis, Capt.

—Soprano and alto solo and quartet, "Like as a Father," W. Marston.

—Quartet, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," B. F. G. Bert.

—Mrs. George H. Shapley of Nevada street has returned from a five weeks' tour through the southern states. She visited among other places, Luray caverns, "Natural Bridge," the cottages of the Shenandoah and Gettysburg.

—The Co-operative bank held its monthly meeting in its new offices, Associate's block Tuesday evening. The sum of $7000 was sold at 5 and 10 cents premium. Of the September's sales of shares, 1200 have been taken. The receipts of the bank now aggregate about $11,000 per month.

—Seventeenth anniversary of the Newton Y. M. C. A. at Eliot church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Addresses by Rev. L. J. Lansing, D. D., of Boston and James H. Eaton, Esq. of Lawrence. Special music by Eliot church choir and a quartet of male voices. See Newton column.

—The New Church parlors were crowded Wednesday evening by a representative audience, which assembled to listen to an address by David Christie Murray, the famous English novelist. Mr. Murray's remarks were on personal reminiscences of his work as an author, and were interspersed with readings from his works.

—Mrs. Henry Ross, wife of the superintendent of the Newton cemetery, was called up to this case by the death of the indisposition of a member of her family. She started across the sleeping room to go down stairs after some hot water and fell across her dog curled up on the floor. The fall resulted seriously, Mrs. Ross breaking her arm.

—Mr. S. C. Gullow was out riding on his wheel last Sunday accompanied by his 5 year old son, Ralph. The little fellow was perched up on the frame in front of his father. At Coolidge corner, Mr. Gullow struck the cover of a man hole and the boy was thrown from his position and rolled over and over in the road. He was badly bruised, but sustained no serious injuries.

—The storm Tuesday resulted in delaying the mail service here as elsewhere in the city. The New York mail due at 7 a. m. was not received until 5 p. m. Numerous fruit and shade trees suffered from the blizzard. Mr. A. R. Mitchell lost two valuable shade trees in front of his residence on Walnut street. The overhead wires were damaged considerably. Five poles on Watertown street were toppled over across the road.

—A yearling bull caused a commotion here Wednesday afternoon. The animal was wild and came to this place from Brookline where the officers had an unsuccessful chase for him, and originally from Quincy. It was reported that a man had been gored in Newton by the animal and the police having been notified by telephone laid in wait for the "angry critter." It was shot about 4:45 o'clock in Mr. Littlefield's yard just beyond Barlow's blacksmith shop. Kite fired shots, therefore they divide the credit of the slaughter.

—Mr. John W. Cotton died Tuesday after a long illness. Deceased was an old resident and a man who had a large circle of friends in this city. He at one time traded extensively in horses, but latterly interested himself in the hotel and restaurant business. He conducted a large boarding house here and was noted for the excellence of his cuisine. As a hotel man, he was careful to provide every possible convenience and comfort for his guests. He was a man of sound common sense, possessing many excellent qualities of character. The funeral services were held

WEST NEWTON

—Pianos, rented and tuned, Farley, Newton.

—Have your horses clipped at Kerwin's stables, Waltham, Telephone 61-3.

—Mr. George A. Walton lectured before the teachers' institute held in Weymouth Wednesday.

—Meeting of the W. C. T. U. in Good Templars Hall, Tuesday, Nov. 13, at 2:30 o'clock.

—The Cecilia quartet concert at City Hall, next Tuesday evening, Nov. 13, will have a very attractive program.

—Mrs. W. H. Evans of Van Cour Island is here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown, Webster street.

—The first meeting of the season of the Woman's Educational Club will be held in the Unitarian church parlors this afternoon.

—Patrolman Kite extinguished an incipient fire between Allen & Berry's paint shop and the new block last Thursday, preventing quite likely a serious blaze.

—Grand Treasurer Julius L. Clarke was among the grand officers of the L. O. O. F. at the banquet given in the United States Hotel Tuesday.

—Fred Warren of Denver, Col., is in town and is stopping at the home of his wife's mother, Mrs. Wadsworth, Mt. Vernon street.

—The recently elected officers of the local branch, Good Templars, were installed with interesting ceremonies Tuesday evening.

—Mr. J. A. Potter of this ward is now associated with Henry W. Savage in the real estate business and will devote his time to the Newton business.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Lawrence of Otis street have returned from Europe. The major, ever thoughtful, brought some very useful gifts for Robert Gaw, the veteran gate tender.

—Mr. John W. Carter and family are again occupying their residence, corner of Otis street and Hillside avenue. During his absence, the house has been entirely remodelled.

—Mrs. E. B. Towne of Fuller street has returned from a visit to her parents in Nashua, N. H. Next week, accompanied by Mr. Towne, she starts for California. They will be absent about a year.

—Mrs. A. D. Wood had a beautiful display of chrysanthemums and cut flowers of all colors at the exhibition of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society which opened in Horticultural Hall, Boston, Wednesday.

—The Veteran Firemen held their monthly meeting Wednesday evening and after the routine business enjoyed a very pleasant supper. The organization will appropriately observe its fifth anniversary Dec. 11. A banquet will probably be given in the City Hall.

—Andrew Bonifant was arraigned for a serious assault in court yesterday. The evidence showed the evil which results so often from a too frequent indulgence in intoxicants. In this case, it robbed a woman of her good sense and got a man into serious trouble. Bonifant was sentenced by Judge Kennedy to nine months in the house of correction.

—A carriage from Fitzgerald Bros. stables collided with another vehicle on River street last Friday evening and was damaged to some extent as a result of the collision. The occupants were, however, not hurt and are congratulating themselves on their good fortune. Both carriages were being towed along at a pretty good pace and came together with a crash that was unnecessary, to say the least.

—The police signal system was badly knocked out by the storm. It was damaged to a greater extent than ever before since its introduction in this city. It furnished a practical illustration of its usefulness. It would be hard, indeed, to get along without it and the force of this argument is brought more vividly to mind when the service is rendered unavailable through accident.

—Mr. Frank H. Humphrey was appointed assistant chief of the fire department by Mayor Fenton at the session of the aldermen Tuesday evening, and his appointment is needless to say, was unanimously confirmed. The position is a responsible one, and a large salary is attached. It has been vacant almost six months, since the death of Chief Bixby. Mr. Humphrey is one of the best known fire fighters in New England. He was born in Hingham, where he learned the hardware trade. Before he was 21 years of age he saw active service on the old hand tubs. He came here when about 21 years of age, and a number of years ago established himself in the stove and tinware business. He is popular, a reliable citizen and a first-class man in every way for the place. No better selection could possibly have been made.

—The termination of the controversy in the city government over the erection of a school house here seems at hand. The order for the land occasioning so much discussion on account of its situation and area was taken from the table by the aldermen Tuesday evening and passed. The old Pierce building has been declared by the board of health unfit for school uses. All the rooms are overcrowded, and on this account a number of pupils are detained at home by their parents, and a still larger number go a long distance to other schools outside the Pierce district. The public property committee recommended the construction of a 12-room school house at a cost of $85,000, on land at the corner of Elm and Webster streets. In the common council the matter was referred back to the committee, with instructions to consider the advisability of erecting an 8-room building. This the committee considers altogether inadvisable. It does not take kindly either to the idea of any other location, as the one it favors meets the approval of the school board and is said to be in the geographical center of the school population.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Fuller gave their wedding reception following their return from their tour at the residence of Mr. J. Cheever Fuller, Shaw street, Wednesday evening. The guests were from the Newtons of Boston, Salem, Framingham, Hyde Park, Brookline, Dorchester, Waltham and Somerville and numbered, at least, 350 ladies and gentlemen. The apartment was very tastefully decorated for the occasion. Tropical plants and festoons of smilax adorned the hall, the parlor was lavishly trimmed with laurel and white satin ribbons. Mr. and Mrs. Fuller stood in the corner of the parlor and were assisted in receiving by the bride's mother, Mrs. B. F. Houghton, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Cheever Fuller. The bride, in her wedding gown of white satin, with a long train, and a full face of white lace, was escorted to the altar by Mr. J. Cheever Fuller. The groom, in a black suit, with a white shirt and a white bow tie, was escorted to the altar by Mr. J. Cheever Fuller. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Cheever Fuller. The bride and groom were then seated at a table in the parlor, and the guests were entertained with a delicious repast. The evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner, and the guests departed with much regret.

—One of the events of the social season here was the wedding of Miss Emma J. Nickerson, daughter of ex-Alderman J. H. Nickerson, president of the First National Bank, and Mr. William Warren Harrington, of Weymouth, which took place in the Unitarian church at 8 o'clock and long before that hour the edifice was crowded by a representative gathering of Newton society people. The auditorium was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Masses of chrysanthemums were banked in the chancel and the effect was completed by graceful groupings of tall palms and tropical plants. The bride, in a gown of white satin, with a long train, and a full face of white lace, was escorted to the altar by Mr. J. Cheever Fuller. The groom, in a black suit, with a white shirt and a white bow tie, was escorted to the altar by Mr. J. Cheever Fuller. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Cheever Fuller. The bride and groom were then seated at a table in the parlor, and the guests were entertained with a delicious repast. The evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner, and the guests departed with much regret.

It was damaged considerably, but seems to have been one of those accidents which could not have been avoided.

—Mr. George Keyes has returned from a trip to Vermont.

—Mrs. E. A. Secomb of Brooklyn, N. Y., is visiting Mrs. S. H. Newell.

—Mr. A. A. Wheelock returned from New York this week.

—Mrs. B. C. Davis returned from Europe this week. She has been abroad with her husband two years. Mr. Davis is expected home in a few weeks.

—Miss Alice A. Bruce, contralto, will participate in this concert to be given by the Cecilia quartet in the City Hall, Tuesday evening next.

—Rev. T. W. Bishop received ten into the Methodist church last Sunday by profession of faith and letter, previous to an impressive communion service.

—Officer Johnson gave a housewarming at his residence in Waban this week, and it was attended by many friends from this place.

—Citizens complain that the watering trough is considerable of a nuisance, because the horses are permitted to obstruct the sidewalks, interfering with the rights of pedestrians.

—Mr. Rice's horse was frightened and ran away Saturday morning, and before under control had managed to about wreck a valuable carriage. The occupants of the vehicle escaped injury.

—Mr. Hubbard Baird has returned from New Hampshire. He was recently elected president of the New Hampshire Hunting Club and is a true sportsman who greatly enjoys a tour with his gun and rod.

—There are letters at the post office for Arthur Wood, G. A. Smith, W. J. Morris, Mrs. P. Whitney, Mrs. S. F. Steele, Hattie Stetson, Margaret McCarthy, Nellie McCarthy, Margaret Carter, Mrs. A. T. Croll and Miss Bridget Bidley.

—Rev. F. E. Hamilton, the popular pastor of the Methodist church of Newtonville, will preach at the Methodist church next Sunday morning. Mr. Hamilton is a Harvard man and later a student at Berlin and Paris universities, and gives promise of marked success in his profession.

Lasell Notes.

Gymnastic work began last week.

On Thursday, Nov. 1, Lasell entertained at dinner the Dr. Samuel F. Smith of Newton Centre and Dr. and Mrs. Strong, Mr. and Mrs. Dyke, Rev. Thomas Bishop and Dr. G. M. Steele, all of Auburndale.

Drill began on Tuesday. There are two companies this year and the work gives evidence of being very popular with the students.

Miss Call began on Wednesday her work in nerve training, or concentration. The classes are full, a large proportion of the school taking it.

A party of twenty or thirty-five have visited the fine show of chrysanthemums this week in Horticultural Hall.

Mr. Bragdon accompanied several of the students into the city this week to look at the series of the Star Course given in the People's church.

Mr. Bragdon and several students attended the special services at the Eliot church, Newton, last Sunday morning. A number attended, also, the memorial service for Dr. and Mrs. Laimier, Dr. Tourgee and Mr. Chase at the M. E. church, Auburndale, held the same evening by the Society of Christian Endeavor.

On Monday evening Mrs. Wagner and Miss R. B. B. gave a reception to the girls at the annex. Refreshments were served during the evening and the time passed merrily.

There will be a public meeting in the interest of Negro education as represented by the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute of Tuskegee, Ala., at Lasell Seminary, Auburndale, at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, Nov. 15, 1894. A quartet of students will sing songs peculiar to the "black belt of the South."

Some of the students will speak of their experience, and remarks will be made by Booker T. Washington, principal of Tuskegee and others. All are welcome.

Real Estate Changes.

C. A. Isenbeck has sold a house and 7500 square feet of land on Oxford road, Newton Centre, through Alvord Bros. & Co.

Cummings & Ware have sold for C. A. Miner two lots of land on Webster street, Auburndale. Mr. Ezra Forte, the purchaser of one of the lots, will build at once; the name of the other purchaser is withheld.

Cummings & Ware have also leased the house on Lasell street, Auburndale, formerly occupied by Miss Longfellow to Mr. C. B. Whiting of Newtonville, and the house and stable corner of Hancock and Central streets, known as the Hunt property, to Dr. George E. Whitten of Haverhill, Mass.

Dealing only in fine goods, manufactured especially for us, we are not affected by the great strike, and are enabled to offer the choicest garments from the leading Parisian, Berlin and New York makers.

CONCERNED FOR EMPLOYEES.

FAYETTE SHAW'S PROMINENT THOUGHT AT A GREAT FIRE WHICH DESTROYED HIS TANNERIES AT PHILLIPS, WIS.

The following appeared recently in the Milwaukee (Wis.) Sentinel, concerning the fire which destroyed the tanneries of Mr. Fayette Shaw, located there. It was from the pen of the Phillips correspondent of that paper:

"I was in this fair city on that fatal night when the devouring flames came in upon her citizens. For twelve fearful hours I saw blazing blocks, burning homes, and women and children fleeing for their lives. In twelve hours near a score had met death by fire. I have drowned in vain attempts to escape. A prosperous city and thousands of acres of valuable timber had been destroyed in a day. Brave hearts faltered, courage failed, all were destitute and thousands ate the bread of charity, who were prosperous the day before.

"Among the business men of Phillips, there was at least one man who never faltered. That man is Fayette Shaw, from Boston, the sole leather manufacturer. In company with Mr. Shaw I surveyed the ruins of his large tannery the morning following the fire. Mr. Shaw said: 'I am 70 years old; I have been actively engaged in tanning sole leather for more than fifty years. This is the seventh tannery I have had purified by fire, but I have never yet in all my experience seen such complete destruction.'

"Will you attempt to rebuild? I asked. 'The bright eyes flashed with a new fire; the erect form seemed to expand, and I was greeted with: 'By the eternal, I am too old a man to be beaten in this way. The tannery will be rebuilt.'

"Today I am looking over that part of Phillips known as 'Tan Town,' and what do I find? Verily a city; the days, complete with steam heat and electric lights in all the principal buildings. Nearly forty dwellings have been constructed exclusively for tannery employees; a boarding house over one hundred feet long to accommodate one hundred men; a large store, 30x80 feet, with storage above and warehouses adjoining; offices, public and private, with vaults and safes; a hundred foot barn for sixty horses and their feed; a bark mill and beach house, 40x250 feet, using forty cords of hemlock bark daily; a sweat house, 60x84 feet, entirely underground; a beam and yard house, 45x40 feet, with vats of tan liquor to receive the seven hundred sides daily, through which they pass in their various stages towards finished leather; a roll house and dry loft 60x250 feet, several stories high, from which 80,000 pounds of finished sole leather are shipped to Boston every week; a number of other buildings, sheds, pump houses, etc., are a part of the great new construction.

"The Phillips tannery is only one of four of the same capacity in Price and Taylor counties, owned and operated by Mr. Shaw. These tanneries consume 50,000 cords of hemlock bark yearly, give constant employment to over four hundred men, and during bark peeling season give work to more than two thousand men for about ninety days. The finished product sells for $4000 daily, $1,500,000 yearly, and brings more money to the people than the entire agricultural products of these two counties."

There is one thing that is not touched upon by the correspondent. He does not tell how, when Mr. Shaw found the tannery, which was situated on a kind of a peninsula, was beyond saving, and when he and half a dozen faithful employees turned to flee for safety they found their retreat by land cut off and their only hope of escape was by swimming the river at this point probably one hundred or 200 hundred yards wide. All could swim but two, and these two Mr. Shaw carried across. How he ever got over, he himself can hardly realize. This swimming 200 feet or more with two men clinging to one would be quite a feat for a young man, but when you stop to consider that Mr. Shaw is seventy, one must acknowledge that there is considerable virility left.

BUSINESS PICKING UP.

AT THE LITTLE POSTOFFICE IN AUBURNDALE.

The plea was put forth that the loss of patronage at the Auburndale post office was due to Miss Guiney's two St. Bernard dogs, which kept people away, and so the sales fell off. For the credit of Auburndale, everyone hoped this was the explanation, but Miss Guiney told a reporter that one of the dogs had never been to the post office, and the other had only been there once for five minutes, so that story is exploded. Things are improving, however, for Miss Guiney says:

"Since Auburndale people have become enlightened in regard to the state of affairs many have come forward and made a point of getting their stamps here, and business is picking up."

"There are in this town, as you may know, many clergymen, missionaries, heads of societies, etc., besides Lasell Seminary, and they are all eager to help me. I feel sure that there will be no more trouble."

Miss Guiney has won public respect by her course, as she has not sought sympathy, and said as little as possible about the matter, and that in the kindest way, always making excuses for the people and deprecating any public notice of the matter. She says it is a very small matter, anyway, and not worth the attention of the world, and she does not mind. Many friends from outside have offered to buy their stamps there, but Miss Guiney wants only legitimate business, and it is gratifying to know that business at the office is picking up, and the sale of stamps is swelling in volume. The affair has given Auburndale some unenviable advertising, which all regret, and none more so than the postmistress herself. It does not seem possible that there should be people in Newton so intolerant of a difference in religious beliefs as to persecute a woman, and any other explanation would be more palatable to the great majority of people.

Common Sense.

Should be used in attempting to cure that very disagreeable disease, catarrh. As catarrh originates in impurities in the blood, local applications can do no permanent good. The common sense method of treatment is to purify the blood, and for this purpose there is no preparation superior to Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills cure constipation by restoring peristaltic action to the alimentary canal.

NONANTUM.

—Work is rapidly progressing on Mr. Mahoney's new block on West street.

—Driver Curtis of Hose 8 is on duty again after a severe relapse.

—Boston parties have hired the basement of the house occupied by Michael Lane on Watertown street and have applied for a shooting gallery license.

—Rev. Mr. Daniel Green, pastor of the North Evangelical church, has moved from his old home on California street to Bridge street.

—Mrs. Kennedy of Gardner street, who was well known here, passed away at her home last Monday morning. She had been a life-long resident of Newton.

—Hallowe'en was observed very quietly in this village. The small boys celebrated with the usual noise and mischief, but nothing extraordinary occurred however.

—The condition of Driver Curtis of Hose 8 is about the same, he attempted to go to work Wednesday morning but had a relapse and is now again confined to his bed.

—Michael Leonard, a notorious character residing on Dalby street, was sentenced in the police court to nine months in the State Farm in Bridgewater.

—The Rev. Daniel Green of the North Evangelical church has moved from California street to the new rectory on Bridge street.

—Mr. George Hudson of Bridge street was a government witness in the famous Dolan perjury case which was tried in the Municipal Court before Justice Forsyth.

—Officer Conroy cleverly captured the seven vandals who perpetrated the mischief at Mr. King's new house on Clinton street. Sufficient proof was lacking so the case was not taken into court.

—Mr. John Butler and his assistants are working on a new building on Friday afternoon on Pearl street. Precinct one of Ward One was one of the first to finish in good season.

—Last Monday morning a carpenter employed by Contractor Morrissy in building a house on Cook street, fell from the roof, a distance of about 40 feet, and sustained but slight injuries.

—The grading and widening of Waban street and Waban Park is greatly appreciated by the residents of this village who pass through there going from their home to Newton.

—Little Freddie Grant of Adams street was run over by a team last Friday afternoon and severely cut about the head; fortunately the lad escaped any other injuries.

—Mr. Joseph Holmes entertained about thirty friends at his residence on Adams street last Friday evening. The evening was spent enjoying games after which a bountiful collation was served.

—North Evangelical church Sunday school held a Harvest concert in the church last Sunday evening. The church was handsomely decorated with symbols of harvest time and the children spoke and sang very nicely. The pastor, Mr. Greene, addressed the congregation.

—A boy, who was leading a very spirited horse along Watertown street the other afternoon, carelessly let go the horse's bridle and the animal started at a rapid pace down the street. Had it not been for the presence of a bystander who stopped the horse something more serious might have occurred.

—Michael Finnegan, for twenty years in the employ of the Etna Mills and for the same time a resident of this village, died at his home on Sweet's place last Monday. He had been ill with pneumonia since Thursday last. Mr. Finnegan was 76 years old, well known and respected. He was buried on Wednesday in Calvary cemetery, Watnam.

—Mr. George Hudson of Bridge street visited the Waverley Lodge of the Sons of St. George at Lowell Friday and Saturday the meeting at the anniversary held in Odd Fellows Hall. Wednesday of this week he visited the Admiral Nelson Lodge of South Boston, Thursday the Hearts of Oak Lodge of Manchester, N. H., and tonight he visits the Welcome Lodge of Concord, N. H. Mr. Hudson is Grand President and makes these visits in an official capacity.

—The storm did considerable damage in this district. Six large poles used by the telephone company and others, were blown down on Watertown street near the city stables. Three poles on Pearl street were also destroyed and the wires entangled. In some cases the poles under the heavy burden of wires were blown into the streets. A great number of fruit trees suffered and many beautiful orchards ruined.

—Laborers are digging trenches on Watertown street, near Broadway, and also near Walnut street. It is customary to place a large wooden horse on both sides of the excavation and hang lanterns thereon at night, but in this instance only the lanterns are displayed. In weather, such as we had Monday night, the flame is sure to be extinguished and there is nothing to prevent a team from driving headlong into the ditch. Such acts of negligence should not be tolerated in any community.

—About one o'clock Sunday morning the inmates of Hose 8 house were rudely awakened by a man, who was pounding at the front door. On being asked what was wanted he replied that he would like to know if his name was having drunk too freely of intoxicants he had lost his mind. The firemen were unable to decipher the desired information, but a policeman thought he could so he was locked in the station house. By Monday morning his senses returned and he departed from the police court with a severe reprimand.

—Vandalism of a dangerous stamp was perpetrated here last Sunday afternoon. A new house is being erected for Mr. King on Lincoln street and large brackets bolted to the walls on the outside are being used in the construction. Sunday afternoon a crowd of hoodlums entered the house and unscrewed the bolts on the inside, which held the brackets in position. When the carpenters went to work Monday they discovered this and notified the police. Officer Conroy made a thorough investigation of the case and a number of arrests are momentarily expected. This is not the first act of the kind that has happened, as quite a number of like complaints have been made to headquarters.

Miss Guiney's Dogs.

To the Editor of the Herald:

The editorial paragraph in the Boston Herald of today regarding Miss Guiney and her dogs needs correction on one or two points. The dogs are neither kept in the postoffice nor visit it, and there is no appreciable falling-off in receipts to be accounted for in this or any other way. If there is any prejudice against the postmistress I have never heard of it. I do not know Miss Guiney personally, and did not ask for her appointment, but I have not heard or seen anything to show that the office is not managed to the satisfaction of the people of Auburndale, as it was in the case of the lady who preceded her, and I think Miss Guiney is entitled to the same immunity from newspaper remark as her predecessor. Sincerely yours,

SAMUEL W. DIKE.

Auburndale, Mass., Nov. 5, 1894.

Keep your blood pure and healthy and you will not have rheumatism. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives the blood vitality and richness.

NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

—The new concrete walk along the property of the F. M. Crehore mills makes a very noticeable improvement.

—Mr. Eugene Beck has bought out Mr. J. H. Hoyt, the former taking possession last week.

—Mr. Henry Vyett has resumed his business as barber after two weeks of a very severe illness of malaria.

—Mr. C. A. Wiswall is removing to Watertown where he has a position as superintendent of a large paper mill.

—Mr. M. H. McAvoy has arrived home from the west where he has been supplying the position as dyer in a large woolen mill.

—The Republicans of Wellesley are rejoicing over the large gain in votes for their candidates.

—The Hamilton school closed Tuesday on account of the annual teachers convention held in Boston.

—Dr. Sherman has returned from his European trip accompanied by his family, undertaken for the purpose of pursuing a special course of studies and practice.

—Mr. Geo. B. Page left the position he was holding as clerk for Mr. J. H. Hoyt, last week, and has entered the employ of Mr. Eugene Beck.

—Mr. James Wright will retire from the express business this week and hold an auction sale of household furniture and equipments of his business at his home, Wellesley Hills.

—The vote for governor in this precinct Tuesday, resulted in 40 votes being cast for Greenhalge, 32 for Russell. Quite a large percentage of the voters did not go to the polls.

—A fruit team heavily loaded and drawn by a pair of horses met with an accident last Friday night by slewing into the deep gutter near the station and colliding with a tree.

—The storm, Monday night, caused serious damage to many of the fruit trees about here, the leaves and limbs holding such quantities of snow, causing them to break. A large elm tree fell across Columbia street, blocking teams until removed.

—The syndicate who purchased the Hecke property are making many and improved changes to this estate. The new streets in process of construction open the way to changes to build on some very desirable lots; two houses on Glen road are already going up rapidly to be occupied in about two months time.

—A popular lecture course will be given at the M. E. church, beginning Nov. 10th, with interesting subjects by prominent speakers. The first lecture will be given by Rev. Dr. Dorchester of Natick late United States Commissioner to the Indians on interesting phases of the Indian work. Dr. Dorchester will speak of what he knows and the lecture will be full of interest to all friends of the nation's work.

For a pain in the side or chest there is nothing so good as a piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on over the seat of pain. It affords prompt and permanent relief and if used in time will often prevent a cold from resulting in pneumonia. This same treatment is a sure cure for lime back. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. The Women's Movement.

(Boston Herald.)

The women's movement for better government in New York has accomplished some good, but it has not done quite all that was at one time expected of it. The trouble has been that outside of a few enthusiastic members of the sex the women of New York do not take to politics seriously. Their lightness on the subject is illustrated by the case of a young woman who was buying a hat. Noticing that it was trimmed with birds she exclaimed: "Oh, I have signed some paper and I don't remember whether it was not to wear dead birds or to fight Tammany. Perhaps you had better take off these birds." And it was done.

"Turn the rascals out!"—the familiar party-cry may be applied to microbes as well as to men. The germs of disease that lurk in the blood are "turned out" by Ayer's Sarsaparilla as effectually as the old postmasters are displaced by a new administration.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

BOSTON MUSEUM—"Prince Pro Tem" at the Museum is meeting with even greater success than ever. The special engagement of Dan Daly as Justice has already proved a very wise move. He is dallying with the role in the most amusing manner, and has made a succession of hits, adding something new at each performance. It is perhaps singular that he should trifle with Justice in this flippant manner, but he has Law on his side, and so no penalty ensues. It is well worth a visit to the Museum to witness his dances with Annie Lewis and Josie Sadler, and he also figures prominently in the amusing musical scene. Fred Lenox still sings "Tommy Tompkins" to the delight of big audiences, and the "Fogian Blackbirds" and other up-to-date specialties are as popular as ever. The opera is approaching the end of its run with no diminution of success, and will reach its 150th performance on Nov. 17. Tuesday evening the election returns were read from the stage by Tommy Tompkins.

HOLLY STREET THEATRE—The week of Monday, Nov. 12, will be an event of importance and delight at the Holly Street Theatre. One of the best stock companies in existence is that controlled by Charles Frohman, Rich & Harris, and whose business affairs are directed by the first named gentleman, and whose home is at the Empire Theatre, New York, which is controlled by the same firm. This company rarely travels, but arrangements have been made whereby they will be seen for one week only at the Holly. This company has a record of unbroken success at New York, and will present one of their greatest pieces, the comedy, "Liberty Hall," by R. C. Carton. This play has enjoyed a protracted run in England, and was given for 105 nights in New York with immense success. It is a dainty love story charmingly told. The heroine is enacted by Viola Allen, and the hero by Henry Miller, both of whom have hosts of friends in this city. Other popular members of the organization are Mr. W. Faversham, Robert Edison, W. H. Crompton, W. H. Thompson, Miss Isabel Irving and Miss May Robson. There will be no Wednesday matinee at the Holly this week.

COLUMBIA THEATRE—The fourth week of "Sowing the Wind" at the Columbia will begin on Nov. 12, and indications are that it will be one of the most prosperous of the engagement. This play has enjoyed a most decided success here, not to be wondered at when it is considered how full of color and vigor the piece is. The question of sex against sex, which has been the subject of discussion for years and is no nearer settlement than ever, is so admirably handled by Mr. Grundy, the author, that the play serves to fascinate and attract. Miss May Hampton, the womanly and lovely Rosamund of the east, has won a host of friends in Boston by her extremely artistic performance and has gratified her old friends by the great advantage she has shown. Mr. J. H. Gilmour, the manly, kind-hearted Brabazon, is wonderfully effective, while the other members of the cast are thoroughly competent artists and fully carry out the author's ideas. "Sowing the Wind" will be continued until further notice.

NEW LYCEUM THEATRE—A particularly bright and fetching Vaudeville Entertainment will be given next week at the New Lyceum Theatre. Manager Mohr has engaged the H. W. Williams' high-class vaudeville organization, one of the leaders in this line of entertainment. The company includes a long list of the best entertainers and a capital performance is assured. J. W. Kelly heads the list. Mr. Kelly needs no introduction to Boston theatre patrons. He is the most original of story tellers, and will have something new and pleasing. Others on the program who will furnish novelty and amusement are Mlle. Comer, Kay and Henry, the Evans, Kearns and Cole, McCall and Daniels the great horizontal acrobats and many others. The New Lyceum is centrally located on Washington street, near Boylston. The best orchestra seats can be had for 50 cents, and can be purchased in advance, the coupon entitling the holder to seat which it calls for. Other seats sell for 35, 25 and 15 cents.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—It requires a force of about 400 men working night and day to get the Castle Square Theatre ready to open its doors Monday night, Nov. 12. To look at what details of finishing are yet to be done would declare it to be impossible, but the date is set and all arrangements are perfected whereby the Elks will open the new playhouse with their benefit for a week with "Capt. Paul," a romantic play by Edward E. Ross, as the program. The auction sale of seats took place at Keith's old theatre Thursday at 12 o'clock noon, when considerable rivalry in bidding for choice seats, not only for the first night but for the entire week, including matinees, was shown. After the auction sale all seats remaining went on sale at the theatre.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE—The second week of James O'Neill's eminently successful engagement at the Grand Opera House will be ushered in Monday, Nov. 12, with a big, scenic production of "The Virginians." Owing to the interest already manifested in this performance it has been decided to postpone Richelieu to a future date. "The Virginians" will be played Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and Tuesday matinee, and Don Carlos de Seville, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday matinee. In the character of Sheridan Knowles' sublime hero, Mr. O'Neill is said to have reached an artistic altitude far beyond anything which he has ever equaled. Marie Surress as Virginia and Hallett Thompson as Appius Claudius are said to be extremely fine. In Don Carlos de Seville Mr. O'Neill is said to have found a play with as much of romantic interest as "Monte Cristo." Special theatre parties are already being formed for next Thursday night both from Boston and the adjoining towns. The Thursday matinee will be eliminated in this second week of Mr. O'Neill's engagement the same as during the past week.

BOSTON THEATRE—Remarkable as was the success of "In Old Kentucky" for the first fortnight of its run, last week's attendance fairly smashed all previous records, and the enthusiasm of the vast audiences nightly was really marvellous. Now the all Boston is talking of "In Old Kentucky," and thousands and tens of thousands of people, having seen the performance once, have expressed an eager desire to go again, the management are annoyed to think that the booking of the great melodrama at the Boston Theatre was not for the entire season instead of 10 weeks, which of itself is a tremendously long run. Tickets for "In Old Kentucky" are selling four weeks in advance. The performance begins every evening promptly at 8 o'clock and is over at 10.30. Matinees on Wednesday and Saturday at 2 o'clock.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE—"The Cotton King" has been elected to remain at the Bowdoin Square Theatre in Boston many weeks yet to come. The 50th performance is in sight and will be celebrated by presenting, on Nov. 20, a beautiful souvenir to every lady patron. Jack Mason is immensely pleased with his success in "The Cotton King." Manager Brady has just closed a contract with him whereby he will remain in this character during the rest of the season. His wife, Marion Manola, will probably appear in the production in New York city at an early date. During the past week, its fifth at the Bowdoin Square Theatre, the houses have been filled to overflowing. A contract has been signed by which "The Cotton King" production is to be duplicated at the Academy of Music in New York city, Dec. 10, for a long run, by Managers Gilmore and Tompkins. The Boston production is to go to Chicago for six weeks at McVicker's Theatre, shortly. Following "The Cotton King" Managers Atkinson and Brady have arranged with Sutton Vane to take another big production of a play which he has just finished, which is to be done in London on or about Feb. 1. The scenic investment will be just as elaborate as "The Cotton King," and the cast may include such persons as Joseph Grismer, Fieba Davis, George Wilson, Charles Barron, Annie Clarke and numerous other well-known people.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES.

CHILDREN OF CIRCUMSTANCES by the author of "A Yellow Aster" is a study of the womanhood of today and an earnest effort to point out the source of its strength. The story deals largely with a girl's work for other girls in the slums of London, the difficulties she encounters, and the success she meets with. There is also a rather unusual love story running through the book. Like many of the later novels it is written with a purpose, and the story is not the main thing. Published by D. Appleton & Co., in Town & Country Library.

THE GOD IN THE CAR is the rather attractive title of a new novel by Anthony Hope, who made such a hit by "The Prisoner of Zenda." It is by no means the equal of his first venture, but has an interest of its own, and is a powerful, though hardly a pleasant read. It deals with the success that attends a man of strong personality, who goes resolutely on in his own way, regardless of the unfortunate people who get in his path, or those who are so weak as to become interested in him. His own welfare is his first aim, and he forces every one to work for him, but whether willingly or not, makes no difference to him. One of the other characters calls him "a Juggernaut," and the name explains the title of the book. Appleton & Co., in Town & Country Library.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE. Among the illustrated features of the November Harper's are "The Sea Robbers of New York," a bit of popular Colonial history, by Thomas A. Janvier;

"At the Capital of the Young Republic," a description of Washington in its early days, by Henry Loomis Nelson; "The Cossack as Cowboy, Soldier, and Citizen," by Foutney Bigelow; "A Painter's Impressions of Rajsootana," by Edwin Lord Weeks; "The Religion of the Sioux," by Lieut. William H. Wassell, U. S. A.; "On the Trail of the Wild Turkey," by Charles D. Lanier; the closing chapters of Charles Dudley Warner's novel of New York society, "The Golden House," and "The Line-man's Wedding," the second of Julian Ralph's stories of tenement life in New York.

ATLANTIC MONTHLY.

Mrs. Mary Hallock Foote in "The Temperance" furnishes a short story for this and the next numbers of the Atlantic. Mr. Frederic Bancroft writes on "Seward's Attitude Towards Compromise and Secession, 1860-1861." Mr. Lafcadio Hearn gives a few pages, "From My Japanese Diary." Mr. J. M. Ludlow, an English writer, illustrates "The Growth of American Influence Over England." Miss Harriet Waters Preston and Miss Louise Dodge, having exhausted their classical studies, have begun in this number an historical study of Reginald Pole. Dr. George Birbeck Hill in "Boswell's Proof-sheets" gives an interesting information concerning Boswell and his work that has not before been in print. Mr. Henry Childs Merwin in "Tammany Points the Way" furnishes an article of great timeliness and one in which he penetrates beneath the surface and throws some light upon its real character. Mr. Scudder writes "Capt. Paul," a romantic play by Edward E. Ross, as the program. The auction sale of seats took place at Keith's old theatre Thursday at 12 o'clock noon, when considerable rivalry in bidding for choice seats, not only for the first night but for the entire week, including matinees, was shown. After the auction sale all seats remaining went on sale at the theatre.

There are two articles in this number which will at once command attention. One is "Election Night in a Newspaper Office," by Mr. Julian Ralph, and the other is "The Horse," by Prof. N. S. Shaler. In both, the illustrations are of a high order. "English Railroad Methods," by Mr. H. H. Pratt, is a strong article, contributing a great amount of information concerning the management of English railways, and suggesting much to our American officials. In "True Pictures Among the Poor," there are contributions by Mr. Robert Howard Russell, Mr. William T. Elsing, Mr. Edward W. Townsend and Mr. James Barnes. Miss Emily Meredyth Aylward, in "The American Girls' Art Club in Paris," presents sketches of what these girls find in this club, and their modes of life. Mr. Joel Chandler Harris on the principal short story, entitled "How a Valet's Career Came to an End." Mr. George W. Cable is at the present time the serial novelist.

LITERARY NOTES.

"A Life of Dean Buckland," written by his daughter, is among the books of importance announced by D. Appleton & Co.

"The Golden Fairy Book" announced by D. Appleton & Co. is a selection of the choicest Continental fairy stories, and includes classics of French, German, Russian, Serbian, and Italian origin, and one story which comes from South Africa. These charming tales are most delightfully illustrated.

"Songs of the Soil," is the title of Mr. Frank L. Stanton's book of poems published by D. Appleton & Co. In the preface Joel Chandler Harris states that no American poet is more popular than Mr. Stanton, if popularity is to be measured by the republication of verses in the newspapers. This dainty volume ranges from grave to gay, including love songs, dialect poems, and a variety of what may be termed domestic verse.

The original Maurice Leloir edition of "The Three Musketeers" is to be published immediately by D. Appleton & Co. in a superb edition de luxe.

"Maelcho" is the title of the new historical romance by the Hon. Emily Lawless, which is published by D. Appleton & Co. Like "Grania," this story relates to Ireland, but is set in the stirring days of the sixteenth century, and the book is largely a tale of war and adventure.

"Round the Red Lamp," the new book by Dr. A. Conan Doyle, is said to have been received with so much favor that the publishers, D. Appleton & Co., were unable to meet the orders received in the first week.

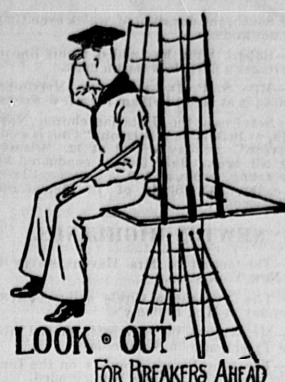

Harper's Bazar will devote a great deal of space during the next month to winter wraps, reception toilettes and furs. Children's winter clothing will receive special attention, both from the beautiful and the economic points of view. Articles on Golf and other outdoor sports will appear, and a very practical series on dinners and evening entertainments is among the prominent features promised.

As a pictorial history of our own times Harper's Weekly is much relied upon by its English and other foreign contemporaries, extracts from the weekly (with due acknowledgment, of course) being made by the illustrated press of other lands with increasing frequency. But not less care is devoted by the publishers to fiction, as appears from their announcement of some of the features that the paper will contain in the immediate future. On Oct. 27th began a two-part story, entitled "The Judgment Books," by E. F. Benson, author of "Dodo," November 10th begins a four-part story, entitled "The Parasite," by A. Conan Doyle, illustrated by Howard Pyle; Nov. 24 there will be a four-page supplement devoted to the Loan Exhibition of Ladies' Portraits at the National Academy of Design; November 10th, a four-page supplement devoted to the new north wing of the Metropolitan Museum of Art; November 17th will be the Horse-show Number, with an illuminated cover. From time to time there will be interesting contributions on topics connected with the present conflict in the East.

seizure of a large tract of land on the Charles river by the Metropolitan park commission. The land, which it is proposed to take, is in the vicinity of Echo bridge, and it is one of the most romantic and picturesque spots in the Charles river valley. The tract is a large one and lies partly on the Newton and partly on the Wellesley and Needham sides of the river.
It adjoins the land reserved by the city of Newton in Needham for water supply purposes, and on the Newton side approaches
the Newton river park system.

—Mr. J. R. W. Shapleigh, the new president of the Y. M. C. A., will speak at the men's meeting next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. General Secretary Parker will give a talk to the boys at 3 o'clock.

—The first sociable of the Immanuel Baptist Sunday school was held last evening and the entertainment consisted of songs and imitations by J. W. Maynard of Boston, and Miss Clara H. Clifford of Cambridge gave several recitations.

—Next Thursday evening the members of the Lynn Y. M. C. A. gymnasium will give an exhibition in Miss Wilson's "gym," under the auspices of the Newton Y. M. C.
A. After the regular Y. M. C. A. they will give a funny acrobatic performance.

—The Helping Hand Society of Grace church will give a tea on the afternoon and evening of December 3. An opportunity will be given the new members of the parish to meet the older ones. The tea given last winter was one of the pleasant affairs of the season.

—The Corey Hill Toboggan Club will hold its 2nd Smoker next Monday evening at the Club house. A fine musical program has been prepared and there will be a jolly time. Some colored dancers from the West End will give an exhibition of hard and soft shoe dancing.

—The first in the course of free lectures provided for the school children of the city by the will of the late Charles Read

—The Afternoon Whist Club held its first meeting for the year with Miss Davis on Pembroke street with an attendance of 16 members. The first prize, a dainty cut glass vase, was awarded to Miss Emily Cutler, and Miss Hallett was the receiver of the season. Chocolate was served after the several hands had been played.

—The society of the King's Daughters of Grace church has reorganized for the winter with the following officers:
President, Miss Baker; vice-president,
Miss Edith Cutler; secretary, Miss Eva Sisson; treasurer, Miss Lizzie Garrison. The good work of this society will be continued this year and a fair is contemplated, to be given some time in December.

—The semi-annual election of officers of the Junior department of the Y. M. C. A.
was held Tuesday evening and the following were chosen: Wm. Kretzing, president; Harold Barber, vice president; Chas.
T. Leeds, corresponding secretary; Wm. A.
Zeller, recording secretary; P. H. Rollinson, member-at-large; R. W. Shapleigh, assistant treasurer. After the election
a very interesting stereopticon entertainment was given by R. W. Shapleigh, which was enjoyed by all present.

—The choir guild of Grace church is considering the advisability of placing a memorial window in the guild house in honor of William Hall, the first soloist of the choir. The project will be considered at the next meeting of the guild, Nov. 21.
William Hall died in July last at the age of 18 years, having been for two years the choir soloist. The guild house of this church was built two years ago. Bishop Brooks delivered the dedication sermon,
which proved his last public utterance.

—The Unitarian Club held their regular meeting at the parlor of Channing church, Thursday evening, a large attendance being present. After the supper and social hour, the members and invited guests gathered in the parlor and listened to most instructive and interesting addresses by Mr. G. D. Gilman and Dr. A. J. Twombly on Hawaii. The speakers were brim full of information upon the subject, which was imparted in the most felicitous manner, and the pleasure of the audience was evinced by frequent applause. The singing of two songs by Mr. Clarence B. Askenden, accompanied by Mr. Geo. H. Brown, gave much pleasure. Eight new members were elected at this meeting.

NEWTON CLUB MATTERS.

ANNUAL RECEPTION A PRONOUNCED
SOCIAL SUCCESS—MANY DISTINGUISHED GUESTS PRESENT—BRILLIANT DECORA-TIONS AND BEAUTIFUL TOILETS—GEN-TLEMEN'S NIGHT AND ITS MANIFOLD ATTRACTIVE—OTHER EVENTS OF IN-TEREST.

In the brilliantly lighted rooms of the clubhouse, Wednesday evening, there were many women in beautiful gowns.
There were, too, men well known in the society circles of the city, all arrayed in the conventional evening dress. The occasion of this gathering of a notable company of men and women was the club's annual reception, the opening event of the winter festivities.

The assembly hall was tastefully decorated with palms and chrysanthemums. At its west end was stationed the receiving party—Lieut.-Gov. and Mrs. Wolcott, Gen. and Mrs. W. F.
Draper, and the club's president, Mr.
Henry E. Cobb and Mrs. Cobb.

Mrs. Cobb was gowned in black satin, cut en traine, with garniture of duchesse lace. She carried a bunch of white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Wolcott wore brocade satin, with trimmings of rare old lace. Mrs. Draper wore pale green satin under-race, cut en traine. She carried chrysanthemums.

The decorations throughout the buildings were very tasteful.

On the stage at the south side of the hall, behind a screen of potted plants,
was the orchestra, which furnished music during the reception and for the dancing afterward. The musicians' platform was completely hidden behind a screen of many-hued flowers, set off by a background of dark green ferns. The effect was completed by the elegant costumes worn by hundreds of handsome women. The main entrance hall was a mass of flowers and potted plants. On all sides tall, feathery palms and large chrysanthemum plants in full bloom gave a bower-like appearance to the apartment. The billiard room and library were also decorated with palms were massed on the grand staircase.

In the supper room the effect of glittering silver and crystal was completed by cut flowers and chrysanthemums arranged in exquisite vases.

The assembly hall had its attractive ornature of palms and ferns and seemed a place ideally designed for social festivities. The apartment is beautiful in itself, architecturally and in its harmonious and perfectly tasteful wall and ceiling tones. It is the gem room of the clubhouse.

The guests began to arrive shortly after 8 o'clock. About 1000 invitations were issued and more than 600 ladies and gentlemen were present. The guests were met in the lower hall by the reception committee, comprising Messrs. C. S.
Keene, W. H. Coolidge, R. H. Gardner,
C. A. Haskell, H. D. Kingsbury, Harry
L. Ayer, G. T. Coppins, L. K. Harlow, Frederick Johnson, H. A. Priest and W. H. Harley.

The chief marshal of the reception was Mr. George B. Jones and the ushers in the reception hall were Messrs. W. H.
Allen, L. H. Bayley, G. P. Bullard, G.
H. Benyon, W. F. Dearborn, J. B. Fuller,
Frank J. Hale, C. E. Hale, E. H. Sax-ton, J. H. Wheeler, Jr., Joshua Baker, Jr., R. C. Bridgman, R. W. Buntin, M.
E. Cobb, R. G. Elkins, C. W. Hamilton,
W. F. Pray, L. B. Schofield, Albion Turner and J. K. Taylor.

In the banquet hall, the marshals were Messrs. James W. French, E. T. Fearing,
E. C. Johnson, A. D. Stephens, C. E.
Roberts, W. H. Emerson, H. R. Mandell and Charles Shaw.

Following the formal presentation of guests and the usual social features, at 10 o'clock the supper rooms were thrown open and a collation served.

At 11 o'clock, the assembly hall was cleared for dancing and the devotees of terpsichorean art were in evidence until after midnight. The floor was under the direction of Mr. E. P. May. Among those present at the reception and ball were nearly all the members of the club with their wives and lady friends.
There were, besides, quite a number of society people from out of town.

The second of the series of gentlemen's entertainments took place in the club house last Saturday evening. It was Grand Army night, and a large number of veterans were present as guests. It was informal, but an occasion of more than common interest, and one affording members a great deal of pleasure. Exercises were held in the pretty assembly hall. The platform was handsomely decorated with festoons of the national colors. Addresses were given by Capt.
J. T. B. Adams, Secretary of State
William M. Olin and Dr. Rhea of Knoxville, Tenn., who fought under the banner of the Confederacy during the civil war and who is today the only survivor

only increased $500. The items affected were, public property increased $500 and fire department, $500.

The first item to which objection was offered was that relating to provision for seven assistant assessors. Councilman Savage said that there had been considerable increase in the work and that he understood that the amount recommended by the committee on assessors' department was really required. That was $1000. Councilman Savage moved to make the item stand at $1000.

Councilman Degen said that the finance committee had cut off $200 from the sum originally recommended. He has been necessary, said he, to keep down the items in order to avoid an increase in the tax rate. It is hoped, he added, that the rate will be not more than $15.50 per $1000. The committee on finance has endeavored to keep the various appropriations within that possibility. It had to be very conservative and, although recognizing the justice of requests for larger sums for departmental uses, felt compelled to trim. There may be some items, perhaps, that it will be best to add something to, but we must pare down as near to the limit of the aggregate amount recommended as possible if we intend to keep the rate down to the figure above named. I, therefore, hope the amendment to increase this item will not pass. If the department actually requires more than the sum recommended by the finance committee, it will be an easy matter to make up the difference from any unexpended balance.

Councilman Knapp—The estimate of the finance committee is based on a tax rate of $15.50. It allows little opportunity for increase.

Councilman Bullard—The finance committee figured on an increase in valuation of $2,000,000. We must exercise great care, for every increase of $10,000 means an addition of 20 cents to the tax rate.

After some further discussion, Councilman Savage's amendment was voted upon and lost; also an amendment offered by him to increase the item for clerical assistance in the assessors' department to $3200.

The next item calling for discussion was that providing an appropriation of $17,000 for the board of health. Councilman Parker asked the reason for giving the lump sum. Did the finance committee, said he, consider the various items?

In reply, Councilman Degen stated that the items had been submitted to the committee by the board of health.

Agent Brimblecom of the board of health stated by way of explanation, that the health board's appropriation was lumped, because the statute provided that it should have the power to fix the salaries of its agent and clerks, the city council not having authority to determine the amount to be paid for the services of these department employees.

The fire department committee was heard from in relation to the item for new hose wagons which had been struck off by the finance committee. Councilmen Parker and Savage both stated that wagons were needed. The latter said that they were intended to replace hose carriages that were worn out. The old hose carriages, said he, are horse killers and it is in the interests of the city to replace them by the more modern and useful wagon as fast as practicable.

On motion of Councilman Parker, it was voted to provide an appropriation of $500 for the purchase of two new hose wagons.

The salary of the inspector of buildings was next discussed. Councilman Bullard thought it should be increased. He said that the incumbent of the office held a sort of three-headed position. One of the positions was that of superintendent of street lamps and his duties seem to be increasing. Had Mr. Elder made an application for an increase, I think the finance committee would have voted for it. I, therefore, move that the salary of building inspector be increased from $1200 to $1500.

Councilman Knapp—I think the salary of the building inspector should remain at $1200 and that a salary of $300 should be provided for the services of inspector of lights.

After some further discussion it was voted not to increase, but to provide for an item of $300 for street light inspector, to be taken from the appropriation for street lights.

On motion of Councilman Bullard, the item of $1200 for salary of inspector of buildings was transferred to the list of salaries for various city officials.

A splendid effort was made in behalf of the Newton Hospital, but an endeavor to increase the special appropriation for that valued institution from $7500 to $8000 proved futile. It was stated that $8000 was no more than the city should pay in lieu of the care of the city's cases. From the figures of the treasurer of the hospital, it appeared, that the city's obligations for treatment of poor patients the past year was about $11,000.

Councilman Degen was in favor of making the appropriation $8,000. He spoke of the large number of laborers that had been sent to the hospital as a result of injuries sustained while working in the sewers. This city, he thought, should pay approximately near the amount it incurred for the care and treatment of its poor patients.

Councilman Weed objected to the system under which the city voted a lump sum for the hospital. It should send its patients there, said he, and have a bill rendered for the amount of its indebtedness, paying it like any other bill.

Councilman Bullard—Would you suggest making the appropriation large enough to provide for the payment of the bills that the city would contract?

Councilman Weed—Yes.

Councilman Bullard—Then, it would be necessary to appropriate a larger sum than that asked for. The hospital has not asked for a cent more than is required to meet the city's obligations to that institution.

Councilman Knapp—I agree with Councilman Bullard in this matter. The hospital is a valued institution and it is the duty of the city to do its full share toward its support. It is doing a great work. It has treated a large number of city cases the past year. The expense per patient has been $11.53. There has been an increase of 13 per cent, in cases in 1894 over 1893. The city ought to help the hospital along, and I hope that this body will vote for an appropriation of $8000.

Councilman Weed—It is true that the hospital is doing a noble work. This is not, however, a question of sentiment. It is the method of providing the appropriation that I object to. It seems to me a bad precedent binding the city to help other hospitals in the future, that may put in a claim on account of treatment of city cases. I am thoroughly convinced that the Newton hospital is of the greatest value in this community. It ought to be sustained. The city should discharge its obligations to the institution, paying $10,000 if it incurs that amount of indebtedness.

There was more or less talk about the necessity of providing for more patrolmen. Councilman Bullard and Tolman stated that more officers were needed. Councilman Savage said that it was not just the thing to allow the officers to go off duty at 3 o'clock in the morning. The recent fire at Newton Centre, he added, shows the necessity of continuous patrol service. The police department, however, received no addition to its resources for 1895 as a result of the discussion, and the force will only be augmented by the services of two more regular men. Its a bit unfortunate, for as was very correctly stated by Councilman Degen, the present equipment is entirely inadequate.

The requirements of the public property committee were touched upon in detail by Councilman Tolman, who objected to the finance committee's cut of $5000 in the appropriation item for that department. He said that $20,000 was needed, and that the committee could not get along with a less sum. The subject of buildings, after giving the subject careful thought, reported that a sum of $22,000 would be required to provide simply for the very necessary repairs.

Councilman Bullard—The finance committee in considering this item, felt that it was necessary to economize in every possible way and hoped that the public property committee might be able to get along with $15,000. After some further discussion it was voted to increase the appropriation from $15,000 to $20,000.

The school appropriation called forth some inquiries. Councilman Tolman asked to know why the finance committee had increased it $5000 over the amount for 1894?

Councilman Bullard said that the introduction of algebra in the lower grades, Latin in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades and the establishing of kindergarten had increased the school expenditures. The additional $5000, he thought, was needed.

Councilman Dickens tried to provide for an item for conveyance of pupils from the Oak Hill district, but could not convince his fellow members that it was an imperative necessity, notwithstanding the fact that 7 pupils, who attended the public school, resided in the Oak Hill district, were obliged to walk two miles every school day. They have been promising us an additional teacher at Oak Hill for the past 5 years, said Councilman Dickens, but it has not been fulfilled up to date.

On the close of the discussion, Councilman Weed presented the report of the committee of the whole, stating in substance that it recommended for the various appropriation items for 1895 the sum of $846,010. Following the report, the usual order was passed providing that amount for the departmental expenses of the ensuing year.

The table of items recommended and adopted follows.

Special Meeting of the Aldermen.

A special meeting of the board of aldermen was held Wednesday evening, Mayor Fenno in the chair. No business of especial importance was transacted. T. R. Coughlin was appointed a weigher of merchandise.

The hearings ordered on the petitions of the Newton & Boston Street Railway Company for permit to extend its tracks through Watertown and Washington streets and for the right to cross the Boston & Albany tracks at grade on Walnut street was postponed until Monday evening, Nov. 19, at 7:30 o'clock.

J. A. Cutler was appointed an auctioneer.

The committee on ordinances reported that the ordinances relating to truants and neglected children, and concerning the new truant school at North Chelmsford, had been duly enrolled. On motion of Alderman Bothell the same was passed to be ordained.

Orders were adopted granting a location to the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company for poles on Walnut and Washington streets; authorizing the highway committee to proceed with the laying out of Park avenue; authorizing the construction of a drain in Clinton street.

At 8:15 o'clock the board adjourned.

Henry Wilson, the postmaster at Welsh-ton, Florida, says he cured a case of diarrhoea of long standing in six hours, with one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. What a pleasant surprise that must have been to the sufferer. The special cures are not unusual with this remedy. In many instances only one or two doses are required to give permanent relief. It can always be depended upon. When reduced with water it is pleasant to take. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. W. Keyes, Andover; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; E. P. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

Have used Ivory since it was put on sale, and consider it far ahead of every other washing powder.

THE REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES.

Judging from the caucuses, Newton is to be a very happy family this year. All the wards were unanimous for Alderman Bothfield for mayor, and in most of the wards the aldermanic contests have been so happily settled that no opposition candidate will be named. And for the candidates for the common council the candidates have been carefully chosen, so that but little improvement could be made. The Republican caucuses have not made such good selections in years, and in most instances appear to have taken up the work of the late lamented Non-Partisan movement. Politics have been disregarded and an attempt made to secure the best men.

There may be a contest over aldermen in Ward Two, but in general it looks as though the coming city election would be a very tame and quiet affair, most of the contests having been settled before the caucuses.

It is a great compliment to Alderman Bothfield that he should have no opposition this year, and it is an unusual occurrence in Newton, as generally there is a very lively contest when a new mayor is to be elected. There has been a strong effort to get up a contest this year, but Mr. Bothfield appeared to be such an exceptionally well-qualified man for the office, and also for the time, so many important questions with which he is familiar are up for settlement, that every prominent man who has been asked to run has declined in his favor. The voters were also found to be so unanimous in his favor that an opposition candidate would have no chance this year.

The caucuses settled the contests in most of the wards so satisfactorily that there will be no opposition. In Ward One, the old officers, Alderman Hamilton and Councilmen Wing and Briston were renominated without opposition.

In Ward Two, Councilman Greene had the most votes for alderman in the caucus, but a contest is certain, and nomination papers will be taken out for one and possibly more candidates. The friends of ex-Councilman Hatch, of Councilman Savage and of Alderman Rumery are all said to be contemplating such action. C. E. Roberts and C. A. Kellogg are good selections for the common council.

In Ward Three the caucus declared for Councilman Bullard for alderman, and there will probably be no contest, Councilman Hatfield is renominated and F. W. Sprague is the new nominee.

In Ward Four Alderman Plummer was renominated, but possibly Councilman Knapp will run against him. F. A. Childs is renominated for the council and C. S. Ober is chosen for the new member.

In Ward Five the caucus declared for Thomas E. White, and L. P. Everett and Freeman Hutchinson are nominated for the council.

The contest in Ward Six was happily settled by the naming of Councilman Degen for alderman and Councilman Parker was renominated with F. H. Butts for the council.

In Ward Seven Councilman Tolman was nominated for alderman and A. C. Mudge and K. W. Hobart for the council. They were not consulted but it is hoped will be persuaded to consent to serve.

THE CITIZENS' CONVENTION.

The Citizens' party has not dissolved, as its members believe it still has a mission, after so many successful campaigns in Newton, and a convention has been called for Saturday evening of this week, the call being printed in another column. All who believe in non-partisanship in city affairs are invited to attend and take part in the doings of the convention. There is a prospect of some excitement as it is said that Alderman Rumery's friends will try to get him the nomination for Mayor, and all who have the good of the Citizens party at heart should attend and prevent this.

The Citizens have had an honorable record in city politics, with an unbroken succession of victories, but this year it would be very foolish for them to put up another candidate against Alderman Bothfield. He has been prominent in the Citizens' party and seems certain to receive the Republican nomination, and is conceded on all sides to be the best man for the office. The Citizens have won previously because they have nominated the best men for city offices, and their success in the future depends on their following this course.

This is a Republican year, and since the Republicans are to disregard politics in their nomination for Mayor, the Citizens should accept the compliment involved, and nominate a candidate who will be endorsed by the Republicans, especially as Mr. Bothfield is sure to be elected in any event.

For other nominations the Citizens have a chance to improve upon the Republican re-elections, if they desire, and probably will do so in Ward Two and some of the other wards, and give the people a chance to vote for the best men.

It is conceded now that the Citizens made a mistake in not holding a convention and making nominations last year, but some of their leaders thought there was something in the non-partisan movement, and did not wish to place any obstacles in the way of its success.

The order for the payment of $20,000 for the purchase of the four acres of vacant land on the corner of Elm and Webster streets failed to pass the Common Council. Evidently the project of moving the Pierce school over to that end of the district is not received with universal favor. Besides, some people object to having the city engage in real estate speculation, while others who think they know more about the matter say that to take off such a large slice for the Pierce school will spoil the lot for a playground, and therefore they are opposed to the order. The locality has been used for a playground for school children for so many years, and is the only large lot in the vicinity of West Newton that is both vacant and suitable, that it seems a pity that it could not be kept for this purpose. There are also sceptical people who doubt the statement of the school committee, that the lot is in the centre of the school population of the district, and think there is no need of choosing such an out of the way location, so inconvenient of access to the great majority of the pupils of the district. They think some effort should have been made to accommodate the pupils on the south side of the track, as well as those on River street and vicinity. Taken altogether it is a very interesting contest, especially as so many complications are involved. Judging from Tuesday night's caucus, the people of West Newton do not favor the location, as Mr. Bullard, who has opposed it, was named as the candidate for alderman, and Mr. James T. Allen, who represented those in favor, was beaten.

A good deal of sympathy is felt for Mr. James T. Allen, who was beaten in the contest for alderman at Tuesday night's Republican caucus in Ward Three. If Mr. Allen was not such an enthusiastic Republican, and with such a well known horror of bolters, he might start out as an independent candidate, but to do so would be to violate his life-long principles, and therefore he has to regard his defeat at the caucus as final.

ONE firm in New York felt so well pleased over the election that they immediately raised the wages of their employees to the same rate they paid when the McKinley tariff went into effect. If all manufacturers would do this there would be no doubt about the return of prosperity.

MEMBERS of the school board whose terms expire this year are Chas. A. Drew and W. G. Brackett of Ward One; Mrs. Mary R. Martin and Wallace C. Boyden of Ward Two, and Colon S. Ober of Ward Four, who has resigned.

Play.

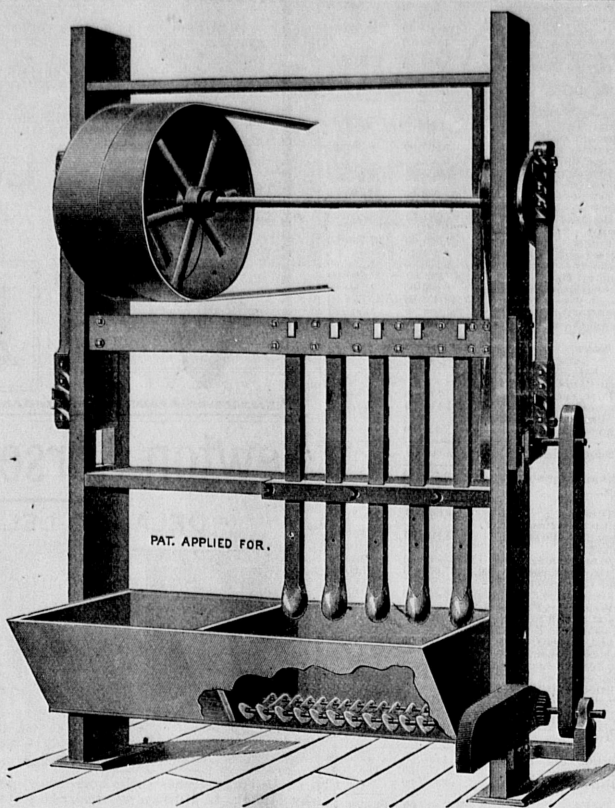

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

Now that a memorable election is over, Newton may well turn its attention to home matters. Among the foremost of these is the provision of sufficiently numerous, well distributed and suitably conditioned playgrounds for both sexes and all ages. By all manner of means let us all put the welfare of the whole being of our little children, our dear boys and girls, our youth and our men and women before, and far before booms in real estate. That is, let many small and tidy, but not fancy playgrounds, of from a half acre to two acres each, be provided for all the Newtons before doing anything, or at least anything to hinder them, in the shape of any great central park, largely useless, except for the few who can drive to it, or who can visit it only occasionally.

There should be not less than five to seven such small playgrounds in Newton proper (Wards One and Seven) as, for example, one on Tremont street, east of Waverley avenue, one on the marsh (filled in) between the railroad embankment and Hunnewell Hill, one somewhere in the triangle bounded by Centre street, Mt. Ida, and the railroad, and one or two north of the railroad; and similarly for all the Newtons.

Then, as supplementary to this, there should be a suitable attendant or keeper at each ground to prevent abuses, and give general directions and preserve a proper tone of honor and spirit; while, further, to make the whole complete, there must be, by general consent, and a good work of emancipation in favor of higher ends, a greater regard for the freedom of movement which is indispensable to healthy, happy childhood, than for a close shaven, stiff stiffness of our house-lots. These need not be frowzy, but they should not be too nice to step on, or regarded as more sacred than the young feet that naturally long for the short cuts, and the cool, soft green of the grass.

A little cheerful co-operation throughout a neighborhood, and concert of action with the playground keepers, would prevent the wearing of paths by repeatedly following the same lines, also any damage or essential trespassing, or excessive crossing of any one lot, instead of all alike. These ideas were forcibly and permanently brought to my mind by some months of memorable experience with a bright, happy, wide-awake and marvellously active little country boy, who, when the satisfying, natural sports of fall and winter were over, cutting, coasting, skating and snow-bur building, was like a caged bird, pining for the broad fields, where there

MR. JOSEPH LEE'S INVENTION.

NOVEL AND VALUABLE DEVICE FOR MIX-ING AND KNEADING BREAD.

The present is the age of improvement. Labor saving inventions spring into existence on every hand and old laborious methods are relegated to the rear in the march of progress and rapid development from crude conditions toward the ideal of modern achievement.

There is one thing, at least, that has withstood the changes of centuries and that is the simple art of bread making. The batches, great or small, have been manipulated by hand labor and it is only within the past few years that inventive minds have been directed to the feasibility of introducing machinery to perform the work of mixing and kneading dough to facilitate a saving in time for the baker. One hears frequently of the various old-style methods of kneading and mixing. It is said that some bakers accomplish it by a treading process, getting fairly into the troughs to work the dough with their feet. Of course, most bakers employ the hand-mixing process, but that has its disagreeable significance, for it means severe manual labor and the result of the exertion produces a vigorous perspiration, especially in the warm months and naturally more or less of the moisture finds its way into the bread.

Several attempts have been made recently to evolve a machine for mixing and kneading dough, with a greater or less degree of success. One of them, the invention of Mr. Joseph Lee, of this city, proprietor of the Woodland Park Hotel has been demonstrated as practical in every way. It performs its work thoroughly and produces a pure, sweet and palatable bread. All the bread made for the Woodland Park Hotel is kneaded and mixed by one of these machines and its quality is said to be fully up to the standard of the best home-made production. The hotel guests have praised it so highly, that there has been a demand for it from housekeepers and Mr. Lee has decided was no hindrance to the freest movement, far and wide, in contrast to a chafing degree of limitation to the streets and hard sidewalks, and little door yards, as he, in natural country phrase, thought of them and called them.

All this, too, is no personal hobby. I wish everybody read, in addition to other reading, or instead of some of it, some of the class of papers which contain a summary of the most important news and the best thought of the world, and of which "Public Opinion" is a good example. In the number for Nov. 8th is an admirable extract on "The education of value of Play." It says: "A little over two years ago a great movement in favor of play as an essential element in the development of character began in Germany. A large committee was appointed to visit England to watch English children, youths and men playing. The committee reported, and their recommendations were circulated. At ready over four hundred cities and towns have opened public playgrounds" some of them at private expense, or by will. "The 'play leader' is on duty on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, and on other days from four to six o'clock. Play is better than gymnastics or any formal exercises because it is more natural, because it is true self-activity, and because it develops what is necessary for health and temper, a love for play, and a play tendency in character," that is, a tendency to say that it is better to laugh than to either cry or scold. That play is better than insipid gymnastics, which only have a little semblance of real life pound-d into them by a piano, every boy knows, who has built a dove-house or a toy ship, or gathered all the apples or cherries off a tree.

The bone of too much American play is that it is too much organized, is too much a wearing business than a true recreation, and too much only to beat somebody else and not for single sport. Then let us make good, well balanced provisions to enable each to joyfully say:

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

To furnish it to all patrons who desire it. He has established agencies throughout the city for the sale of the bread and the venture, it is said, is meeting with considerable success.

The invention was designed for hotels and houses where a quantity of bread and pastry dough is made at one time. It is simple in construction and operation. Besides saving a great amount of time, it produces dough of superior fineness and quality. The frame of the machine consists of two upright posts, provided with suitable supporting feet and having cross beams. Mounted in the bottom of the top, is a horizontal rotary shaft, provided with a driving pulley, connected by a belt with any suitable motor. The rotary shaft is provided at each end with cranks connected by pitmen to the outer ends of a reciprocating beam or head. The ends of the beam are mounted in suitable ways on the uprights and arranged to slide up and down therein as said beam receives motion from the rotary shaft through the cranks and pitmen. Secured to the beam and depending therefrom are arms provided at lower ends with kneading pestles. These arms pass through apertures in the lower cross beam and are guided and steadied thereby in their reciprocal movements. Mounted on the lower part of the frame and directly beneath the pestles, is a dough trough. The trough is provided with two horizontal screw conveyors, placed near the bottom of the trough and on either side of the path of movement of the pestles. The conveyer shafts have gear wheels at the outer end which mesh with each other and the gear wheel also meshes with the driving pulley which receives its motion from a small pulley driven by another pulley on the main shaft.

Mr. Lee seems to be of a very inventive turn of mind for he has just perfected a bread crumbling machine which, it is thought, will prove a most valuable acquisition in hotels and large boarding houses. It grinds up the bread very fine and the soft crumbs are of great utility in assisting the work on the cuisine. The soft crumbs can be used in cooking many delectable dishes and are far superior to those pounded or ground from crackers. One of them has been placed recently in the Hotel Thorndike and orders for several more have been received.

"In books, and work at a healthful play, let my first years be past, That I may give for every day A good account at last."

Words unexcelled for thoroughgoing wisdom, for which God bless dear old Dr. Watts, the children's friend. S. E. W.

of a Tennessee regiment which he surrendered at Appomattox. Dr. Rhea is a polished, southern gentleman and an eloquent speaker. He made the speech of the evening. Among other things, he said that every public schoolhouse in Knoxville had the stars and stripes floating above it. It is, said he, the flag we cherish and respect and teach our children to love.

The Newton Club Glee Singers rendered "Marching Through Georgia" and other selections. After the events in the assembly hall the members and their guests adjourned to the social rooms. Refreshments were served in the cafe.

Previous to the entertainment President Henry E. Cobb gave a dinner party, at which Commander Adams, Col. William M. Olin, Gen. G. F. Meech, Capt. G. W. Cressy, Maj. Charles Davis, Col. C. A. Hopkins, Commander W. A. Wetherbee, G. A. R. (dept. of Mass.), Commander W. A. Tripp of Charles Ward Post 62, Col. I. F. Kingsbury, J. E. Hollis, George T. Coppins, Cap. J. A. Kenrick and Col. A. M. Ferris were guests.

Among the prominent G. A. R. men also entertained by Mr. C. E. Roberts were Hosea Hyde, Col. H. W. Downs and Capt. A. T. Sylvester.

The work of the steward of the club in preparing the tables and many handsome dishes for the banquet has received much favorable comment.

The Saturday night smoke talks are an immense success.

—Alderman Plummer brought up the question of providing a relief room for Charles Ward Post at the street meeting of the upper board Wednesday evening. He, together with Alderman Thompson, were named by the mayor for a committee authorized to take that matter in hand.

Alderman Thompson introduced a new order for the purchase of land for a school-house site here. It provides for the Webster street and Oak avenue lot and the same area of land, but stipulates that the portion not wanted for the use of the school shall be disposed of at public or private sale.

—An excellent concert was given in the City Hall Tuesday evening by the Cecilia Quartet, comprising Miss Jessie G. Ingham, soprano; Miss Margaret K. Long, second soprano; Mrs. M. Millie Beardsley, first alto; Miss Alice A. Bruce, second alto. The quartet was assisted by Miss Gertrude Dennis, violinist; Mr. Frederick Getchell, cellist; and Mr. L. H. Burdon and Mrs. H. L. T. Bryant, accompanists. The numbers by the quartet were finely rendered and the new organization of vocalists made a most favorable impression. Winning the good opinion of an audience made up of ladies and gentlemen competent to form a critical judgment. The members of the quartet were heard to excellent advantage in the solo selections.

Miss Immann has a particularly pleasing soprano voice of good quality. She has an unusual range and sings with commendable feeling and expression. Mrs. Beardsley gave a praiseworthy rendering of "Come's Song," "The Journey is Long," "Miss Uphan's number," "Storm and Sunshine," was artistically given and Miss obligato was rendered admirably in a solo contributed, of course, to the enjoyment of the occasion and added to his record of successes in Newton and elsewhere.

—The next regular meeting of the Newton Congregational Club will be held in the parlors and chapel of the Second church.

On this occasion the club will entertain the Hon. Jonathan A. Lane, the president of the Boston Congregational Club. The address will be given by Samuel B. Capen, Esq., of Boston, on "The Duty of the Christian Citizen." Music will be furnished by the quartet of Elliot church.

—Alderman Plummer brought up the question of providing a relief room for Charles Ward Post at the street meeting of the upper board Wednesday evening. He, together with Alderman Thompson, were named by the mayor for a committee authorized to take that matter in hand.

Alderman Thompson introduced a new order for the purchase of land for a school-house site here. It provides for the Webster street and Oak avenue lot and the same area of land, but stipulates that the portion not wanted for the use of the school shall be disposed of at public or private sale.

—An excellent concert was given in the City Hall Tuesday evening by the Cecilia Quartet, comprising Miss Jessie G. Ingham, soprano; Miss Margaret K. Long, second soprano; Mrs. M. Millie Beardsley, first alto; Miss Alice A. Bruce, second alto. The quartet was assisted by Miss Gertrude Dennis, violinist; Mr. Frederick Getchell, cellist; and Mr. L. H. Burdon and Mrs. H. L. T. Bryant, accompanists. The numbers by the quartet were finely rendered and the new organization of vocalists made a most favorable impression. Winning the good opinion of an audience made up of ladies and gentlemen competent to form a critical judgment. The members of the quartet were heard to excellent advantage in the solo selections.

Miss Immann has a particularly pleasing soprano voice of good quality. She has an unusual range and sings with commendable feeling and expression. Mrs. Beardsley gave a praiseworthy rendering of "Come's Song," "The Journey is Long," "Miss Uphan's number," "Storm and Sunshine," was artistically given and Miss obligato was rendered admirably in a solo contributed, of course, to the enjoyment of the occasion and added to his record of successes in Newton and elsewhere.

Several numbers in charge of the gymnasium at Ogontz. Both ladies are, therefore, well equipped for their work.

The Rev. Milton Vail, a relative of Mr. Bragdon's and lately returned from missionary work in Japan, gave a lecture to the young women of the seminary on Wednesday evening. The subject of the lecture was "Causes of the War between China and Japan," and the matter was presented in a very clear, concise and simple manner. Making plain various points upon which the average newspaper report touches lightly, or not at all. Mr. Vail afterwards added a few remarks upon Japanese manners and customs.

Mr. Bigsby, an English gentleman and scholar, well known in this country for his charming lectures, gave this evening at Lasell, a lecture upon Dr. Arnold of Rugby. On Thursday evening there was held in the gymnasium a meeting in the interests of negro education, as represented by the McKim Normal and Industrial Institute of Tuskegee, Alabama. Among other one of the vocal teachers of the Institute, made an address, and several students of the same school related various instructive and entertaining stories of their experiences in obtaining an education. A quartet of Tuskegee students sang songs peculiar to the black belt of the south.

The Republican caucuses on Tuesday evening there was no contest over the head of the ticket, and all the delegates chosen are supposed to favor H. E. Bothfield for mayor.

Ward 3 was the scene of the principal contest. The contest was over the aldermanic nomination, and the caucus endorsed Councilman George P. Bullard, who was opposed by Mr. James T. Allen. In Ward 6 Councilman Dezen secured the delegation defeating Councilman J. W. Parker. In Ward 4 the caucus endorsed Alderman Plummer after a lively contest.

In Ward 1 Alderman Hamilton secured the delegation. In Ward 2 delegates favorable to L. E. G. Green were elected; in Ward 5, T. E. White is the successful candidate, and in Ward 7, Councilman Tolman secured the delegation.

The following were chosen by the caucuses:

Ward 1—Common council, Mitchell Wing and John E. Branton; delegates, H. W. Downes, Robert Forslund, F. W. Stone, J. S. Potter, J. T. Langston.

Ward 2—Common Council, C. A. Kellogg, C. E. Roberts; delegates, J. A. Smith, N. H. Chadwick, E. W. Bailey, H. B. Parker and H. F. Ross.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

MAGNIFICENT TEMPLE OF DRAMATIC ART
—GRAND IN ITS ARCHITECTURAL AND DECORATIVE FEATURES—A PERFECTLY APPOINTED, MODERN PLAYHOUSE.

Those who received invitations to the informal opening of the Castle Square Theatre last Saturday evening and who availed themselves of the opportunity offered, of inspecting the beautiful, new playhouse will long retain delightful memories of a most agreeable occasion.

Located at the junction of Tremont, Chandler and Ferdinand streets convenient for the Columbus avenue station of the Boston & Albany and the Park Square station of the Providence railroad, its imposing exterior is seen to excellent advantage, and it elevates the character of the entire neighborhood. The choice of this site is to be credited to the sagacity of Mr. Henry W. Savage, to whose enterprise and unremitting energy the theatre owes its being. That the theatre has sprung into the amusement marvel that it is in the short time that has intervened bespeaks the greatest credit for Mr. Savage and other real estate men whom he interested in the project.

Nine large doorways admit to the auditorium from the grand foyer and mezzanine lobbies. The auditorium is broad for its depth and the sight lines from the corners of the stage describe a very wide relative angle, thus assuring a full view of the stage from every seat in the house.

In the selection and placing of the seats comfort has been the desideratum above all else. The open chairs, with their massive, beautifully polished cedar frames and Pullman plush backs and seats, are 22 inches in width, with the backs at such an angle and such form as to lend themselves to the most comfortable position that the body can assume while in a sitting posture. The distance between the rows is greater than in any other playhouse in the city. Patrons of the first balcony will welcome the Castle Square novelty of not suffering the second balcony to project over it.

The grand illuminating feature of the Castle Square is the gigantic electric chandelier which spans the enormous dome above the auditorium. This triumph of artistic conception, exquisite workmanship and advanced electrical science, consists of 350 16-candle power electric lights, so arranged as to convey the idea of diamonds sparkling in a mammoth brooch, exquisitely wrought in gold and silver work. It was created by the well-known Boston house of R. Hollings & Co., electric and gas fixture manufacturers. Mr. Hollings, the senior member of the firm, is a prominent resident of this city.

Another Newton gentleman is interested in the make-up of the furnishings of the new theatre. Mr. A. Sidney Bryant, head decorator for the Boston house of R. H. White & Co. He designed and superintended the hanging of all the portieres and draperies, also the drop-curtain. The latter is in Titian plush and weighs 450 lbs. It took 188 yards of material. Some idea of the fine character of the furnishings may be derived from the information that the GRAPHIC is enabled to furnish its readers of one item of expense. The cost of the embroidery of portieres in the foyer, hung at the principal entrances to the auditorium, was $300, to say nothing of the items for goods, trimmings, making, etc. Mr. Bryant's work attracted a great deal of attention and the very flattering remarks relative to the beautiful and harmonious coloring effects and artistic draping would, undoubtedly, have caused him a great deal of gratification for "Sid" is a very modest man. He deserves his word of praise, however, and there seems to have been a disposition on the part of every one connected with the work of constructing and fitting up the theatre worthy of recognition. The best efforts were given and, naturally, the best results obtained.

The manager of the Castle Square, Mr. Edward E. Rose, has organized an excellent executive staff which includes: W. M. Smith, assistant manager; Sydney Chidley, scenic artist; Maxwell Alexander, assistant scenic artist; Charles L'Orange, musical director; William P. Edison, stage manager and carpenter; James A. Anderson, advertising manager; Harry O'Rourke, advertising agent; John W. Luce, press representative; Edwin E. Thorndike, treasurer; David Dow, ticket agent, and James H. Duffy, property master.

The new house opened Monday evening with a fine presentation of the romantic play, "Captain Paul," written by Manager Rose. The scene in the third act, showing the privateer Ruyter, is pronounced by the press a marvel of stage realism. The first night's receipts, entirely for the Elks benefit, figured up $3,500, including the premiums. This was a pleasing indication of the grand success that the Elks attained in their undertaking. Beginning Monday next will be the second week of "Capt. Paul."

Newton Congregational Church.

The next meeting of the Newton Congregational Club will be held at the parlors of the West Newton Congregational church on Monday evening, Nov. 19.

The club will entertain as its guest on this occasion, Hon. Johnathan A. Lane, president of the Boston Congregational Club. The address is to be delivered by S. B. Capen, Esq., of Boston, on "The duty of the Christian Citizen." The Eliot church quartet will furnish the music.

The club is in a flourishing condition and is a material aid to the work of the denomination it represents, in this city.

A Great Battle

Is continuously going on in the human system. The demon of impure blood strives to gain victory over the constitution, to ruin health, to drag victims to the grave. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the weapon with which to defend one's self, drive the desperate enemy from the field, and restore bodily health for many years.

ORGANIZED ELEVEN YEARS

ANNIVERSARY EXERCISES OF THE NEWTON Y. M. C. A.

The eleventh anniversary of the Newton Y. M. C. A. was observed in the Eliot church last Sunday evening. There was a large attendance, fully 1200 persons being present.

On the platform were seated the local clergymen, Charles F. Eddy, the retiring president of the society; R. W. Shapleigh, the new president; Rev. I. J. Lansing of the Park Street church, Boston and James H. Eaton, president of the Lawrence Savings Bank.

Music was rendered by the regular choir of Eliot church, assisted by a male quartet. The exercises were of a very interesting character, several of the Newton clergymen participating, including Rev. Dillon Bronson, Rev. George W. Shinn and Rev. George E. Merrill.

Mr. Charles E. Eddy presented the president's report. He said the work of the association during the year past had been very successful, and its entire debt had been cleared. The total membership of the association now was 134.

In conclusion he introduced the new president, Mr. Shapleigh, who in turn introduced the chief speaker of the evening, Rev. Dr. Lansing.

The subject of Dr. Lansing's address was, "Is the Young Man Safe?" He said among other things:

"What are the young men in Boston tonight? Out of 13,000,000 young men in the United States, but 1,000,000 are church members, and in Boston there are 10,000 who never go to church.

"The number of young men who attend church is very small. They are in the theatres, in the barrooms and in brothels. A very large proportion of those in the prisons are young men.

"Young men are needed for everything. It was the young man, New York who accomplished the recent overthrow of corruption, for which we all thank God.

"But all vicious things need young men, too. The theatre, the saloon and the house of infamy—these could not exist without young men. They need their support and patronage.

"While all these vices are bidding for young men the church should outbid all and get them. It is the most powerful organization in the community. It should rise and strike, the saloon, the theatre and the brothel must fall.

"Make your buildings more attractive and offer social inducements to counteract the attractions of the saloon and moral inducement and intellectual pleasures to overcome the attractions of the theatre.

"As long as the church considers it its duty to act and look like a tombstone to the Y. M. C. A. must attend to the social needs of the young man and exert an enlarging influence.

"One of the agencies which helps to drag men down is the theatre. The church can and must exert its hospitality and offer greater inducements than the theatres. The Y. M. C. A. is the outpost of the church."

Mr. James H. Eaton of Lawrence said that in the United States there were 200 Y. M. C. A. organizations with a membership of 300,000 and conducting over 500 gymnasiums. He described the methods of work in Lawrence and called for cordial support of the organization in this city.

You may eat cheap food and not be seriously hurt by it; but you cannot take cheap medicine without positive injury. If you use any substitute for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, you do so at the peril of your health, perhaps of your life. Insist on having Ayer's, and no other.

Anti Toxine Treatment of Diphtheria.

A new method of treatment has been introduced, which bids fair to rival in value that of vaccination for the prevention of small pox.

This consists of introducing a material into the body, which will either prevent the occurrence of diphtheria after one has been exposed to the disease, or cure most cases if given within three days of the beginning of the attack.

The average mortality has been heretofore about 40 per cent.; with the new treatment it is almost nothing. It will thus be seen that it is one of the most wonderful discoveries in medicine of the age. Koch's cure for consumption at the age of first promising never achieved the practical results anti-toxine has already gained. The accounts which have appeared in the daily papers have been generally wrong and misleading.

Recently among other things the Herald stated that the treatment was based on the fact that animals or persons having once had the disease were thereafter immune or safe. A dangerous and false statement as people are often even more susceptible to the diphtheria after one attack. The curative material or anti-toxine consists of the blood of the goat or horse. These animals naturally somewhat resistant to attacks of diphtheria are made artificially more resistant by frequent and small injections into their blood of a material obtained in the growth of the germs of diphtheria outside of the body in laboratories. These animals after months of this treatment become proof against large quantities of the material or poison (toxine) produced by the diphtheric germs, because a poison is developed in their blood which counteracts the poison of diphtheria, which has been introduced into their bodies. Hence their blood is called an anti or against toxin. Their blood is then in part withdrawn and injected into people exposed or suffering from diphtheria with an ordinary subcutaneous syringe in quantities of one to two spoonfuls. One such is sufficient and costs $20.00, but it is now impossible to get it in New England.

Anti-toxine has to be imported from Germany and can not be had there at present.

In view of the wonderful results of the new treatment abroad and the fearful fatality of the disease, it is to be hoped that anti-toxine will be soon accessible to physicians and that the same success may be reached in this country.

There have been as yet as far as we know, no cases of diphtheria treated with anti-toxine in Newton and but a few at the City Hospital in Boston.

The demand for Ayer's Hair Vigor in such widely-separated regions as South America, Spain, Australia, and India has kept pace with the home consumption which goes to show that these people know a good thing when they try it.

No better remedy for gray hair has been discovered than Hall's Hair Renewer.

VITAL AMERICAN TOPIC.

REV. CHARLES FERGUSON OF COHASSETT PREACHES IN GRACE CHURCH.

Rev. Charles Ferguson of Cohasset preached last Sunday night the second of four sermons on vital American topics which he is to deliver in Grace church.

The subject of his second sermon was "It is well to begin life in a humble way." The heart's desire of every man, said the preacher, is for a larger, freer life. All manners of crime and all kinds of deeds of heroism and saintliness have been committed in the name of liberty.

Liberty is not to be won through opposition to law and order, but by living in accordance with them. The world talks of plutocracy and of the rule of money, but money could not rule if there were not men ready to offer themselves for sale. The great crime of the age is the willingness of men to sell their services and their abilities for gain.

Men who should serve God in all they do stand ready to do any man's bidding for money. Men are too easily tempted by glittering promises and too ready to forget that one who would do great things must begin in a humble way. Christ was tempted by Satan with unlimited power he would but bow down and admit Satan's supremacy and power, but Christ refused and chose Nazareth.

There have been great emperors, who have had rule over great empires and power over the destinies of men, but their names are remembered only as marks in the march of time. Christ refused dominion over the world and chose to work in a humble way, but what he did for man still lives. His power is ever growing and his name is worshipped throughout the world. Men ambitious to win fame and to do great things should begin by doing common things well and by learning to serve instead of struggling to be served. The most encouraging sign of the times is found in the true inward spirit of what the world calls realism. It is the awakening of mankind to the appreciation of the fact that a hero may work with his hands, and that all heroes do not live in tin palaces and wear gorgeous raiment. It is an awakening to the true worth of humility and of humble things.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

COLUMBIA THEATRE—"Sowing the Wind" could easily remain at the Columbia throughout the entire season, but contracts have been made for it in other theatres and necessitate its withdrawal, and the beginning Nov. 26 will be the last but one of its stay in Boston. This powerful play has made a most enviable record and reputation for itself and has drawn audiences of brilliant and fashionable type and largest size throughout its entire stay. The horribly inclement weather during the last part of November had no effect upon the size of its audiences, as each performance was given before a crowded and enthusiastic house. It has become a fad to attend the "Sowing the Wind" matinees, and each afternoon performance has found the matinee girl out in full force.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE—The annual visit of Mr. E. H. Sothern to Boston will begin on Nov. 10th, as usual he will be seen at the Hollis Street Theatre. Each time that Mr. Sothern comes to Boston he has endeavored to produce a new play. This time he will be seen in at least two new characters, besides reviving one or two of his most popular successes. The opening play will be "The Victoria Cross," written for him by Paul M. Potter, whose recent work has attracted much attention. "The Victoria Cross" has already been tried, as Mr. Sothern began his season with it at the Lyceum, New York, and during the month or more that it held the boards there it received a large amount of favorable criticism. It is now intended that "The Victoria Cross" will be given throughout the entire first week, while the second week's repertoire will be announced later. Another play which Mr. Sothern will probably present is one by Jerome K. Jerome, entitled "The Way to Win a Woman."

BOSTON THEATRE—The production of "In Old Kentucky," which is just entering upon the second month of its successful season at the Boston Theatre, is meeting with a degree of popular success unprecedented in the history of that playhouse, famous as it is for long and successful runs. The audiences have been uniformly of phenomenal proportions and on many occasions hundreds have been turned away unable to gain admittance. The enthusiasm with which the play is nightly received is the best evidence of its enduring popularity. So familiar is the public with every function of the famous melodrama that any detailed description of the play is needless. There is not a dull line in the piece from beginning to end, and the interest of an audience is sustained all through the performance. Judged by the experience of the past month crowded houses will continue the rule to the end of this long and exceptionally brilliant engagement.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE—The management of this theatre announce for the week commencing Nov. 19, a grand revival of the perennially popular play, "East Lynne." Miss Ada Gray will appear in the roles of Lady Isabel and Mrs. Vane. Miss Gray is a native Bostonian and is well known to hosts of theatre goers personally as well as in connection with "East Lynne." In the parts of Lady Isabel and Mrs. Vane, Miss Gray has been seen in this country more than 2000 times in addition to enjoying the distinction of having played the parts for a fifteen weeks' season in London. Next week's production of the popular play at the Grand Opera House will be made by the management a notable one, and to that end a special scenic equipment will be given the piece, and the cast engaged is an exceptionally strong one. Following the engagement of "East Lynne" at the Grand Opera House, that untimely Irish comedian, Billy Barry, will present "The Rising Generation." The Owl Club of South Boston have made arrangements whereby the performance of "Colonial Hall" at the Grand Opera House on the evening of Dec. 4th, will be given for their benefit.

NEW LYCEUM THEATRE—"Bob" Fitzsimmons, who is matched against James J. Corbett for the Championship of the World, is to pay Boston a visit next week, and he will be accompanied by his high-class and novel vaudeville company. They will stop at the new Lyceum Theatre, where every day, afternoon and evening, they will present an entertainment. Fitzsimmons will give an exhibition in many art with his trainer, Con. Reardon. The Fitzgibbons family will present their unique musical comedy, Little Joe Perry, the eight year old child wonder, will appear in recitations, songs and fancy dances. Howley and Doyle, champion dancers; Gordon and Lick, originators of musical comedy; Barron and Forrest, descriptive vocalists and authors; John R. Hart, the original juggling waiter; Joe. Hardman, the eccentric comedian; Nelly Franklin, the English singing scoubette; William E. Whittle, the ventriloquist, and many entertainers will contribute to the performance.

"Nothing venture, nothing have." Rev. John Reid, Jr., of Great Falls, Mont., recommended Ely's Cream Balm to me. I can emphasize his statement. "It is a positive cure for catarrh if used as directed."—Rev. Francis W. Poole, Pastor Central Presbyterian Church, Helena, Mont. It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and is worth its weight in gold. I can use Ely's Cream Balm with safety and it does all that is claimed for it.—B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

NONANTUM.

—Mr. Battles' house on Bridge street is being remodelled for his occupancy.

—Mrs. George W. Billings of California street is seriously ill.

—The interior of the St. Elmo Hall on Bridge street is being painted. Mr. Davidson is the decorator.

—Mr. Alexander Blue's house on California street is rapidly nearing completion and will be occupied next month.

—A new carriage shed is being erected at hose eight station. Mr. R. J. Morrissey is the builder.

—Little Freddie Holmes of Adams street, who was bitten by a dog belonging to Mr. Clare of Bennington street, is recovering.

—Miss Margaret Harding, well known here, was sentenced to one year in the Woman's Prison at Sherburn for drunkenness.

—Mr. William Grace, the druggist, has started a new store in Cambridge. Mr. Frank Page of Watertown street will have charge of it.

—The many friends of Miss Etta Worth of Morse street will be sorry to learn that she is confined to her home with a serious illness.

—The King's Daughters of the North Evangelical church met Thursday evening at the residence of Miss Goldie Roy of Bridge street. The young ladies are working diligently for their fair to be given sometime before Christmas.

—St. Elmo Division Sons of Temperance received a visit from members of the Minerva Lodge of Cambridge last Wednesday evening. An excellent musical program was rendered and a fine supper served. A number of speeches were made and the visit was thoroughly enjoyed by both the visitors and their hosts.

—An old man driving along Watertown street Wednesday afternoon was snowed by some hoodlums. He stopped his horse and pursued them, whip in hand, and administered a severe thrashing. This treatment though rather severe seems to be the only preventative for such so-called sport.

—A lively dog fight took place Monday afternoon corner of Dalby and Watertown streets, between two dogs, one the property of Michael Lee and the other of Joseph Murphy. The fight which was witnessed by a large crowd, was decidedly for blood, and lasted about twenty minutes. Mr. Albert Denkes in trying to separate them had three fingers of his left hand severely bitten. He was attended by Dr. O'Donnell.

—What might have proved a sad fatality was narrowly averted last Monday afternoon. Two boys named respectively Willie Pendergast and James Welch were skating on Silver Lake when the ice which was decidedly thin gave way and both youths went into the water. Welch succeeded in reaching the shore but Pendergast was unable to swim. James Farrell and William Welch hastened to the rescue and procuring a small boat tried to render him some assistance. The boat was leaky and sunk. After strenuous efforts the men rescued Pendergast from his predicament. The boy was in the water thirty-five minutes and has been confined to his home ever since the accident. The men that saved him deserve great credit for their presence of mind.

WABAN.

—Mr. J. A. Morse has returned from a business trip in Maine.

—Mr. J. W. Heaton is entertaining his brother, Dr. Heaton of Syracuse, N. Y.

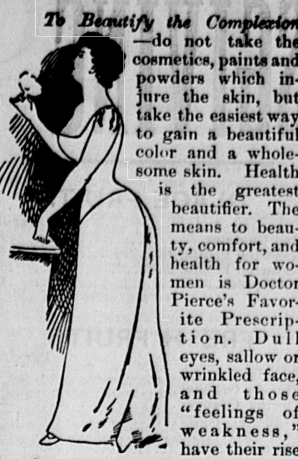

—Miss Waterman is the guest of Miss Gertrude L. Smith.

—Mr. Amasa Gould entertains the Young People's Whist Club tonight (Friday).

—Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Campbell entertained the Whist Club last Tuesday evening very delightfully. It might be added incidentally that the usual storm made its appearance.

—In spite of the severe storm of Thursday last week, quite a large company of people attended the social for which Mrs. Sheple so hospitably opened her home. The affair was a decided success both from a financial and social point of view, and many thanks are due Mrs. Sheple and her assistants for so successfully conducting this affair.

—It has been decided by the conductors of the poor children's club, to vary the course pursued last year by forming a singing school. Mr. Buffum kindly offered his services as director, when he heard of this plan, and the first attendance was an encouraging one to all interested. About sixty were present at its first meeting last Monday night, including as well the young people of Waban. An order to make the matter of some interest to each individual, it was decided to hold one or two concerts during the winter to which the people of Waban and vicinity were invited to attend, and see the progress made in the work.

To Beautify the Complexion

—do not take the cosmetics, paints and powders which injure the skin, but take the easiest way to gain a beautiful color and a wholesome skin. Health is the greatest beautifier. The means to beauty, comfort, and health for women is Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Dull eyes, sallow or wrinkled face, and those "feelings of weakness," have their rise in the derangements peculiar to women.

"Favorite Prescription" will build up, strengthen, and invigorate, every "run-down" or delicate woman by regulating and assisting all the natural functions. It also lessens pain.

At some period in her life, a woman requires a general tonic and nerve, as well as a remedy adapted to her special needs.

You can find no other remedy that's guaranteed. If the "Prescription" ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

A positive cure for Catarrh—you'll find in Dr. Sage's Remedy. There's $500 reward for an incurable case.

—It is proposed to finish the first and second sections of the Commonwealth avenue boulevard, if possible, this fall. The first section, from the Boston line to Hammond street, is now practically completed. The roadways on the section lying between Hammond street and Centre are now being macadamized, and it is expected that the boulevard will be opened as far as Centre street within a few weeks.

—An autumn fair for the benefit of Trinity church will be held in Associates' Hall, corner of Centre and Pelham streets, on Wednesday evening and Friday afternoon and evening, Nov. 21-4 and 22. Admission 15 cents and 10 cents. Supper will be served on Thursday evening from 6 to 8 o'clock. It is expected that the Village Orchestra will furnish music on Wednesday evening.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Fennessy gave their first at home at their residence, Clark street, Wednesday evening. They received friends from the Newtons, Cambridge, Boston and elsewhere. A delegation of Mr. George Richardson's employees were present. They gave the young couple a handsome marble clock, Mr. Richardson's gift was a handsome hat tree, and other presents consisted of silverware, paintings and bric-a-brac. After the social greetings a collation was served.

—"A Newton Centre reader" wrote last week with right, true pride and loyalty regarding the sheds on Bowen street. Such kindly, generous reasoning would disarm any critic, had the item of a previous week been for the purpose of criticism instead of being, as it was, a plain record of impressions gained in passing the location named. However, the gentle rebuke embodied in last week's reply is probably deserved and is accepted in due humility by the rebuked, who is also a Newton Centre reader of the GRAPHIC and likes the fine sentiment throughout said reply and the good point scored against the dump.

—The Newton A. A. is making arrangements for a fair to be given in Bray's Hall in December 13, 14, 15 and 16. It will be a notable event of the character continuing two or three days and nights. Its object, of course, is to raise funds for the proposed new building. The smart set is taking hold of the project with commendable enthusiasm and it will doubtless be a big success. A committee of about thirty members covering all parts of the city has the undertaking in charge and will put forth every effort for its success. Goods of all kinds will be for sale. Refreshments will be served and several special features will be introduced. Music will be furnished for dancing the latter part of each evening.

—At the Republican Caucus held here, Tuesday evening, Mr. R. H. Gardner was chosen chairman, Mr. H. H. Read, secretary. The vote for choice of chairman was J. W. Parker, 65; H. D. Degen, 121; W. Parker and F. N. Butts were nominated for the caucus and these delegates to the mayor alty convention chosen: A. C. Walworth, A. L. Rand, E. H. Mason, C. C. Perry, Samuel Ward. The following resolutions were passed: The Republicans of Ward 6, in convention assembled, desire to put on record their thorough appreciation of the

—The second entertainment of the Highland Club course was given at Lincoln hall on Wednesday evening, by the Megatherian Minstrels. They were greeted by a large audience and gave a very satisfactory concert.

—At the Republican Caucus held on Tuesday evening, in Stevens Hall, which was largely attended, for the nomination of candidates for Councilmen, Mr. Freeman Hutchinson of the Highlands, and Mr. Lewis P. Everett of Upper Falls, were the nominees. The delegates chosen to attend the city convention were all in favor of the nomination of Mr. Thomas White for Alderman.

—At the Congregational church the following music will be rendered next Sunday:

MORNING.
"The grace of God that bringeth Salvation."
"I'm a Pilgrim."
EVENING VESPERS, Jubilate.
"Abide with me."
"Call to remembrance."
Soprano solo, "As pants the heart."

—The Ladies' Society of the M. E. church, met on Wednesday afternoon. Plans were made for the annual December sale. As the society has been holding its meetings since last spring, on the second Wednesday of each month, the sale will occur this year on the second Wednesday of December. A special effort will be made to raise money toward the church debt. All friends interested to contribute are invited to give to the homes of Mrs. H. E. Durgin or Mrs. Richard Whight.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS.

—Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Nutter of Pennsylvania avenue are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter.

—Mr. Jeremiah O'Neil of Boylston street returned Wednesday from a most enjoyable trip to Jacksonville, Florida.

—The many friends of Mr. Florence Crowley will be glad to learn that he is able to be out again, and will soon return to work.

—Mr. Thomas Burke of Worcester street lost a valuable horse last Monday. The Brighton abattoir team was telephoned for and removed it.

—It seems rather early for skating, nevertheless quite a number enjoy this exhilarating sport on New Pond. The ice is reported to be two inches thick.

—Wednesday evening last a pipe connecting the boiler and engine of the Newton Rubber Works, burst. The employees were forced to take a voluntary vacation of about 7 hours.

—Dr. C. D. S. Lovell, formerly of this village, has been called to New York, Thursday evening to a young society lady of that place. A number of our residents received cards.

—The main shaft of Mr. Daniel Shea's glue factory broke last Wednesday morning, and necessitated a shut down. The shaft was repaired and work will soon be resumed.

—A new house being erected on Worcester street, Wellesley Hills, close to the Newton line, caught fire Saturday night at 10.30 p. m. The house is situated on a lonely part of the road, and the fire is thought to be the work of an incendiary.

—The semi-annual inspection of the Echo Bridge council, Royal Arcanum, will be held next Wednesday evening, at their hall on High street. The lodge will be visited by District Deputy James Riley of Boston.

—Mr. Charles Chambers, a wellknown resident, has purchased a handsome new hunting outfit, preparatory to a trip to the woods of Maine. Mr. Chambers leaves tonight for Moosehead Lake, where he will hunt deer. His many friends wish him best luck.

—At the new Petee machine works, Sunday afternoon, Charles McAshee, carpenter, 28 years of age, fell from the second story window to the ground, a distance of about 15 feet. He was taken up in an unconscious condition and attended by Dr. Thompson, and later was taken to the Cottage Hospital. It was found that he had sustained serious injuries about the head, and internal injuries are feared. The place where he fell was only 10 feet from the place where Jeremiah Kelly of Somerville was killed a week ago.

NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

—Mr. and Mrs. Harrington are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Baker during their brief stay here.

—Mr. Glennan, superintendent at Bishop's paper mill, now has a successor in that position.

—The afternoon session at the Hamilton school has been changed to 1.30 to 3.30 p. m., instead of 2 to 4 p. m. as formerly.

—The citizens here are pleased to have Mr. John Carroll stationed at his old quarters. Active citizens have protested against his removal to West Newton, especially during the winter season.

—A lecture course has been arranged to take place Monday evenings at the M. E. church as follows: Nov. 19, Dec. 3, Dec. 10, Dec. 17, and including Feb. 4. The subjects for lecture, and those to deliver the discourses are sufficient to encourage local audiences for both instruction and entertainment.

—The Wellesley Fire Dept. were called out to extinguish a newly built, but not completed dwelling house on New Pond road, Saturday evening. There was no hydrant within half a mile of the building, and a total loss resulted.

—Wm. McAnespey fell from the new building being erected at the Petee Machine works at the Upper Falls, while at work last Sunday afternoon, and was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition, but is now recovering rapidly. He fell from the second story, a distance of 15 feet, and near the spot where a Somerville carpenter named James Kelliher, was killed by falling, two weeks ago. Six workmen have fallen from the building since its erection was started.

Newton Horticultural Society.

The annual meeting of the society was held at the office of J. F. C. Hyde, Saturday, Nov. 10th. The officers elected to serve the coming year were Pres., D. D. Slade; vice-pres., J. H. Woodford and E. W. Wood; sec'y, L. H. Farlow; treas., A. T. Sylvester; auditor, W. H. Gould; ex-comm., Messrs. Slade, J. H. Farlow, W. C. Strong, C. W. Ross and L. H. Farlow.

The secretary read a report of the Tent Caterpillar committee showing that over 57,000 belts had been brought to the committee. The largest collection was that of P. C. Barton of 14,000 belts to whom the capital prize of $10 was awarded.

In answer to a circular sent out asking for financial aid $135.50 was contributed and the society's thanks are tendered to the following persons for their generous contributions:

Mrs. Mary T. Goddard, Samuel Ritchie, H. W. Wellington, G. A. Farlow, E. E. Hardy, Hon. L. Salmonstall, D. H. Andrews, Mrs. Mary B. Whiting, Hon. John Lowell, A. J. Caswell, J. C. Braham, F. W. Lee, W. G. Weeks, Jr., Lisell Seminary, W. D. Brewer, G. L. Lovett, Edward Sawyer, A. D. Wainwright, Mrs. S. G. Souder, J. H. Sawyer, Edith Page, H. F. King, H. C. Ferry, Rev. D. L. Furber, J. A. Feno, Rev. E. N. Peloubet, E. L. Pickard, W. H. Pulsifer, W. S. Wait, F. W. Trowbridge, E. F. Billings, Asahel Wheeler, Reuben Ford, G. S. Ballen, J. W. French, A. W. Benton, Samuel Ward, G. W. Homans, F. W. Yman, W. G. Bell, C. H. Smith, Horatio King and a few others who were too modest to give in their names.

In addition to the $67.05 paid out, as enumerated above, the sum of $40.46 was spent in printing, envelopes, postage, etc., leaving a balance of $21.90. The society instructed its committee to purchase, with the balance of moneys contributed in different years, the necessary apparatus for spraying the trees and shrubs with Paris green, London purple and the like. Due notice will be given later of the arrangements which the committee may perfect.

For a pain in the side or chest there is nothing so good as a piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on over the seat of pain. It affords prompt and permanent relief and if used in time will often prevent a cold from resulting in pneumonia. This same treatment is a sure cure for lame back. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. W. Keyes, Abundance; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

"Nothing venture, nothing have."

Rev. John Reid, Jr. of real Falls, Mon., recommended Ely's Cream Balm to me. I can emphasize his statement. "It is a positive cure for catarrh if used as directed."—Rev. Francis W. Poole, Pastor Central Free, church, Helena, Mont.
It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and is worth its weight in gold. I can use Ely's Cream Balm with safety and it does all that is claimed for it.—B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

—A special meeting of the Hunnewell Hill Improvement Society was held Monday afternoon in the office of the Newton & Watertown Gas Company. The meeting favored widening Washington street from Park street to its junction with Watertown street at West Newton, and the consensus of opinion seemed to be that any widening to less than 100 feet would be poor economy. The resolutions also called for the taking of all the land on the south side of the street between the square at Newton and Church street, and advocated reserving a space for electric car tracks south of the southern sidewalk on Washington street, and abutting on the tracks of the Boston &

Albany railroad. A committee, of which Mr. Walter U. Lawson is chairman, was appointed to present the resolutions to the board of aldermen.

—Get prices at Newton City Market before buying your Thanksgiving dinner.

—Mrs. M. S. M. Kenrick, the mother of City Treasurer John A. Kenrick, celebrated her 84th birthday on Tuesday, at the Kenrick homestead on Waverley avenue. She received many letters of congratulations from absent relatives and friends, and many boxes and bouquets of flowers. During the day a large number of neighbors, friends and relatives called to wish her many happy returns of the day.

—The chairman of the committee of the Men's Club, connected with Grace church, sent out to the various members of that body a preamble, constitution and by-laws, asking for suggestions relative to any changes prior to its adoption. It has been carefully drawn up by the chairman, Mr. A. F. Brown, and seems to provide for every necessary requirement of government.

—The change in the time table on the Boston & Albany, which came so unexpectedly this week, caused a good deal of stir among the daily travellers to Boston, on account of the great number of changes. The south side of the city has been favored with a number of faster trains, but more for this side of Newton would have been welcome. The two last evening trains have been put ten minutes later, and there is now no train between 10.10 and 11.02, which is not a popular change.

—The first of the series of lectures on "The Religions of the World" was given at the Unitarian church in Marlborough last Sunday evening, when Rev. G. W. Shinn, D. D., delivered his lecture on "Why I am an Episcopalian." The church, which is the largest in town, was crowded to overflowing, and many people were unable to obtain even standing room. Dr. Shinn gave reason for his theological views: Because he believed in the apostolic succession of his church; because it suited his aesthetic tastes; because it was the church from which all other denominations sprung. He spoke for an hour and a quarter, and held the close attention of his audience.

—At the Read fund lecture Wednesday evening in Eliot Hall, the young people in the audience proved a disturbing element. They managed to make a great deal of noise and annoyed listeners by those stage whispers one can hear a wonderfully long distance. The lecture was by Prof. Fernow on "The Battle of the Forests." The majority of people who attend the Read fund course go for entertainment and instruction, and consequently, complaints have come to hand about the unruly boys. The idea of the donor in providing the lectures was to give useful information free to the public and it is not reasonable to permit that intent to be interfered with. The committee of the city council will take steps that will prevent any further annoyance from the source mentioned and hereafter it says no one will be disturbed.

—Seven young men from the Lynn Y. M. C. A. gymnasium gave an exhibition in Nonantum Hall last evening under the auspices of the local Y. M. C. A. Features were a dumb bell drill by John, a work on horizontal bar and high kicking by Chesley and Weeman, fine club swinging by Barrett; class work on the parallel bars and special work on same by Reynolds and tumbling by Hoffman and Corbett. The latter was very clever. Weeman kicked 9 feet and jumped 5 at the conclusion of the show. Now, what is wanted is a suitable gymnasium for the boys here.

—Dr. John G. Bowker lectured in the course under the auspices of Mt. Ida Council, R. A., in Eliot Hall, last evening. He was greeted by a large and friendly audience and retained its interest throughout his eloquent picturing of Japan, its people and its progress. He said that in the war between the Japs and the Chinese, the former had in view the capturing of the island, subjugated by the Tartars and supposed to be a spot where great treasure had been stored. He spoke of the admirable military training of the Japanese army and paid a high compliment to the intelligence of the people. The women, he referred to as very graceful and beautiful. Japan had progressed more in the last 50 years, the lecturer said, than China in 1000 years.

—On Wednesday at high noon, at Grace church, Mrs. Jennie M. Babcock was married to Dr. Archer D. Babcock of Syracuse, N. Y. Rev. Dr. Shinn officiated and although no invitations were issued there were present a large number of friends of this city and vicinity. The church was decorated with palms and yellow and white chrysanthemums, tied with white satin ribbon, and the mass of beautiful flowers, arranged by Morey, had a beautiful effect. Mr. H. B. Day presided at the organ and rendered appropriate selections, while the company was assembling. The bride entered the church leaning on the arm of Mr. C. J. Bailey, and was met at the church steps by Rev. Dr. Shinn and the bridegroom, who came from the vestry. The bride was given away by her mother, Mrs. Oldrieve, and a beautiful bouquet of flowers was presented to her. There were no ushers or attendants. The bride wore a very handsome tailor-made gown of blue-gray covert cloth, trimmed with dark blue velvet, and a bonnet of dark blue velvet to match, with white roses, and carried a bouquet of white roses. After the ceremony Dr. and Mrs. Babcock left for Boston where the wedding breakfast was served at the Adams House, the guests being the bride's mother and a small party of intimate friends. They left the same night for their new home in Syracuse, where Dr. Babcock has a large practice, and has a house fitted up for their reception. Next week the father and mother of Dr. Babcock, who reside at Morrisville, a short distance from Syracuse, will give a large reception in their honor. They received a large number of handsome presents from friends in this city and elsewhere. Mrs. Babcock leaves a large circle of friends in Newton and vicinity, who wish her every happiness in her new home.

VERY FINE EXHIBIT.

NEWTON CAMERA CLUB SHOWS WORK OF A HIGH ORDER OF EXCELLENCE.

The third annual exhibition of the Newton Camera Club which opened in Eliot Hall, Tuesday evening is one of the most extensive and interesting ever given in this vicinity.

All the prominent camera clubs of the state were invited to send exhibits, and the work of some of the most successful amateurs is included in the collection.

There were over 800 photographs on exhibition and nearly 50 exhibitors. Two sets of prizes were awarded, one for club members and one for out-of-town exhibitors.

The prizes were awarded last evening. The judges were C. F. Pierce, the animal painter; Daniel Strain, the portrait artist, Dr. Butterfield, E. J. Foss of Malden, and W. A. French of the Boston Camera Club.

The following was the list of the exhibitors: Portraits, F. W. Sprague, H. B. Pearson of Boston, E. E. Snyder, E. B. Hitchcock, W. E. Peabody, Miss Blackwell, R. R. Andrews, Charles E. Lord, landscapes, Edward Stockin, W. E. Pierce, John Greenwood, E. W. Sprague, Walter Swift of Wellesley Hills, W. H. Gilbert, E. B. Hitchcock, E. E. Snyder, H. E. Johnson, Dr. T. F. Grant of Boston, W. S. Kilburn, W. E. Peabody and Miss Marion Lord; open landscapes, Miss Blackwell, Herbert Benson, R. R. Andrews, H. B. Pearson, and H. E. Pierce; snap shots, W. H. Bent, W. H. Pierce, F. W. Sprague, E. B. Hitchcock, A. E. Gilbert, T. F. Grant; interiors, H. E. Johnson, W. S. Kilburn, H. F. Guild, Dr. Anderson of Boston; enlargements, E. E. Snyder, F. W. Sprague, C. E. Peabody, E. B. Hitchcock, W. W. C. Pierce; R. R. Andrews, H. B. Pearson, H. E. Guild, W. Sprague, E. B. Hitchcock, T. F. Grant, Miss Fitz of Boston, C. S. Young and H. R. Heckman.

The exhibit far exceeded that of last year and some of the work shown could hardly be improved on. Mr. Charles E. Lord's collection of cabinet portraits, and landscapes attracted a great deal of attention and admiration. There was a finely executed cabinet of Miss Blanche Rice, some child's heads and a number of excellent groups. A good likeness of Rev. F. B. Hornbrooke was noted by many visitors. Mr. F. W. Sprague 2nd exhibited a photo of a child that was pronounced a perfect piece of work by the judge. The star picture of the entire collection was shown by E. Stockin of Watertown in the landscape class—a boy fishing in a tub. Mr. E. E. Snyder had some excellent examples of bromide enlargements, including pictures of a dog, the bridge in Billings Park and Eliot church.

The prizes were awarded as follows: Club competition (for members only)—Portraiture, first prize, Charles E. Lord; second, W. E. Peabody; third, F. W. Sprague; 2d; landscapes, first prize, E. Stockin; second, Charles E. Lord; third, F. W. Sprague; 2d; marines, first prize, H. F. Guild; second, F. W. Sprague; 2d; third, E. B. Hitchcock.

Open competition—Portraiture, first prize, Horace B. Pearson of Boston; second, Charles E. Lord; third, W. E. Peabody; landscapes, first prize, E. Stockin; second, Charles E. Lord; third, H. F. Guild; marines, first prize, A. F. Gilbert; second, F. W. Sprague; 2d; third, Horace B. Pearson.

Hand camera work—First prize, A. F. Gilbert; second, W. H. S. Pearce; third, Dr. C. F. Grant.

Enlargements—First prize, E. E. Snyder; second, F. W. Sprague; 2d; honorable mention to Miss Emma J. Fitz of BRONSON-PIERCE.

WEDDING OF MISS SUSAN HALL PIERCE AND REV. DILLON BRONSON.

Mr. Silas Pierce, president of the Boston National Bank, gave a large reception at his residence, No. 434 Columbus avenue, Boston, Wednesday evening, in honor of the marriage of his daughter, Susan Hall, and Rev. Dillon Bronson, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of this city.

The ceremony, which took place at 7.30 o'clock, was witnessed by the relatives and more intimate friends of the family. As the Germania Orchestra played the conventional "Lohengrin March," the bride party passed down the drawing room to the rear, where the bridegroom and his best man, Rev. Charles Brown of Charlestown, waited with the officiating clergyman, Rev. W. W. Ramsay, pastor of Tremont Street M. E. church and Bishop Foster.

The ushers, Messrs. Eugene E. Partridge, Amos Leavitt, G. E. Pratt, George Bronson, brother of the bridegroom, and A. Weed, led the way, followed by the bridesmaids, Miss Julia Evans and Miss Myra Hall Nichols, niece of the bride, the last named also acting as maid of honor. Miss Nichols was dressed in pink satin and carried a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums, while Miss Evans wore pale green satin, her bouquet being of white chrysanthemums.

Preceding the bride were two little flower girls, Miss Elizabeth and Mildred Pierce, nieces of the bride, the former in blue satin and the latter in yellow satin, covered with white chiffon. They carried baskets of pink and white roses, which they strewed in the bride's pathway.

The bride was attended and given away by her father, and was gowning in white satin duchesse, en traice, the high corsage trimmed with elegant duchesse and point lace. The tulle veil was fastened with lilies of the valley, the bouquet of the same sweet blossoms.

Rev. and Mrs. Bronson will make an extended trip to California, and will be at home Jan. 24 and 31, and Feb. 7, at No. 434 Columbus avenue, Boston.

A Ward Two Grievance.

To the readers of the Newton Graphic:

The approach of cold weather aggravates a grievance that has been endured in silence by so many that the spirit has finally moved me to protest, however ineffectually.

As long as the community on the north side in Ward Two will make a lap for the school committee to sit on, just so long will the committee, or those in authority, contentedly repose in said lap and congratulate themselves on the ease with which their plans were carried out, with only the exception of an occasional unreported and futile objection on the part of some exasperated, but helpless mother.

It is a curiously inconsistent rule, which while allowing certain residents on the north side to send their children to the Clafin school, forbids other to do so, on the plea of its "not being in the district," but at the same time forces them to go out of their district at the pleasure of the committee or those in authority.

It was bad enough when the Adams school was burned to be put to so much serious domestic inconvenience, but we endured it hoping the fall would bring us better arrangements. But here is winter and we are to be obliged to either force our children to a long cold walk or depend on electric, which as every one knows are a very unsatisfactory winter conveyance, and moreover there are parents who do not feel that they should pay car fares, when other accommodations nearer at hand might have been furnished. (I refer to the kindergarten quarters in the Adams school.)

It is impossible to refrain from criticising the judgment of those who consider a kindergarten of more importance than the comfort of children, who are at an age where their education should be placed before that of the babies who could stay at home a little while longer.

We cannot help thinking that if the members of the school board, or those in authority, had young children of an age to go to the Eliot school a different arrangement would have been made at the opening of the fall term.

I repeat it is a curiously inconsistent rule that prevents our doing as we want to, when we want to, but makes us do it when we don't want to.

APPROPRIATION BUDGET AGAIN.

IT IS CONSIDERED BY THE ALDERMEN AND THE AGGREGATE SUM REDUCED FROM $846,010 TO $841,810—STREET RAILWAY HEARING—WEST NEWTON SCHOOLHOUSE ORDER—APPOINTMENTS BY THE MAYOR—ROUTINE MATTERS.

An important meeting of the board of aldermen was held Monday evening, Mayor Fenno in the chair. Various matters of importance came up, including a hearing on the petition of the Newton & Watertown Street Railway Company for locations for extending its tracks through Watertown and Washington streets and of the Newton & Boston Street Railway Company for permit to cross the tracks of the Boston & Albany R. R. at grade at Walnut street; the order providing for the purchase of a lot of land located on Elm, Webster streets and Oak avenue; the appropriation budget of 1895, numerous orders, petitions, and a large amount of routine business.

The first business was that of appointments by the mayor. He read the resignation of Mr. Nathan Mosman as city almoner and overseer of the poor, following it with the appointment of Mr. S. S. Whitney to fill the vacancy, the board having voted to accept Mr. Mosman's resignation. Mr. Whitney was confirmed. The following appointments made by the mayor were also confirmed: George P. Hatch, weigher of merchandise and wood; H. W. Nichol, foreman Engine Two company, vice F. H. Humphrey, promoted assistant chief of the fire department; George F. Saunders, assistant foreman Engine Two company.

Concurrent papers were next considered. It was voted to temporarily lay the order on the table appropriating $846,010 for department expenditures of 1895.

The adjourned hearing on the petition of the Newton & Watertown Street Railway Co. for certain locations through Washington and Watertown streets and of another company to cross the Boston & Albany Railroad at grade over Walnut street was opened. Mr. Parker, president of the street railway company, said that Mr. Hoar, counsel for the Boston & Albany railroad, was not present and that it would seem best, therefore, to again postpone the hearing. So far as the railroad is concerned, said Mr. Parker, it is ready to go on with it. Supt. Holmes of the Newton & Watertown Gas Light Company said that there was a matter which the company desired to make a statement in connection with the petition of the street railway company. Mr. J. B. Goodrich, said he was prepared to appear in the interests of the gas company, but apparently had been delayed. On motion of Alderman Bothfield, the hearing was postponed until Dec. 17.

A petition from S. E. Howard, et al, for a cross walk on Hunter street was referred to the committee on highways. Alderman Bothfield presented the resolutions of the Garden City Improvement Society: "Whereas, the grade crossing act of 1890 does not provide for sufficient protection for the welfare of our city and its inhabitants, Resolved, That it is in the interests of the City Council to cause the next Legislature for the enactment of such amendments to the grade crossing laws, that when applied to Newton, it will give its mayor and aldermen power to protect the interests of the city and the welfare of the public.

Resolved, That further action by the City Council on the petition of a commission under the existing grade crossing law would jeopardize the interests of the city and its inhabitants, and that action should be suspended until the inequalities of these laws, as applied to the city, are removed.

Alderman Bothfield presented the following resolutions and the same were received and filed: Resolved, That it is the sentiment of the Hunnewell Hill Improvement Society that Washington street should be widened upon its southerly side, beginning at Park street and extending to the Albany railroad crossing in Ward Three, and that land from the northerly side should be taken only where it is absolutely necessary in obtaining a width not less than 100 feet.

Resolved, That in widening that part of Washington street lying in Ward Three, the city should take all of the land east of Channing tunnel to Cole's block and such part of Cole's block as may be necessary to make the street at that point not less than 100 feet in width.

Resolved, That we desire to urge the location of all electric or other passenger tracks to the Newton & Boston street, the city should take all of the land east of Channing tunnel to Cole's block and such part of Cole's block as may be necessary to make the street at that point not less than 100 feet in width.

Resolved, That we desire to urge the location of all electric or other passenger tracks to the Newton & Boston street, the city should take all of the land east of Channing tunnel to Cole's block and such part of Cole's block as may be necessary to make the street at that point not less than 100 feet in width.

An order was adopted, subject to existing ordinances and regulations, granting locations to the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company for poles and wires on Willard street and on Washington and Chestnut streets.

At this point, Alderman Thompson announced that Mr. Hoar, counsel for the Boston & Albany Railroad Company, was present. He moved, therefore, that the hearing on the petition of the Newton & Boston Street Railway Company for certain locations be reopened. The board so voted. Mr. Horace B. Parker, president of the street railway company, stated that he had consulted with some of the members of the board of aldermen and had decided to allow the opposition to be represented by the petitioner to present its case at a later date.

Mr. Hoar appeared representing the Boston & Albany railroad. He commenced by saying that it was rather an unusual position to present a case in opposition before that of the petitioner. This, said he, is the third or fourth time an attempt has been made to get a location across our tracks in this city. I am happy to state, he continued, that the good sense of the city council has prevailed and such location up to the present time has not been granted. I shall call your attention at the start to a little geography. The street railway company states that it is to commence in Newtonville square and extend its tracks northerly across the tracks. Now, I am a little in doubt as to what is comprised in Newtonville square. I find that it abuts on Washington street and lies between that thoroughfare and the tracks of the Boston & Albany railroad. I do not see how they can commence in the square and go northerly across the tracks if the square does not extend beyond the B. & A. tracks on the south side. It is always stipulated in granting a charter for a steam railroad, where it is proposed to run across the tracks of any other railroad, that it should be definitely stated at what point it is proposed to begin, so as to show beyond per adventure that the intent is to cross over tracks already laid. I was informed by Mr. George W. Morse, when he was president of the Newton Street Railway Company, that through the organization of other street railways it could be arranged to get across the Boston & Albany railroad at Walnut street. The company of which Mr. Morse was president was organized under a special legislative enactment, and it was provided that it should not have the right to cross the tracks of the B. & A. at grade except with the consent of the railroad commissioners. Mr. Morse informed me that the city of Newton would grant to the street railway company anything that it desired. I stated at one of the hearings that Mr. Morse had made that statement to me and Mr. Morse did not get his location. As to the question of the city's granting the location of the Newton & Watertown and other companies, admitting that it has the power, it is to be hoped that it will not exercise it. I cannot conceive of any worse condition, involving danger to life, than that of running an electric street railway across four steam railroad tracks. I am satisfied that the street railway company would prefer some other way of connecting its lines north and south, through the city. The question of grade separation, however, being at present in such an unsettled state, it probably seems the only way in which it could bring about the connection desired.

The Boston & Albany Railroad corporation owns a large amount of property and has in charge the protection of the lives of a very large number of people every day. It is its duty to protect its patrons in every way possible. There would be a great deal of difficulty in the way of granting a location over one track, it becomes more hazardous where there are two and should be impossible where there are four. The Boston & Albany Railroad is ready to join hands with the city of Newton in solving this grade crossing question. I sincerely hope that soon some satisfactory arrangement will be brought about. There are only two places where we are having any trouble along the entire line. Those are Newton and Worcester. In the latter place, the difficulty in the way of progress is a political one; I don't know what the trouble in Newton is, possibly it is geographical.

I am at a loss to understand where the public necessity exists for the location over the tracks. Of course, it is for the city council to determine. That body must decide what the public interests require. If it considers the petition of the street railway company in that spirit, I have no doubt that it will do the right thing.

Alderman Bothfield—You stated, Mr. Hoar, that the Boston & Albany Railroad was ready to enter into any arrangement for the separation of the grades that might be mutually agreed upon. Does that mean that the railroad would be willing to entertain any other proposition looking toward a settlement of this grade problem than one providing for the elevation of the tracks?

Mr. Hoar—The road is not bound to any plan. Of course, it is supposed to know a little more about railroad business than those who have not had experience in such enterprises. The separating of the grades in Newton is a matter that has been gone over very carefully and elevation seemed most feasible, being favored, in fact, by two of your city governments. This question of granting a location over steam railroad tracks at grade don't depend at all upon whether the separation is accomplished by de Alderman Bothfield—Newton and Worcester, you say, are the only places where the railroad has experienced any difficulty in making a mutually satisfactory arrangement for separation? Has an arrangement been made with Natick?

Mr. Hoar—Yes. It is to be accomplished there by depression. There is no trouble about depression in a place where it can be done.

After replying to some further questions, Mr. Hoar pointed out some of the dangers to be feared from granting such a location as that asked for. He referred to the crossing of the tracks in Waltham, where an electric car smashed through the gates guarding the steam railroad on to the tracks in front of a freight train. There was a collision and two persons were injured. The accident, it was thought, was due to the pranks of the electric car. The car was carefully stopped and the motorman says that he did not put on the power. How the car started no one yet has been able to explain. You can't provide against these freaks of electricity. There have been accidents at both the Moody street and Beaver Brook crossings of the Fitchburg Railroad in Waltham because of collisions with electric cars crossing over the steam railway tracks.

At the conclusion of Mr. Hoar's remarks, Mr. John B. Goodrich, counsel for the Newton & Watertown Gas Light Company, was heard. He said that he appeared to request the board to provide in the granting of any additional locations to the street railway company that there must be no interference with existing wires and poles. The gas light company, said he, has experienced considerable trouble on account of the contact of the electric wire with the trolley wire. It has been avoided, but up to date the whole burden of expense has been borne by the gas company, the street railway people refusing to contribute one cent.

There is another matter which I desire to call to the attention of the city council. It relates to electrolysis, the term applied to an underground current of electricity that comes in contact with water and gas pipes and causes them to corrode. The gas pipes have been to some extent eaten and corroded in this way and some of the water pipes of the city have also been affected. Mr. Goodrich here exhibited some specimens of city water pipe that had been eaten and corroded in the manner described. Continuing, he said, I merely wish to leave this matter in this way, asking the city to make some investigation. I have no doubt that the street railway company would be willing to co-operate with the city in some plan for a remedy of this trouble. Perhaps I ought to say that the pipe shown here was taken from River street and comprises sections connecting the house with the water main. This difficulty in Cambridge, I understand, was overcome by putting up double overhead trolley wires.

President Parker of the street railway company requested permission to make a statement. His request being granted, he said that Mr. Goodrich was mistaken about the putting up of double trolley wires to remedy the difficulty of the contact of the electric wire with the trolley wire. He added, is a heavier copper bond to connect the rail. The trouble in Cambridge is due to the wet soil. In Newton, students have had experience of an unpleasant character with splinters driven through the soles of their slippers. I am sure necessary. If it is found later in the year that $15,000 is insufficient, it will be an easy matter to appropriate $5000 additional.

Alderman Thompson—The public property committee will require every dollar it has asked for. There are several buildings next year to be connected with sewers and others requiring new floors and repainting. The floor in the High school is in bad shape. Some of the where it is dry and gravelly, there is very little danger from electrolysis.

Mr. Goodrich—I have understood that there was a remedy that could be applied without much difficulty. I thought it proper to call the attention of the city council to this matter.

On motion of Alderman Bothfield the hearing was further postponed until December 17.

Following the hearing orders were adopted authorizing the laying out of Browning road from Oxford road to Parker street; authorizing the laying out of Suffolk road from Kingsbury street; Oxford road from Paul street to Browning road; appropriating $2550 from any unexpended balances to be added to the appropriations for these departments, poor out of almshouse, $1500; state aid, $300; parks and squares, $700.

Alderman Bothfield presented the following resolutions, adopted by the Ward Two Republican caucus, and the same were received and filed: Resolved, That the expression of the citizens of Ward Two in caucus assembled is that the aldermen and council use their influence to have Washington street widened on the north side and at the earliest possible moment. Also resolved—That it is the expression of the citizens of Ward Two in caucus assembled that the tracks of the Boston & Albany R. R. be depressed through the city of Newton.

A petition for a street lamp on Bridge street was referred to the committee on fuel and street lights, one for a concrete cross walk on Fairmount avenue was referred to the highway committee.

Alderman Bothfield presented a petition of C. F. Crehore and about 80 other residents of Newton Lower Falls requesting the city council to grant the location over the tracks of the Boston & Albany railroad asked for by the Newton & Watertown Street Railway Company.

The same was received.

An order was adopted appropriating $41,200 for department expenses of December.

The order appropriating $846,010 for department expenditures of 1895 was then, on motion of Alderman Bothfield taken from the table. The aldermen went into committee of the whole and considered the items serialim. Alderman Bothfield in the chair. The only items marked were those of public property and salary of aldermen. The committee recommended an appropriation of $16,000 increased by the common council to $20,000. I think, said he, that the amount should stand at $16,000. The public property committee will not have so many calls for repairs next year, he continued, some of the old buildings having been replaced by new ones. Engine Three house has been remodelled; the Adams and Claffin schoolhouses put in good condition and a new schoolhouse put up at Newton Highlands. That ought to mean a considerable saving in expenses for repairs. I am fully aware that $20,000 is not too much to expend for improvements in the public property department, but it was found necessary to trim everywhere in order to secure a reasonable tax rate and no increases should be made unless ab-

don't see how we can get along with less than $20,000. The estimate of the inspector of buildings for what was actually necessary was $22,000. We were unable this year to keep within our appropriation and if we had $50,000 for next year, it would not be too much to expend on buildings in the city. In fact, it would be in the interests of economy to do so.

Alderman Bothfield—Certainly $15,000 will be sufficient to run your department for six months. It is shown then that more will be required, an additional amount can be appropriated.

Alderman Thompson—I don't like this idea of repairing by piece meal. It is not the right way to do it and not in the interests of economy.

Alderman Hunt—I think that $15,000 would be sufficient to run the department for six months. It is an indispensable fact, however, that most of the buildings are in bad shape. The heating apparatus, too, is constantly giving out, calling for frequent expenditures. If, however, the next city government is as kindly disposed in the matter of increasing department appropriations where the necessity is obvious, I should be willing to accept Alderman Bothfield's view of the matter. After some further discussion, Alderman Hunt moved to make the item for public property $15,000 and the board so voted.

On the item for salary of milk inspector, Alderman Bothfield stated that the incumbent of that office, Dr. Arthur Hudson, was unwilling to longer continue in the place if the remuneration was not increased. He informs me, said he, that a great deal of labor is involved and that this year he expended $200 for instruments to facilitate his work of analysis. He wants $800, at least. I think, perhaps, he would consent to continue at a salary of $500 and I move to increase the item to that amount. He is a valuable man and it is for the interests of the city to retain him. The board voted to make the item for salary of milk inspector $500.

Alderman Plummer at this point brought up the items for assessors and clerical assistance in the assessors' department. He read a letter from Mr. C. A. Miner stating that if the amounts asked for were cut, the amount would be insufficient to meet actual expenses incurred. Mr. Miner thought it was a bad policy to attempt to economize by decreasing salary items necessary to carry along the work of the department. It was voted to increase the item for assistant assessors from $1600 to $1800 and the item for clerical assistance from $3000 to $3200.

At 8:55 o'clock the committee of the whole dissolved. The report of the same was presented by Alderman Bothfield, followed by the adoption of an order appropriating $341,310 for department expenses of 1895. The board cut down the total voted by the common council just $4200. It increased three items and cut down one. The cut was $5000 from the appropriation for the public property department and the increases figured up $800.

An order was passed in concurrence adopting the finance committee's estimate of receipts for 1895—$222,300; also an order providing for an appropriation of $18,700, under the special item for widening, said sum to be raised by a ten-year note.

An order was adopted authorizing the location of two oil lamps in Cherry place; two gas lamps on Edinboro; one oil lamp on Los Angeles street.

A petition for a street lamp opposite number 222 Park street from C. W. Loring, et al., was referred to the committee on street lighting.

On motion of Alderman Thompson, order 10798 was taken from the table. It is the famous school house land order which provides for the purchase of a lot bounded by Elm and Webster streets and Oak avenue. It has been amended since the refusal of the common council to non-concur so as to provide that the land over and above that required for the use of the school may be sold.

Alderman Bothfield said that he should not be able to vote for the order. The proviso concerning the sale of land, said he, meant nothing. It simply puts the matter in more palatable shape to the common council. The common council has considered it a number of times and refused to concur, and it seems to me that it would be useless to send it back again practically in the same form. The city solicitor is considering whether it is legal to purchase the land with intent to sell a portion thereof and provide for the payment by the issue of a note. He at one time, I understand, thought it was legal, but today he does not say so. Now for these two reasons I should be in favor of again laying the order on the table.

Alderman Thompson—If it was illegal to sell a portion of this land, I cannot understand why the city solicitor did not give us that information some time ago.

Alderman Roffe—I understand that the city solicitor's point is that there is a difference in selling land and buying land to sell again.

Alderman Plummer—I raised that point before. I don't think that we can raise money by note for a lot of land, a portion of which we intend to sell. Another thing, it seems clear to me that we cannot erect a school house on the site proposed without antagonizing a large number of people. I think it would be better for the public property committee to select another lot, one that would be more satisfactory to people on both sides of the track. That it seems to me would solve the difficulty.

Alderman Hunt pleasantly suggested that it might be a good plan to make the alderman from Ward 4 a committee of one to select the lot. After some further discussion, on motion of Alderman Bothfield, the order was referred to the city solicitor requesting him to give his opinion as to its legality in form drawn.

Alderman Rumery presented a petition of the call-men of the fire department asking for an increase of $100 per annum. The petition was received and referred to the fire committee of the next city government.

At 9:15 o'clock the board adjourned.

AMATEUR ATHLETIC EVENTS.

NEWTON A. A. ELEVEN WINS FROM LYNN—NICHOLS ITS STAR HALF-BACK HURT—HOPPY DEFEATS NEWTON HIGH—HOME AGGREGATION FAILED TO SCORE—GOSHIP CONCERNING VARIOUS SPORTS.

The Lynn foot ball eleven visited Newton Saturday and were defeated by the home players 20 to 0.

Lynn had the kick off, and Foster sent the ball to the Athletics' 20-yard line, where Nichols caught it and, aided by good interference, brought it back to the centre of the field. Sears was sent through right tackle and guard for a gain of three yards, and Johnson took four more through the same place. After Nichols had advanced six yards through left guard and tackle, Johnson struck the other side of the line and carried the ball 12 yards nearer goal before he was downed. A fumble then lost the Athletics eight yards and the ball, the visitors failed to advance the ball on three downs, and Foster dropped back to kick. The ball went low, however, and nothing was gained by the play. The ball was then given to Nichols, who broke through the centre and placed it on Lynn's 15-yard line. Another attack was made on the centre by Johnson over the line for a touchdown. Sears kicked the goal.

Foster kicked to the Athletic 25-yard line. In a series of short rushes Johnson got through the centre and placed the ball on Lynn's 15-yard line. Nichols next took the ball through left guard and tackle for the second touchdown for the home team. Sears failed on goal.

Nichols caught the ball on the kick-off on the Athletics' 5-yard line and advanced it 20 yards. Johnson tried the centre for a gain of five yards, and Nichols took 20 more around the left end. Johnson dashed through the centre and carried the ball to the visitors' 15-yard line before he was stopped. After Nichols had placed the ball within the 5-yard line it went to the Lynns on downs. Upp then made a pretty run around the left end for a gain of 30 yards. On the next rush the Lynns lost the ball, and Nichols carried it to the opponents' 20-yard line. At that point Nichols was hurt, and his place was taken by Barton, Fitz taking Barton's place in the line. Johnson was pushed over the line for another touchdown. Sears again failed in the attempt at goal. Time was called shortly after this with the ball in the centre of the field.

On the kick-off in the second half Foster caught and ran 20 yards before he was downed. Four attacks on the centre yielded nothing to the visitors, and the ball went to the Athletics on downs. Sears took eight yards through the centre, and then Johnson kicked. The visitors at this point improved wonderfully in their playing, and without once losing the ball carried it to the Athletics' 25-yard line. The Athletics got the ball on a fumble, however, and long runs by Barton and Sears carried it to the Lynn 25-yard line, where Barton carried it across for the fourth touchdown. Sears kicked the goal. It was then quite dark and the game was called.

Hopkinson and Newton. High lined up against each other last Friday afternoon on Soldier's field. Hopkinson won with ease, but the game was, nevertheless, very interesting. The result was a disappointment to the Newton supporters, who expected at least that their team would score. Newton had the ball in her opponents' territory a good deal of the time, but always lost it, sooner or later on downs. The game was one of the cleanest interscholastic contests of season.

The team play of Hopkinson was the most noticeable feature in the game. The interference was strong and kept close. Adams and Livermore played the best individual games. Stanwood's passing was excellent; he used good judgment and played pluckily. He was badly hurt at the beginning of the second half, but resumed play in a few minutes.

For Newton, Chase and Blake played the best game. Lee played strongly at centre, and tackled well. Paul held his position up well.

Women upon the Board of School Committee.

Twenty-six years since at a Republican town caucus of Newton, I had the pleasure of introducing a resolution that it was the policy of the Republicans of Newton to elect women upon the school board. After an interesting discussion pro and con in which the late Hon. David H. Mason, Rev. Francis Tiffany and the late Geo. E. Allen took part on the affirmative, the resolution was adopted.

Two years after, also at a Republican town caucus held at the Town House, West Newton, a nominating committee was appointed, of which the subscriber was chairman, which presented the names of four ladies, all of whom were elected without opposition.

At present, Newton with double the population of 1870, has but two women on the school board, yet so far as the writer is informed, their services have been exceptionally acceptable to and valued by the community, the teachers and the pupils.

Unlike many men, women rarely, if ever, seek such a position but rather shrink from it. That feeling is to be commended in men and in women. No words are required in advocacy of an increase of women on our Newton board by the intelligent voters of our city. There should be one able woman in each of our wards upon the committee.

NATH'L T. ALLEN.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

IT NOMINATES BOTHFIELD FOR MAYOR—PUTS UP TWO NEW CANDIDATES FOR SCHOOL BOARD—OPPOSITION CANDIDATES TO CITIZENS' NOMINEES FOR ALDERMEN IN WARDS TWO AND FIVE. ITS TICKET MADE UP PRACTICALLY AS ANTICIPATED.

The Republican Mayorality and Aldermanic Convention at City Hall, Tuesday evening, was a decidedly harmonious gathering, the only friction developed being over the choice of candidates for the school committee from Ward Two.

The delegates from Newtonville proposed to place in nomination two new men, and a lively discussion ensued over it, the idea of retiring Mrs. Mary R. Martin not being agreeable to some. All the candidates for the board of aldermen endorsed by the Ward Caucuses were nominated by acclamation.

The convention was called to order at 8 o'clock by Mr. E. B. Wilson of the Ward and City Committee. The organization was completed by the choice of William E. Sheldon as chairman and I. E. Nelson as secretary. A committee of credentials was appointed by the chair consisting of Geo. Bourne, J. Edward Hollis and E. H. Mason. They reported that all the wards were fully represented, 35 delegates being present.

The organization completed, Hon. Gorham D. Gilman rose and said, "I take great pleasure in presenting to the convention as a candidate for the mayorality, the name of a gentleman who has already received one nomination. The people of Newton have made our work easy, for with one unanimous voice they have called for the nomination of Alderman Bothfield. Mr. Bothfield has been a faithful, conscientious public servant in both grades of the city government and now we are ready to reward faithful service by calling him to step higher. I nominate Mr. Henry E. Bothfield of Ward Seven." On motion of Mr. Knight of Ward Two, the nomination was carried by acclamation.

Mr. G. D. Gilman and H. W. B. Dowse were appointed a committee of two to wait on Mr. Bothfield and request his presence.

On mounting the platform Alderman Bothfield was introduced by the chairman as the next mayor, and a shining example of the working of civil service reform.

Alderman Bothfield said in part: "I fully appreciate the honor you have conferred upon me, which I esteem the greater, inasmuch as it came unsolicited. It will be the endeavor of the next city government, if I may speak for it, to give the city a business administration. No regard will be paid to sections, but the endeavor will be to so serve the whole people that the greatest good will result."

The chairman next called for aldermanic nominations. The following names were presented by the chairman of the ward delegations, and were nominated by acclamation: Ward One, J. A. Hamilton; Ward Two, Louis E. Green; Ward Three, Geo. P. Bullard; Ward Four, Albert Plummer; Ward Five, Thomas E. White; Ward Six, Henry D. Degen; Ward Seven, Henry Tolman.

Willard G. Brackett and Lewis E. Coffin were nominated for the school committee from Ward One by acclamation.

Ward Two presented the names of James L. Richards and Charles F. Avery. Mr. Gilman of Ward Two thought the mature woman, Mrs. Mary R. Martin, who had represented the ward and the parents of the city, should be given a nomination. There should, he said, be another woman on the board with Mrs. Davis from Ward Three.

On motion of S. A. D. Sheppard the Ward Two nominations were laid on the table.

Mr. Knight of Ward Two said that Mr. Avery was a prominent business man of Boston, and had children in the Newton schools. He was in all respects a suitable man for the position. The school board at this time with the immense amount of money it was to spend should be made up of business men. He had nothing against Mrs. Martin, who was a very much overworked woman. There was a feeling in Newtonville that the children were overworked, and that a change in methods was necessary.

Mr. H. W. Parker said that the feeling in Ward Two was that business men were wanted on the school board. The change was wanted immediately. He thought the wishes of the ward should be respected by the convention.

Mr. Gilman thought twelve business men enough in the board. The mothers should be represented also.

Mr. H. F. Ross said that for 20 years Republican caucuses had respected the wishes of the ward delegations. The ward had been dissatisfied with its representation for three years, and a change was desired. Mr. Richards and Mr. Avery were the choice of the ward. Mr. A. F. Luke thought the wishes of the Ward Two delegation should be respected.

Mr. Samuels explained the business policy of the school board.

The nominations were then taken from the table, and were sustained by the convention by a vote of 20 to 4.

Mr. George Adams was nominated from Ward Four to fill the unexpired term of Colonel S. Ober, and at 8:50 the convention adjourned.

W. A. McGuire, a well known citizen of McKay, Ohio, is of the opinion that there is nothing as good for children troubled with colds or croup as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He has used it in his family for several years with the best results and always keeps a bottle of it in the house. After having a gripe he was himself troubled with a severe cough. He used other remedies without benefit and then concluded to try the children's medicine and to his delight it soon effected a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. W. Keves, Auburndale; B. B. Buck, New Centre; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

THE MAYORALTY.

Newton has the unusual distinction,
this year, of having only one candidate for the chief office in the city, for the reason that his fitness for the place was so apparent that he was selected by all parties. It is also a great honor for Alderman Bothfield, and he has fairly earned it by his able and impartial course as a member of the city council.
It reflects credit on both parties in this city, also. The Republicans were the first to hold their caucuses, although their convention was not held till this week, but the caucuses gave notice of their intention to give a unanimous nomination to Mr. Bothfield. Politics were disregarded, and he should be in a city election, and fitness and the best interests of the city were the only questions considered. If the Republicans of Newton follow the same policy in regard to future city elections, they will no longer have cause to mourn a defeat at the polls, as they have done so often in the past.

The Citizens Convention, although hastily called, and open to every one who desired to attend, followed the same patriotic course, and gave evidence of the able leadership that has so often characterized that organization, by voting to nominate Mr. Bothfield. A mass convention is not always an easy one to handle, but in the one last Saturday night it was evident that Mr. Bothfield's friends were in an overwhelming majority.

The reasons for the selection of this particular candidate are evident enough
to those who have studied city affairs.
There are questions to be decided which have been hanging over the city for years, and which ought to be pushed through without further delay. People believe that Mr. Bothfield is the man to do it, and therefore he has been chosen.
The two most important questions are the widening of Washington street and the doing away with grade crossings.
The long delay has been of serious injury to the city, improvements of all kinds, which were contemplated, have been delayed, a number of people have been killed on the grade crossings, and one of the most valuable officials a city ever had lost his life on account of the delay in widening the street.

The property on the south side of Washington street has been in a very uncertain state, no one knew whether to make any improvements or not, no leases could be given, and the uncertainty has been very aggravating. The Newtonville Associates, after waiting for months without seeing any indication of action being taken, finally went ahead and put up their block on the corner of Walnut street, and in other ways the proposed widening has been made much more expensive by the delay. The grade crossing question is so intimately connected with the widening of Washington street that it could hardly be considered separately, and it is no wonder that the people have grown tired of the delays, and have unanimously made up their minds to choose a mayor who will act, as they want both of these questions settled.

THE ALDERMANIC TICKET.

There are to be but two contests for aldermen this year, over members from Wards Two and Five, an agreement having been reached in all the other wards.
Mr. Joseph W. Parker, who was renominated for councilman by the Republicans, has declined the nomination for alderman offered him by the Citizens, on the ground that as he entered into the contest in the Republican caucus, he was morally bound to abide by the result.
Besides the presidency of the Common Council is quite as important a position as that of an alderman.

In Ward Two the candidates are Mr.
E. P. Hatch and Mr. L. E. G. Green,
both of whom have served in the Common Council, and have made records that are well known. Mr. Hatch is the niece of the Citizens' Convention, and is one of the most successful young business men in Newton. As cashier of the First National Bank of West Newton
he has a very wide acquaintance among the business men of the city, who give him a very hearty endorsement for ability and character and for good common sense in business matters. As councilman from Ward Two he made an excellent record for attending to all the duties of the office in a business-like way, and for being a very earnest worker. From his business training he would make a valuable member of the board of aldermen, where men who are well acquainted with financial affairs are much needed, and the voters of the city could not make a better choice than to elect him, and his election would strengthen the board in several important particulars.

From Ward Five the contestants are
Dr. Thompson, the present alderman, who has been renominated by the Citizens, and Mr. Thomas E. White, who is a successful business man of Boston.
As one lives in Upper Falls and the other at the Highlands, there will probably be a hot contest in the ward, but Dr.
Thompson has many friends throughout the city, while Mr. White is not so well known, not having been in office before.

In Wards One, Three, Four, Six and Seven, both parties have united on the same candidates, and with only one candidate for Mayor, all the fun will be concentrated on the two aldermanic contests, the school committee contests from Wards Two and Four, and the scattering local fights over members of the Common Council.

FOR SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Mr. J. T. Langford declines the honor of the nomination for member of the school committee from Ward One, and the Republicans have nominated Mr.
Lewis E. Coffin, who has served on the board before, while President of the Common Council, so that the delegation from Ward One will be Messrs. W. G.
Brackett and Lewis E. Coffin.

From Ward Two there are four candidates, as that ward has such a lively public spirit that it always desires to make city elections interesting. The old members, Mrs. Mary R. Martin and Mr. Wallace E. Boyden were renominated by the Citizens, and the Republican Convention, after a warm contest, nominated
C. F. Avery and J. L. Richards, so that every one can exercise his own judgment in making his ballot. The plea used in the convention for making the change,
was that more business men were needed
on the school board, men who would look more closely after expenses, and it was also said that at present there is too much cramming of the school children with unnecessary things. If any change could interfere with the constantly growing school expenditures people would gladly vote for it. The new nominees are active business men, who have shown that they can manage their own business successfully, and Ward Two seems to desire a change.

From Ward Four to succeed Mr. Ober, the Citizens have nominated Mr. Henry
P. Talbot, and the Republicans, Rev.
Geo. M. Adams, neither of whom are very well known in the city.

WHAT THE NEWTON HOSPITAL HAS DONE.

In 1886 admitted 41 patients. Expended $1,889.60
" 1887 " 111 " " 5,578.70
" 1888 " 98 " " 6,152.33
" 1889 " 141 " " 7,990.38
" 1890 " 167 " " 9,044.70
" 1891 " 208 " " 12,145.39
" 1892 " 321 " " 15,072.23
" 1893 " 418 " " 18,812.68

Thus in 8 years it has received 1585 patients, an average of nearly 200 each year, and has spent an average of $8500 yearly. But the growth in the number of patients has been four times what it was in the early years, and in expenses
three times. The current year ending January 1895 will probably report 500 admissions and expenditures as over $20,000.

Taking the average cost per patient in all three years it has been only about $48, a very moderate sum indeed.

The work of the Hospital must be estimated not only by the number of patients it has treated. It has also been the means of preventing the spread of disease. Quite likely each one who reads this has been saved the danger of contagion because the Hospital cared for those who were a menace to the health of others. It is a small return, then, to put in a check for a hundred dollars or a bank bill of good size next Sunday. The committee ask for $10,000.
That amount would enable the trustees
to end the year entirely free from debt.

N. A. A. Notes.

The committee are busy arranging for the fair to be held Dec. 12 to 15th, at Associates Hall, Newton Centre. Particulars will be given later.

The second eleven played their first game last Saturday at Newton Highlands and were defeated 20 to 0.

The Suburban League game between Newton and Dorchester scheduled for Nov.
10 was postponed on account of the weather. Newton then tried to arrange it for Thanksgiving Day, but the Dorchester team decided to forfeit the game. This completes the series leaving Hyde Park the winner with Newton second.

Hyde Park..... Won Lost Tied
Newton..... 2 0 3
Dorchester..... 2 2 2
Lynn..... 1 2 2
Dorchester..... 0 2 1

On Thanksgiving Day the N. A. A. first eleven will play the Harvard Independents on the Newton Centre playground at 3.45 a. m., and the second eleven will meet the Hyde Park second eleven at Newton Highlands at the same hour.

Thanksgiving Day will offer more than usual advantages to those interested in athletics. Friendly rivalry between Newton Centre and Newton Highlands has led to the formation of two teams to compete in a team race. This event will be run on the Newton Centre playground at 3.45 a.
m., and promises to be a close contest from start to finish. The Highlands team includes W. C. Johnson, T. P.
Treadwell, E. R. Crane, G. F. Skelton and E. W. Shaw, while the Centre will be represented by F. J. Kellaway, A. Miller, W.
C. Benedict, F. S. Morton and F. C. Risling. Four men from each team will run, the distance for each man being 220 yards
or half a mile in all.

The football game will be followed by what is promised by those in the secret to be an entirely new game. It seems that some years ago the idea was conceived and submitted to some foot ball experts as a pleasing variation from the ordinary game of foot ball. Through the generosity of a leading gentleman of the city and with the assistance of the N. A. A., several hundred dollars have been expended in the implements of warfare needed for the proper conduct of the sport, and it is expected that a game of far more local interest will be presented for the first time on any field.

A Railroad Improvement.

(Boston Herald.)
The Boston & Albany Railroad Co.
has made a decided improvement in its system by its recent change of time-table in increasing the speed of a number of its suburban trains, especially those on the circuit line. A change of this kind has been called for for a long time past,
as it was manifest, considering the distance, that the speed given was hardly of a character that entitled the service to be included under the name of rapid transit. By the present running schedule the time from Boston to Newton Centre has been reduced, for express trains, to 18 minutes, which constitutes a saving of about four minutes from the former timetable, and the time on the trains stopping at the local stations has been reduced in corresponding proportions. The Boston & Albany is hampered in its service from the fact that what is equivalent to a six-track road two miles out of town is reduced to a two-track road for a mile out from its main station, where the demand upon its trackage is greatest. If it can succeed in overcoming this difficulty—that is, having the most back track where the demand is greatest—can decrease its fares and increase the number of its trains—which would be in harmony with its recent improvement—it can greatly benefit its patrons, and in our opinion secure in the way of profits, through a great increase in patronage, quite as much as, and perhaps more than, it is making at the present time; that is, the imense aggregate of gain which comes from carrying out the theory of a large business and small profits is the one which in the future will govern the operations of the most successful transportation corporations.

NEWTON LOSES ANOTHER.

BOWLING NOT UP TO STANDARD OF FIRST CLASS ORGANIZATION.

At the Riverdale Casino, Brookline,
Wednesday evening, the Casinos defeated the Newtons by 55 pins. Grant of the home team was high with a single of 201 and total of 560. Dearborn of the Newtons rolled an even 200 in the second string.
Buntin was, however, the only man who really rolled in good form, he succeeding in making a creditable showing each string.

In Favor of Mrs. Martin.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:
The recent action of the Republican Convention, in failing to renominate Mrs.
Mary R. Martin, a useful member of the school committee, because they want "business men" on the board, calls for severe criticism from the mothers of Newton.

Pedagogy has become a science in these last years. Is it not then fair to assume that a certain proportion of the school committee should consist of people who have made it a study, even if one of them should be a woman?
Do the parents of Newton realize how much better it would be for their children
if the teachers, most of them women, should have on the school board some women with whom they can consult about many matters which only a woman understands.

Mrs. Martin has been nominated on the Citizens' ticket. Unless she is re-elected, there will be but one woman on the entire school board of Newton.

Lasell Notes.

The usual party attended the Saturday evening's Symphony concert.
Mr. Bragdon and several of the students attended, on Wednesday evening, the Apollo Club concert.

The principal, with a small party of the girls, heard the Fish Jubilee Singers at the People's church, Boston, on Monday evening.

Saturday, Nov. 17, the menu of the cooking class embraced roast goose, bread sauce, fried chicken, curry sauce; salad, mayonnaise dressing.

The Glee, Mandolin and Banjo Club of Brown University entertained the students on Wednesday evening. The concert was given under the auspices of the Lasell Club of the Seminary.

The service held in the Congregational church by the members of the Boston Rescue Mission was also attended by a number of the students. At this service several of those who have been reclaimed told the story of their fall and their up-lifting by the mission.

Miss Clara Cushman, missionary to China, attended the Lasell Missionary Society on Sunday evening, her subject being
"Chinese women, their deplorable condition and urgent need of Christianity." Miss Cushman spoke with earnestness and conviction, and was listened to with great interest.

"A friend in need is a friend indeed."

A friend advised me to try Ely's Cream Balm and after using it six weeks I believe myself cured of catarrh. It is a most valuable remedy.—Joseph Stewart, 624

My son was afflicted with catarrh, I induced him to try Ely's Cream Balm and the disagreeable catarrhal smell all left him.
He appears as well as any one.—J. C.
Olmstead, Arcola, Ill.

"I escaped being a confirmed dyspeptic by taking Ayer's Pills in time. This is the experience of many. Ayer's Pills, whether as an after-dinner pill or as a remedy for liver complaint, indigestion, flatulency,
water brash, and nausea, are invaluable."

—Miss Eva Fors, who has been confined to the house with illness, is reported better.

—Mrs. Longbottom, an old resident, is seriously ill at her home on California street.

—Mr. Frank Shute has moved into the house on Waltham street, which was formerly occupied by Mrs. B. H. Bacon.

—An outfit for the study of electricity has been put in the Eliot school. It is said to be one of the best in the city.

—So much dissatisfaction was shown at the changing of the session at the Eliot school, that the school will commence at 8.30 the usual time.

—The Kings Daughters of the North Evangelical church met last Monday night at the residence of Mrs. I. T. Fletcher.
Their fair will be held Dec. 11 and 12.

—Mr. James Sadler and family have moved from Ipswich, Mass., to a house on Chapel street near Green. Mr. Sadler is at present employed in Taunton.

—Miss Alice Clayton of Watertown, employed in Dalby's mills, had her finger badly lacerated while cleaning some machinery. She was attended by Dr. Stearns.

—A member of the Nonantum Club
recently donated a ton of coal to the club.
By some mistake the coal was delivered at the Nonantum B. Y. Club, but the error was afterward rectified.

—The Rev. Daniel Green began a very interesting series of sermons last Sunday morning. The subject last Sunday was "Ruth the Convert," next week, "Ruth the Worker," and the third and last, "Ruth's Reward."

—Mr. George Hudson of Bridge street was present at the institution of the John Bright Lodge, Sons of St. George, in Roxbury last Thursday evening. Mr. Hudson presided in the capacity of Grand President and delivered an address.

—A horse belonging to Mr. Ed La
Croix ran away last Sunday afternoon.
The animal, which was a complete wreck, buggy, dashed down Watertown street and turned into Faxon where it was stopped by some men. The carriage was considerably damaged but the horse was not hurt.

—A young loveless Frenchman caused no little excitement in this village last Friday evening. He dashed wildly around California street followed by a large crowd of men and boys and declared his intention of throwing himself in the river because his sweetheart had jilted him. He was nearly midnight before he was induced to return home and abandon such rash ideas of self destruction.

—A fur clothing peddler while selling his wares in this village, Monday afternoon, left his horse and team standing in front of Hose 8 house. The horse became frightened at some unknown cause and started at a lively pace down Watertown street, leaving a trail of coats, hats, etc.
He was caught on California street, but not until he had made a complete wreck of the wagon. The owner was obliged to go to West Newton after another team.

JUST BEFORE RETIRING.

How to Insure Peaceful and Refreshing
Slumber and a Sweet Mouth.

A warm bath, a light lunch and a clean mouth before retiring are good things to take. They promote sleep and a "clean" tongue in the morning. What this lunch should be the consumer must decide. The juice of a couple of oranges, half a grape fruit, a cup of tea with dry toast, a sandwich and glass of ale,
cup of hot bouillon, biscuit and a glass
of sherry, crackers with milk and vichy, or a bowl of bread and milk is the choice of as many different people, all healthy and handsome.

The best thing in the morning after a cold plunge or sponge bath is a cup of hot tea or coffee with a little lemon juice. The earlier this draft is taken the better. It should precede the breakfast by at least half an hour. This is prime for the alimentary canal. It is a comfort to the stomach, and puts the digestive organs in order. A cup of hot milk is also prescribed, and even hot water the first thing in the morning is not bad. For anything but the abusive cup of cold water the poor stomach will be grateful. If an appetite for breakfast is wanted, and the time permits, take a walk to the corner, alone, inhaling and forcibly exhaling the air through the nostrils. No $10 cure in therapeutics can compare with this.—New York

What She Liked.

Young Mr. Hopkins went to the World's fair at Chicago, and while there met a charming American young lady who proved to be his fate. After a brief wooing they were wed, and young Hopkins sent to the old folks at home a glowing description of his wealthy, handsome and accomplished wife. A few months later they returned to England, and old Mr. Hopkins invited a few friends to a quiet supper to meet his "charming daughter-in-law,"
as he termed the lady.

The evening passed off splendidly till supper, and then were astounded.
The old gentlemen asked Mrs. Hopkins,
Jr., what she would take for supper,
saying, "I am afraid our homely English dishes cannot compare with your American delicacies." "Perhaps not,"
came the unexpected reply, "but I'll tell you what I'd like, and that is some of that cold cabbage left from dinner. I'm a Nebuchadnezzar for greens."—London Chronicle.

Resolutions.

Resolutions from Boynton Lodge No. 20, U. O.
Caroline Maria.

At a regular meeting of Boynton Lodge No. 20, held Tuesday, Nov. 13th, 1894, the following resolutions were accepted unanimously:

RESOLVED: Whereas: Almighty God in His infinite Wisdom, has seen fit to remove from our midst, our Worthy and Esteemed Sister Caroline Maria.

RESOLVED: Whereas: The intimate relations held since she became a Charter member, with the members here present, make it eminently proper that we record our regard and esteem for her.

RESOLVED: That we as members of this Loge, do hereby tender our heartfelt sympathy to the family and orphan of our deceased sister, with the earnest hope that even so great an affliction
may be over-ruled for their highest good.

RESOLVED: That her earnest and faithful labors in this world will ever be held in grateful remembrance by us, its members.

RESOLVED: That while we bow in submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well,
and for the good of His children, may the absence of this sister make us more devoted to each other, more faithful in our work, and bear each other's faults more tenderly, so that when God calls us home, we shall be better prepared to enter the Kingdom of Heaven, and be welcomed by our dear sister who has gone before us, free from the cares of this World, where there is no more sorrow or suffering, and our dear sister is now in the Kingdom of Heaven, with its Angels, God

CITIZENS' MASS CONVENTION.

THE PARTY AGAIN IN THE FIELD WITH A TICKET—BOTH FELD NAMED FOR MAYOR—ALDERMANIC AND OTHER NOMINEES—NON PARTISAN MOVEMENT, IT IS SAID, FAILED TO FULFILL ITS MISSION—THE PROCEEDINGS IN DETAIL.

After a temporary retirement from municipal politics, the Citizens' movement has taken a new lease of life and once more makes its appeal to that class of citizens in our community who believe in non-partisanship in selecting candidates for the various responsible positions connected with the management and routine of city affairs. Its leaders assert that the Non-Partisan movement, so called, which sprung into existence for the avowed purpose of sweeping away party lines and the disagreeable features of campaign work involved in contests of a decidedly lively character, has failed utterly to fulfill its mission. More than that, it is asserted that the people have no confidence in it, believing that those chiefly interested had no real intention of carrying out anything in the interests of the people as a whole. It did not, it is stated, keep its promises, but instead betrayed the trust of that element in the old Citizens' party that was drawn into the new movement by its specious promises and cleverly concocted, although purely visionary, plans of improvement.

It was decided only a few days ago to call a Citizens' convention, it having been demonstrated clearly enough that the Non-Partisan movement has passed away, from insufficient nourishment or for some other cause. It was announced for last Saturday evening and the attendance proved conclusively that the party of so many popular successes was still in touch with the masses. The City Hall was well filled and much of the old spirit of enthusiasm was manifested.

Mr. Edwin O. Childs called the convention to order shortly after 8 o'clock. He commenced by saying that it was a matter of congratulation that so many of the citizens of Newton had gathered in response to the call. We must rejoice, he added, that there is so much life and spirit left in the Citizens' movement. A year ago, it will be remembered, numerous Republicans decided to call Non-Partisan caucuses, the idea being to carry out the purpose of the old Citizens' movement in selecting the best men for the municipal offices and to give to their party affiliations. Many identified with the Citizens' movement joined hands with their Republican brethren in an effort presumably designed to accomplish the very thing that the Citizens' party had steadfastly maintained as being in accord with public sentiment and a just method of popular government. There were those, however, who took no stock in the promises of the Republicans, believing that the past history of city politics had demonstrated their inability to shake off party lines and unite with citizens of other shades of political belief in a common movement in the interests of the whole people. It appears that their judgment was well formed. The Non-Partisan movement has turned out to be the creature of designing politicians, chiefly interested, apparently, in causing the destruction of the Citizens' party. It is not surprising, therefore, that after having nominated a year ago and then immediately stripping off its mask, that it died a natural death. But with that death, let me remind you, there were rejoicings, for it was believed that the Citizens' party had been bottled up for all time.

It was right there the mistake was made. The Citizens' party is not dead. It has come to the front again this year and will put a ticket into the field ahead of that of the Republicans, something that it never did before in its history. We must rally around that ticket, standing shoulder to shoulder in this fight, and those that have preceded it, and there can be no doubt that the result will be the same. I will now proceed, said Mr. Childs, to read the call of this convention. It provides for the nomination of a candidate for mayor, candidates for the board of aldermen and the common council from each ward, and candidates for the school board from Wards One and Two for the regular term and from Ward Four for an unexpired term, due to the resignation of Mr. Colon S. Ober.

The first business of this convention is that of the choice of a permanent chairman. You will please proceed to nominate. Maj. W. F. Lawrence claimed the attention of the chair immediately following the above remark, placing the name of Mr. William J. Follett before the convention. Mr. Follett was chosen chairman by unanimous consent and proceeded down the aisle to the desk amidst a storm of applause that showed conclusively that everybody was satisfied that the right man had been chosen to preside over the deliberations of the meeting. In assuming the chair, Mr. Follett remarked that he was one who had been welcomed back to the ranks of the Citizens' party. A year ago with others interested in the old Citizens' party, said he, I went into the movement supposed to be in the interests of Non-Partisan politics in municipal affairs. It seemed to me, he continued, that questions affecting local government had no connection with matters of state or national import, over which groups of voters in the Commonwealth and country are divided on lines of party policy. In a word, I am a believer in absolute Non-Partisanship in municipal affairs. All that we require in politics is the practical conduct of affairs on sound business principles. It is a matter of no consequence what the man in a municipal office may think of the policy of the two great or the lesser parties, if in the administration of city affairs he evidences prudence, justice and a determination to protect the interests of the tax payer and that of the city.

It was for such reasons as these I have outlined that I have been a supporter of the Citizens' movement. In a city like Newton, free from jobbery, the only necessary qualification of a man for any office in the gift of the people should be that of good citizenship. He should simply be a man worthy of trust and confidence. If he answers that desideratum, what matters it about his politics?

We are here tonight, gentlemen, not for the purpose of selecting a ticket in opposition to any ticket, but to place in nomination the best set of men we can find for these various city offices. We want men of sound business judgment and integrity, competent to give us a good return for the large sums we pay in taxes into the city treasury. Newton is going through an important formative process, and much of the future welfare of the Garden City depends upon the wise administration of its affairs. We have no axes to grind. Let us select for these offices the men best adapted to fill them. The Citizens' movement this year begins a renewal of its past successes. I don't believe that in this city again any other party will rise up in opposition to strict party caucuses except the one that you are here tonight to perpetuate. (Applause.)

And now in conclusion, said Mr. Follett, let me express the hope that the business of this convention will be transacted in a business-like manner and as speedily as possible. The choice of a secretary is now in order.

Mr. A. C. Mudge was nominated for secretary, but declined to serve. Messrs. Asa Jewett, T. B. Fitzpatrick and G. H. Chandler having also declined, Mr. F. L. Howes was named for the position and elected to the same.

The organization having been completed, Mr. J. Lawrence moved the appointment of a committee from each ward, to be nominated from the floor, to retire and bring in a list of nominees for the various municipal offices under the call.

Mr. T. B. Fitzpatrick moved an amendment providing that the nominations for the wards be made by the residents of the ward. The amendment was accepted by Maj. Lawrence and in that shape passed by the convention. Another amendment proposed by Mr. E. W. Redpath increasing the nominating committee from three to five failed of adoption. Mr. Fitzpatrick was recognized by the chair at this point. He stated that, in his judgment, it seemed desirable to afford the convention an opportunity of discussing and expressing preferences for mayor, and moved that thirty minutes be allowed for that purpose. The chair ruled that the motion was out of order, inasmuch as the convention had voted authorizing a committee to bring in a list of nominees.

Mr. E. O. Childs, in reference to Mr. Fitzpatrick's proposition, said that the committee had no power to bring in a list of candidates for the various offices. It could only report a list of nominees, subject to the ratification or rejection of the convention. He thought, however, that the committee should have power to nominate candidates for the common council, as that was a matter in which the ward was alone interested.

Mr. Childs moved that the committee be given power to nominate its candidates for the common council. Mr. Gorman moved as an amendment that each ward be given power also to nominate its candidate for the board of aldermen, as that was a matter, too, in which the ward was chiefly interested. Mr. Childs did not agree with Mr. Gorman in the matter of aldermen, on the ground that the choice of candidates for the upper branch of the city council was a matter for the convention to decide. In regard to the common council candidates, he said, the convention could not legally place them in nomination.

Mr. Bruce R. Ware thought that the voters present from the ward interested had a legal right and should be allowed the privilege of ratifying or rejecting the nominees of the committee for the common council. Mr. P. A. McVicar supported Mr. Ware in that opinion. The vote was finally taken and all nominations by the committee must be made subject to the ratification or rejection of the convention.

The choice of a nominating committee was next proceeded with and the selection made in conformity to the wishes of the voters of the various wards. The committee retired and brought in its report about twenty minutes later. It was presented by its chairman, Mr. J. R. Smith, as follows:

FOR MAYOR, H. E. Bothfeld.

FOR ALDERMAN, Ward One—J. A. Hamilton.

Ward Two—Edward F. Hatch.

Ward Three—George P. Ballard.

Ward Four—Albert Plummer.

Ward Five—Eben Thompson.

Ward Six—Joseph W. Parker.

Ward Seven—Henry Tolman.

FOR SCHOOL COMMITTEE,

Ward One—J. T. Langford, W. G. Brackett.

Ward Two—Mrs. M. R. Martin, W. C. Boyden.

Ward Four (unexpired term)—H. P. Talbot.

FOR COMMON COUNCILMEN,

Ward One—J. E. Briston, M. E. Wing.

Ward Two—George Cranitch, George R. Pulsifer.

Ward Three—C. E. Hatfield, George D. Davis.

Ward Four—C. S. Ober, F. A. Childs.

Ward Five—Frederick Hutchinson, L. P. Everett.

Ward Six—T. J. Linahan, F. H. Butts.

Ward Seven—A. C. Mudge, K. W. Hobart.

The nomination of the committee for mayor was ratified.

The committee's nominations for aldermen met first with opposition when Ward Two was reached. Mr. O. F. Clark moved as a substitute the nomination of Mr. A. A. Savage in place of Mr. E. P. Hatch. The convention then took its assent by a vote of 38 to 32. These figures, by the way, give no idea of the number of voters present, as a large number did not take part in the balloting.

The next move antagonistic to the nominating committee was the election of Mr. White as chairman of the Citizens' party. A year ago with others interested in the old Citizens' party, said he, I went into the movement supposed to be in the interests of Non-Partisan politics in municipal affairs. It seemed to me, he continued, that questions affecting local government had no connection with matters of state or national import, over which groups of voters in the Commonwealth and country are divided on lines of party policy. In a word, I am a believer in absolute Non-Partisanship in municipal affairs. All that we require in politics is the practical conduct of affairs on sound business principles. It is a matter of no consequence what the man in a municipal office may think of the policy of the two great or the lesser parties, if in the administration of city affairs he evidences prudence, justice and a determination to protect the interests of the tax payer and that of the city.

Mr. Timothy O'Leary—I hope that Dr. Thompson will be nominated. He has performed his duty faithfully and in the interests of the tax payers.

Mr. J. R. Smith—Although recognizing Dr. Thompson's services, I trust that Mr. White will receive the nomination at this convention. He is a resident of the Highlands, and it seems to me that it is a section of the city entitled to representation.

Mr. Gustavus Ulmer—Dr. Thompson is chairman of the public property committee. Every parent in this city, knowing that he has done a great work in looking closely after the sanitary condition of the various schoolhouses, is most anxious to retain his services if he will again serve. It is our duty to nominate him. On the vote, Dr. Thompson proved practically to be the unanimous choice of the convention, only four gentlemen getting up to be counted for Mr. White. Dr. Thompson's nomination was then made unanimous.

There was no opposition to the rest of the ticket and the committee's nominees throughout were made the candidates of the convention for the various offices under the call.

The chairman of the convention, Mr. Follett, was authorized to appoint a ward and city committee, notices of selection for that body to be sent out later. The provision was made that the ward delegation should have power to fill vacancies in its number.

Mr. J. W. Hahn offered the following resolution: Resolved, That our candidates, if elected, shall do all in their power to favor legislation for the depression of the Boston & Albany railroad tracks through the Newtons, and that it is the sense of this convention that depression should be effected at whatever cost or sacrifice to the city.

The resolution failed of adoption, it being regarded as too sweeping. It was regarded as inexpedient to bind candidates on that question. There is a prospect of a change, too, in the grade crossing law, evidently framed in the interests of the railroads without much regard for the people and giving them no consideration whatever in the question of damages. Under the circumstances, with possible alterations of the law and consequent new provisions, it was thought best to wait developments.

The convention at 10:05 o'clock adjourned.

Mr. Johnson's Conservatories.

BRIDGEWATER, MASS., Nov. 20, 1894.

To the Editor of the Graphic:

A visit to the Bridgewater conservatories on Main street proved so interesting to the writer that he begs leave to offer a short description of the buildings and more especially a description of the flowers, which are so successfully cultivated by Mr. J. J. Johnson, a former resident of Thornton street, Newton.

Some three years ago, after a careful consideration of locations for greenhouses, Mr. Johnson arrived at the conclusion that this place would furnish him an excellent site, with good soil, and the other necessary conveniences. The choice indeed proved a good one, for it presents advantages along nearly every desired line.

Although twenty-seven miles from the Hub, yet it is possible to ship flowers to that market by train, in less time than is required to transport them over the road from Newton to Boston. In addition to that market, Mr. Johnson finds a good market at Brockton, some eight miles distant on the direct line to Boston, together with a local trade which includes the furnishing of the State Normal School with flowers and potted plants for decoration.

At the above mentioned time, the proprietor erected five greenhouses, each 165 feet in length, with two wings, a cold storage chamber, and an office and boiler room. These were built in a first class manner in every respect, with excellent means for heating, ventilating and fumigating.

The houses are arranged, alternately, high and low, so that it is possible to secure the greatest amount of sunlight throughout the day. They are also so arranged as to leave a spacious gutter between each house to carry off the rain and melted snow, and to afford a means of access for the repair of the houses. This extensive area of glass has since been increased by two more houses of the same length as the others, one having been built on either side of the first five.

The proprietor intended on the erection of the buildings to devote them to the growing of roses, with the exception of a limited number of pinks, for the wholesale trade, but it was found quite necessary to introduce a wider variety, such as violas, heliotropes, German stocks, mignonette, etc., for the local trade.

The flowers raised here have never fallen far short of the best, and in the height of the rose season last year the American Florist credited them as being the best sent into the Boston market.

The plants at the time of writing present a spectacle which one could scarcely conceive of being surpassed. One might well use his whole vocabulary of extravagant adjectives in attempting to describe the sight, and even then the reader would come as far short of being able to imagine their beauty. It would be like trying to imagine the distance that our evening star, the planet Mars, is from our terrestrial sphere at the present moment.

Some 10,000 roses, including Brides, Catherine Mermets, Bridesmaids, Papa Gentians and Metcours are at present in a most thriving condition, with heavy foliage, and are putting forth their second crop of the season, which will have attained its best in time for the holiday trade.

Nearly two houses of carnations send forth a fragrance, which when mingled with that of the heliotropes is largely inexpressible. Among the several varieties of pinks may be noticed that variety, the Daybreak, which is of a beautiful shade of deep pink, the Grace Holder, the Mrs. Fisher and the E. H. Hill.

But what might well be left until the last for the sake of climax is the description of the chrysanthemums. About 4000 of these plants stock one of the new houses, and the sight furnished by them is something magnificent.

On first entering the house, one is almost dazzled at the sight, for nothing short of a chrysanthemum show, which would contain the cream of many growers, could begin to compare with it. Naturally the rich colors of the huge blooms would attract the attention, as they blended in most delightful harmony, but one could not fail to recognize that the effect produced depended largely on the beauty of the dense green foliage which furnished such a handsome background. Here may be seen the Minnie Wamaker, the W. H. Lincoln, the J. C. Vaughan, the Pelican, the Hicks Arnold, the H. L. Sanderbrach, a new variety of this year's production, and the Golden Wedding, which has been considered to be nearer perfection under the cultivation of Mr. Johnson than any of that variety ever grown before.

HOW TO GET RICH.

To make money rapidly, become independent, and enjoy a life of ease, has been the ambition of mankind since the days of Adam! "Show me, how, and quickly," is the cry. While the ways of making money are many and varied, the most successful, and that in which the largest fortunes have been accumulated can be told in one word, SPECULATION!

In a measure we are all speculators, whether we buy merchandise which we expect to sell at a profit, houses and lands which we hold for an advance, or stocks, bonds and grain. But of all commodities, stocks, and grain pay the greatest profit. The values are better known and you can always find a market. No long tedious waits, perhaps for months before you realize a profit (as in the case of the development of land), but a constant and rapid change in values, registered daily on the "Ticker," and which if taken advantage of lead to LARGE GAINS. It is impossible to set forth in an article of this character, the ways of speculating and the many advantages to be obtained by a Broker who is constantly on the ground. Suffice it to say: We have had a large experience in the Stock Brokerage business, and our book on STOCK SPECULATION fully explains in all its details the method of speculation.

We charge a commission of but 1-16 in the execution of all orders, and where the trader does not have easy access to the markets, we give him the benefit of our experience by accepting prompt attention. Orders can be sent by mail or telegraph at our expense. Deposits received subject to check, and SATISFACTION GUARANTEED.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE—The second and last week of Mr. E. H. Sothern's engagement at the Hollis will begin on November 26, and like the first and preceding week of his stay, will be signalized by the production of a new play entitled "A Way to Win a Woman." It will be recollected that last season, while Mr. Sothern was at the Hollis, he had been given this play its first production. It is a strong play, and presents Mr. Sothern in a more serious part than any in which he had hitherto been seen. Its success was instantaneous, and it was given in other cities during the balance of his tour, as well as during his season that has recently closed at the Lyceum Theatre, New York, where the judgment of the critics of this city was indorsed. It has been decided that this play will be given on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday evenings and Wednesday matinee of next week. A special matinee will be given on Thanksgiving Day, at which "Lord Chumley" will be the bill. Thursday and Friday evenings and Saturday afternoon Mr. Sothern, in response to many requests, will revive one of his greatest successes, "Captain Lettarblair," and Saturday evening will be devoted to "Lord Chumley."

COLUMBIA THEATRE—The last week of "Sowing the Wind" will begin at the Columbia, November 26, and it will be a matter of deep regret to the Boston public that it has been impossible to extend the engagement of this remarkable play any longer. The history of its run in Boston has been one of uninterrupted success. There is no doubt but the "Sowing the Wind" might have remained here for the entire season, and, in fact, efforts were made to have this season's triumph, but contracts had been made for its appearance in other cities, and it was found impossible to induce the managers to give them up, so it was found absolutely necessary to fix the date of the withdrawal with the two performances that will occur on December 1. A special matinee will be given on Thanksgiving Day, and seats for this occasion are already on sale. On Monday, December 3, Miss Marie Burroughs will appear at the Columbia, in her successful production of "The Profligate."

BOSTON THEATRE—The thousands of delighted theatre goers who have witnessed "In Old Kentucky" at the Boston Theatre, have placed their stamp of approval upon the production, as the greatest and most effective melodrama of modern times. Notwithstanding that "In Old Kentucky" has entered on the second month of its run at the Boston Theatre, there is no indication of any diminution of patronage. Night after night the big play house is crowded to the doors, and late comers oftentimes find standing room only. Never in the history of this theatre, so famous for long and prosperous engagements, has there been so pronounced and overwhelming a success. "In Old Kentucky" has broken all records, both here and at the Academy in New York, the scene of its first great triumph, and bids fair to continue as popular as ever to the end. Where a play contains so many thrilling and laugh provoking scenes, situations, incidents and dialogue as does "In Old Kentucky" there can be no question as to the elements of its success. This is its last month in Boston and tickets are still selling more than a fortnight ahead. Recollect that the performance begins every evening promptly at 8 o'clock, and is over at 10.30. Matinees every Wednesday and Saturday at 2 o'clock. Special matinee on Thanksgiving.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE—Monday evening, Nov. 26, promises to be a notable night at the Bowdoin Square Theatre for the performance on that date will be in the form of a testimonial to Jack Mason, the first night of the last week of "The Cotton King." The regular program of "The Cotton King" will be given, and the wife of the popular actor, Marion Mason-Mason, will appear for the first time since her recent severe illness, from which she has so happily recovered. Mrs. Mason had not expected to return to the boards for some time to come, but on an occasion of such interest to her husband cannot forego the pleasure of participating on what it is hoped will prove a red letter night for "Jack." Manager Atkinson announces that Wm. A. Brady's next big production will be made at the Bowdoin Square Theatre on Monday, Dec. 17. It will be from the pen of Sutton Vane, the author of the "Cotton King," and its title is "Humanity."

BOSTON MUSEUM—With Monday, Dec. 3, at the Boston Museum, begins the sixth annual engagement of the delightful comedian Rand Reed at that house, and the occasion is to be especially marked by the production of an entirely new comedy in which he has recently achieved a most brilliant success in other cities. "The play's the thing" that a hungry amusement-seeking public is looking for today, and the dear old Museum presents one in the engagement of Reed that will set everybody laughing as well as thinking. It is entitled "The Politician, or the Woman's Plank," and will offer a most suggestive entertaining picture of a 20th century woman. Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given, also an extra matinee Christmas.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE—"The Rising Generation," William Barry's bright comedy, will be seen at the Grand Opera House next Monday night. The piece when seen last season made a pronounced hit and Billy Barry has the success of his life. The play has the advantage of an excellent staging. Billy Barry, the popular Irish comedian, has in "Martin McShayne" a character that suits him. In the portrayal of the same he is natural, and carries his audience with him throughout the play, in a continuous roar of laughter. The situations are very funny and the dialogue full of pure Irish wit, not broad but refined. Mr. Barry is surrounded by a large and excellent company, among whom his first accomplished daughter, Lydia, whose singing is the gem of the musical numbers, Miss Lizzie Conway and Mr. James H. Manning. Mr. Barry has many new novelties to offer this season in the way of bright specialties, while the song and dance by six young ladies and gentlemen and the very funny game of poker which could hardly be improved upon, remain the same.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—An audience of unexpected numbers gathered at the Castle Square Theatre Monday night. The number was unexpected by the management, and the sidewalk was crowded till many minutes after the play had begun, the usual entrance being inadequate to admit the public promptly. Elegant seats were given out, and this will continue a nightly feature for the remainder of the month. The souvenir is in book form, with celluloid covers, tied daintily with satin ribbons. It describes the house, with many illustrations of architectural details and portraits of the people on the stage and in the front of the house. Each book was inclosed in a neat box, and with it a fresh and fragrant rose given. The souvenir was designed by Mr. James A. Anderson, advertising manager of the theatre program. The management promises that the supply of the souvenirs shall hereafter be adequate. The beauty and novelty of the house, the merits of the performance and the promised souvenir with floral accompaniment will serve to keep the house full eight times a week for some time to come.

For a pain in the side or chest there is nothing so good as a pinch of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on over the seat of pain. It affords prompt and permanent relief and if used in time will often prevent a cold from resulting in pneumonia. This same treatment is a sure cure for lame back. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. W. Keyes, Auburndale; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

—The second lecture of the popular course at the M. E. church will be given by Rev. D. H. Phelps, D. D., Dec. 3rd.

—Mr. Folsom and family of the Hills are making their home this winter at Westrop, Mass., closing their residence here this week.

—The Concord street crossing has now a flagman for protection to travel. Gates are soon to be put in and crossing will be protected as all grade crossings should be.

—The new change of time on the Boston & Albany road has affected about all trains on the branch in most instances changing the time of leaving from 1 to 5 minutes later, but arriving in Boston on schedule time.

—The works of Sullivan & Hosmer were closed last Saturday on account of Mr. Chas. Hosmer of the firm, whose death occurred Thursday of that week at his home at West Newton. He was esteemed by all his employees and many attended the funeral services.

—The first lecture in the course being given at the M. E. church was held on Monday evening last by Rev. Daniel Dorchester, D. D., late U. S. Commissioner to the Indians. The subject "What I have seen among the Indians" was treated in a very interesting and popular style, showing what is attempted by the government in its work of caring for the Indians, as well as what has actually been accomplished by it up to the present time. Some of the difficulties in the way of civilization of these wards of the nation were briefly described. The lecture was listened to by a good sized audience, and the general feeling at its close was one of regret that the speaker was obliged to curtail his remarks so soon and leave so much unsaid. Probably no other one is as well qualified to speak on the subject at issue as the doctor, both from the point of the official position so lately held by him, and because of the faithful and arduous work performed in the discharge of its duties in the personal visitation and inspection of the schools and homes of the different tribes involving the traveling of nearly 100,000 miles.

Rheumatism is principally caused by acidity of the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, and thus cures the disease.

TRY IT!—Hold the edge of a common visiting card to line so that no shadow will fall on either side; then hold your nose to the card and you will see how easy it is for the man to swallow one of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

IT'S EASILY SWALLOWED—one of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. These little Pellets are as effective as the best liver pills, and are easier to get down and more agreeable in their action besides.

The fact is, Dr. Pierce's sugar-coated Pellets are better in almost every respect. They act in a mild, easy and natural way. An absolute cure for Constipation, Dizziness, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Sick and Bilious Headaches. For Nervous Disorders arising from weak stomach, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, they are guaranteed to give satisfaction, or money is returned. Why are they not the cheapest pill for you to buy?

The stepping-stone to Consumption—is Catarrh. It don't pay to let it go, when the makers of Dr. Sage's Remedy will give $500 if they can't effect a permanent cure of your Catarrh.

improvement and wait patiently for future developments. "All things come to those who wait."
—Several large maple trees were cut down on Pelham street this week and removed by parties who will utilize them for fire wood. They blocked a section of the sidewalk, and, besides taking up a good deal of room that was needed for pedestrians, provided, it is thought, altogether too much shade. Some of the residents, however, were inclined to oppose the removal, believing that such handsome trees ought to be preserved.

Edward M. Noyes, theme, "The Inheritance of Our Fathers."

—Saturday night at about midnight the residence of John L. Dwyer on Boylston street was entered, the thieves breaking a window on the first floor. The house was completely ransacked, including the rooms where the family was sleeping. From one of the sleeping rooms Mr. Dwyer's silver watch and $50.25 were taken. The residents are clamoring for police protection and certainly deserve consideration. They now intend to make a vigorous call for the services of an officer.

—Heinrich Meyn, baritone of St. Paul's church, Boston, will sing at the Methodist church next Sunday evening. A chorus of about 16 voices has been arranged for and there will also be a short address by the pastor, Rev. Edwin H. Hughes on the subject, "Personal Ingratitude." The following is the musical program:
Organ Prelude, Andante in E flat,
Anthem, "Prepare ye the way of the Lord,"
Ladies' trio, "Lift thine eyes," Mendelssohn

—By the new time-table of the B. & A. railroad nearly all the trains leaving the Highlands have changed time of leaving, and the running time to Boston has been shortened on some.

—Services at St. Paul's next Sunday will be as follows: Holy Communion, 9.45; morning prayer and sermon, 10.45; Sunday school, 12.15; evening prayer and address, 7. The rector will officiate.

—On Wednesday the choir of St. Paul's church as members of the organization, known as the "Neighbourhood Chorists," attended the reception given to this league of choirs by the Choir Guild of Grace church, Newton.

—The new schoolhouse will be ready for occupancy within a few weeks. It is constructed from plans drawn by Hartwell & Burton, of Boston, and the cost will be $50,000. It is of brick, trimmed with terra cotta. The style is romantic, the doors open into large vestibules. The long corridor occupies the entire north side of the building. The health of the pupils has been the primary consideration, and to give the children the full benefit of light and sunshine the schoolrooms have all been located on the south side. Connected with each schoolroom are two dressing rooms. On the second story are two small rooms arranged for the use of the teachers and principal. The third floor is occupied by two classrooms, each 28x32, and by a large hall with a seating capacity of 400. The dimensions of the hall are 62 and 34. In the centre on the west side is a large stage. The arrangements for the ventilation of the building have been carefully made, and the sanitation is regarded as nearly perfect. It is designed to accommodate 500 pupils, and will provide for a considerable growth in the school population. It is regarded as the finest schoolhouse in the city.

—Mrs. Mary Appleton, a wellknown and highly respected resident, passed away quietly at the home of her niece, Mrs. Henry Adams of High street, last Wednesday. The funeral will take place this afternoon and the interment will be in the Newton cemetery.

—Car. No. 7 of the Echo Bridge line, caught fire in the heater, Wednesday afternoon, and burnt underneath the seat. The immense quantity of smoke it produced caused no little commotion among the passengers, who hastily left the car. It did not take long to extinguish the blaze and the car proceeded on its way.

—Mr. Edward Daly teamster for the Newton Rubber Works while loading a team in Boston had the misfortune to crush his fingers. He was lifting a heavy roll on the wagon when the horse started. Mr. Daly fell to the sidewalk and jammed his fingers between the curbstone and the wheel. He was attended by a physician and will be fortunate if he does not lose his hand.

Death of a Famous Cachucha Dancer.

Mrs. Lynne-Stephens, whose funeral in England took place recently, had so completely outlived her celebrity that she does not find a place in "Men and Women of the Time," yet when the century was young the name of Mlle. Duvernay was a household word, and the author of the "Ingoldsby Legends" puts into the mouth of Lord Tommody when addressing "Tiger Tim" the words:

Malibran's dead,
Duvernay's dead,
Taglionti has not yet arrived in her stead.
Tiger Tim, come tell me true,
What may a nobleman find to do?

Duvernay, the dancer, dying at 81, has survived Malibran, the singer, 58 years. The former married Mr. Lynne-Stephens, a wealthy man, who left her a life interest in his seat in Norfolk and also most of his property. She survived him over 30 years. Mrs. Lynne-Stephens also had a residence at Roehampton, where she took a deep interest in the convent.

Self Command.

"Self command is the main elegance," "self control is the rule," says Emerson.

He is enforcing that rule of manners which bids us avoid the exaggeration that causes loss of power and heat that makes our inferiors our superiors. He quotes from the austere, reserved, eloquent St. Just, "Keep cool, and you command everybody," and from the witty old Tully, "Above all, gentlemen, no heat."

To the Friends of the Public Schools of our City.

Since the law of 1879 made women eligible to the office of school committee, women have been elected as school committees in all our most progressive towns and cities, and it is the universal testimony of educators that the discipline and instruction of the schools have been greatly improved by their counsel in the school boards, and by their presence in the schools and in the homes of the children.

Mothers have an equal claim with fathers to be represented in the administration of school affairs.

In our city Mrs. Mary R. Martin of Ward 2, has proved herself to be a faithful public servant. A graduate of the Framingham State Normal school and later a teacher in the same, her training and her experience render her peculiarly well fitted for the office of school committee, and it is earnestly desired that she be re-elected to another term of office.

The undersigned, representing nearly a thousand women residents of Newton, ask you to recognize their claim and give Mrs. Martin your vote at the coming election.

WARD TWO ALDERMAN.

To the Editor of the Graphic:—

The contest in Ward 2 on the question of alderman, presents a question for thinking citizens to solve.

Mr. Green has served his ward faithfully for three years and in a manner acceptable to his constituents. At an unusually well attended caucus his constituents elected delegates to nominate him for the council, and his experience gained therein, certainly point to him as the proper person to fill the vacancy made by Mr. Rumery's retirement.

The question pertinent to the present situation is, if we are to select from our best citizens those whom we are anxious to represent in the common council, then when a vacancy exists in the Aldermanic board nominate one who stretches away from their advancement, shall we not soon find that it will be impossible to secure the kind of men we need, who will be willing to be set up as a target when they are named for an advancement?

Faithful service in a public office, deserves public recognition, and the citizens of Newton will see that no mistake is made, when they cast their votes next Tuesday.

WARD TWO.

Dr. Bowker's Next Lecture.

The opening of the Lecture or Travel Talk on Mexico at Eliot Hall on Thursday evening, Dec. 6, is novel and highly original.

Dr. Bowker will impersonate a planter strolling over his estate in the early morning, singing as he goes along, who suddenly falls on a band of tourists, in this case the audience, whom he invites to his home.

The strangers are supposed to have left the car in which they are travelling to explore the Mexican's estate which stretches away for miles. Dr. Bowker's costume, which faithfully represents the attire of the upper class natives not yet under the sway of Paris modes, will consist of a suit of salmon and wine colored leather elaborately embroidered in white and a long Spanish carpa of brown broad cloth, the whole surmounted with an enormous silk sombrero richly ornamented with silver.

Dooling, the Celebrated Caterer of Boston, has removed to 137 Tremont street. The Restaurant is one of the best appointed in New England. The best service at moderate prices.

WASHINGTON STREET WIDENING.

HEARING BEFORE BOTH BRANCHES OF THE CITY COUNCIL—UNANIMOUS SENTIMENT IN FAVOR OF A THOROUGHFARE AT LEAST ONE HUNDRED FEET WIDE—WEST NEWTON SCHOOLHOUSE LAND ORDER ILLEGALLY DRAWN—ROUTINE MATTERS.

There can be no doubt concerning public sentiment in the matter of widening Washington street. The residents of the city are positively in favor of the improvement. This was demonstrated conclusively enough at the hearing before both branches of the city council Monday evening. An audience that completely filled the City Hall declared unmistakably in favor of a thoroughfare, at least 100 feet in width. It seemed to be the unanimous opinion of those present, too, that the improvement should begin at Park street and be carried through to the Boston & Albany railroad crossing in West Newton, taking all the land on the south side between the present street line and the B. & A. tracks.

The board of mayor and aldermen assembled at 7:20 o'clock.

Mrs. Mary J. Houghton notified the board of a claim for damages of $3000 against the city, and Katie J. Farrar claimed damages for injuries received on Cook street. Both petitions were referred to the committee on claims.

Jeremiah Lacy, J. McGrath, W. B. Sullivan and William Wadsworth were appointed special police officers.

A communication was received from the city solicitor, giving it as his opinion that the order for the proposed land purchase for the West Newton schoolhouse lot was illegally drawn. He said that the money raised by loan could not be devoted for the purchase of land for anything except public uses.

At 7:30 o'clock the common council was notified that the time of the hearing had arrived. Both boards soon after adjourned to the upper hall where Mayor Fenno declared the hearing opened at 7:45 o'clock.

To facilitate an intelligent understanding of the highway committee's proposition for the Washington street widening a large plan was shown indicating the land to be taken on the north and south sides.

Mr. E. W. Gay was the first speaker. He presented resolutions of the Garden City Improvement Society recommending that in the widening such plans be adopted as would bring about the greatest benefit to the city, liberal in their scope rather than restrictive, the cost to be secondary to the attainment of that end, and that the securing of a safe and convenient public thoroughfare providing for present and future requirements. Mr. Gay said that the matter had been fully discussed. The sentiment was strongly in favor of taking the land on the south side. It also favored the taking of more land between the present street line and the B. & A. railroad tracks. What would be the expense, said he, addressing the mayor, of taking all the land on the south side west of Walnut street?

Mayor Fenno—The estimated cost of taking the land as now proposed by the highway committee is $275,000. To take all the land on the south side, the cost would be increased $125,000.

Mr. Gay—I think it would be a wiser policy for the city to take all the land and get a wide street, especially as the addition in cost is not a very large item.

Mr. Walter U. Lawson presented the following resolutions of the Hunnewell Hill Improvement Association:

Resolved, That it is the sentiment of the 'Hunnewell Hill Improvement Society that Washington street should be widened upon its southerly side, beginning at Park street in Ward Seven to the Albany railroad crossing in Ward Three, and that land on the southerly side should be taken only where it is absolutely necessary in obtaining a width not less than 100 feet.

Resolved, That in widening that part of Washington street lying in Ward One, the city should take all of the land east of Channing tunnel and the B. & A. tracks, and such part of Cole's block as may be necessary to make the street at that point not less than 100 feet in width.

Resolved, That we desire to urge the location of all electric or other passenger tracks to the south of the Washington street southerly sidewalk, thus leaving the roadway clear for driving; also that the driveway shall be shielded from the railway by trees or shrubbery, thereby giving a main thoroughfare creditable to our city.

The above resolutions, said Mr. Lawson, were passed at a largely attended meeting of the society. The Hunnewell Hill Improvement Society was present, he added, and explained the plan of that body. The committee's plan is all right as far as it goes, but it doesn't go far enough. It is a mistake to begin in the middle of a highway to widen. The improvement should commence at Park street and the thoroughfare should be laid out through Wards One and Seven at least 100 feet wide. These two wards have increased in valuation a great deal and have had less benefit from improvements than other sections of the city. We don't ask for a new boulevard, but we do feel that the city is called upon to expend sufficient to put the main square in Newton in better shape. Compared with Newton Centre, with its attractive and well arranged buildings, one needs no more convincing arguments of possibilities of improvement. The Newton square now reflects no credit on the city or its inhabitants. The main street runs plump up against a ten-foot drug shop and the character and situation of the buildings in the vicinity are far from desirable. The feeling is, too, that the shops and industries at the foot of Hunnewell Hill should be taken away; also Central House, engine house and adjacent buildings so as to give a good entrance to the square and enable a straightening of the now crooked street. All the land should be taken between Cole's block and Channing tunnel and all of Cole's block that is necessary for the straightening and proper widening of the street. It has been said that the coal yard above Bellevue street offered some obstacles. They should not, in my judgment, interfere with carrying out the plan of a wide, safe and attractive thoroughfare. No half way measures should be taken. The improvement should be made as thorough as possible. The freight yards, if there is trouble there, could be obtained through special legislation if that was found necessary. The citizens of Wards One and Seven favor a street 100 feet wide and believe also that the improvement should be treated in a broad and liberal manner.

[Applause.] Mr. Langford—I heartily endorse the remarks made by Mr. Lawson. I think that the widening should begin at Park street. I believe in taking every foot of land west of Cole's block to Greenwood avenue. The universal sentiment of Newton on this question today is, what you do, do it right. You will make no mistake in taking every foot of land whether it belongs to the railroad, business block or the coal yards. I voice the sentiments of the Garden City Improvement Society and, of every citizen of Newton when I say that in the treatment of this subject the city should be broad and liberal. The buildings surrounding the square, Newton now are anything but a credit to the city. The condition will not be improved until the east section below the bank is improved as it should be. I notice that the section between Adams street and Harvard street is marked out as reserved on the map. All the land, I think, along the line of that proposed parkway system. In conclusion, Mr. Langford said that he was in favor of taking all the land between Adams and Harvard streets. I would not, he added, do the railroad an injustice, but I would not permit it to do the city an injustice. [Applause.]

Mr. T. B. Fitzpatrick—It is my desire to join my voice in approbation of a plan that will make Washington street 100 feet wide. I find that most of the taxpayers of the city are agreed that it is the thing to do. We are to provide not only for a roadway for carriages, but must make provision also for electric travel. The time will come when two tracks will be necessary. Imagine the condition if we have a street only 75 or 80 feet wide? Washington street, it should be remembered, is the highway which connects the Newtons with South Framingham, Natick, Cordaville and all the tributary towns. It is the great highway to Boston from all these places. What serious error of economy it would be then to make Washington street through the Newtons only 85 feet wide? We all know what an immense benefit Brookline derived from its boulevard. The 500 feet of land on each side of Beacon street, we are told, increased in value $4,000,000, bringing in about $40,000 per annum into the treasury. If such a result obtained in Brookline, why hesitate to undertake an improvement in this city that must surely bring its return in increased values and, consequently, an addition to the tax revenues. Too much stress cannot be put upon the necessity of having a street that will provide for present needs and future requirements. You cannot provide for a carriage way, two electric tracks and sidewalks with a roadway only 80 feet wide. Let us provide then for present and future contingencies. If the city council passes that policy it will receive and deserve the thanks of the people of Newton.

Mr. Francis A. Dawson—I desire to add a few words in confirmation of what has been said. Where it is necessary to provide for two electric car tracks, it is necessary to have a wide thoroughfare. The conclusion of the board of survey in Boston was that two tracks should never be allowed on a street less than 100 feet in width. Proper safeguards for convenience and safety are deemed impossible in a narrower street. The improvements for the next 20 or 25 years in this city ought to be in the direction of beautifying it. Washington street in the march of events has greatly deteriorated and the opportunity is afforded now of restoring it to a condition that it should have never departed from. The expense is not extravagant. As has been said, there will be a compensation in taxable property to compensate for the outlay. The 100 foot widening should be extended just as far as the B. & A. railroad comes in contact with the highway. Right here, let me say that the citizens of the north side do not intend to permit the Boston & Albany railroad to run its tracks through the Newtons. [Great applause.] I trust that my life will be spared long enough to fight the elevation project. If the tracks are depressed, as they must be, some of the land secured on the south side will be available for the uses of the road in making its slopes. That would be a decreased cost for the widening. No one opposes the widening so far as I have been able to learn.

Ex-Alderman Chadwick—My instructions were to present the resolutions adopted by the Ward Two Republican caucus favoring the widening of the south side. There were several things that were not spoken of in the resolutions. One was that the street should be widened in a liberal manner. Reference was made to the accident which caused the death of the late chief and of the necessity of providing against such a mishap in the future. No recommendation was made as to the width, but it seems clear that the street should be at least 100 feet wide. It would be wise, I think, to take all the buildings on the south side of Newtonville square between the present street line and the B. & A. tracks. There was a large attendance at the caucus, over 200 voters being present. The expression in favor of the widening was unanimous.

Mr. Henry King—I have advocated always a wide street, certainly not less than 100 feet. I would have the city take all the land between the Washington street crossing in Newton and the Washington street crossing in West Newton. That portion not required for the widening could be parked, making the vicinity very attractive. Twenty years ago our people were very modest. They only wanted the width of the street increased 20 feet. The abutters were willing to give the land, but the city fathers, influenced by economy, voted against it because it would cost $15,000 to put that free land into the highway. We can see now what a short sighted policy that was. It has been suggested in the proposed widening of the street railway should be separated by a walk from the rest of the street, giving it a runway independent of that used for carriages. It is, I think, an excellent idea. I trust that the city will treat the improvement in a liberal way. Something has been said about the debt limit. It has been nearly reached, I understand. It seems to me that the legislature would extend the debt limit and that it would not refuse to grant that favor in the light of the magnificent improvement proposed.

Mr. H. F. Bent—The highway committee deserves thanks for providing such an intelligent map, showing the scheme of widening. It is to be complimented, too, upon its increased liberality in providing more land for the improvement. I cannot understand, however, why the committee is on the defensive in this matter. The people want a wide street. Are we so poor that we cannot afford to do this thing? I have yet to hear one voice raised in opposition to the widening. Go to Park street with it, I say; yes, and to the Washington street crossing in West Newton. The people of this city will thank you for it. [Applause.]

Mr. Runyon of Boston appeared for Eddy street abutters. He said that the parties whom he represented were opposed to the widening. If it must come, he contended, as a matter of public necessity, they want it to come as speedily as possible and they want a wide, safe and convenient thoroughfare. As long as this agitation continues, it will be impossible to sell property located on Washington street. In an improvement of this kind there are three points to be considered. One is that of beauty. It would be impossible to get a thoroughfare comparing favorably with those of neighboring cities laid out from 75 to 85 feet wide and with some of the unsightly things existing now left after the completion of the improvement. If the main highway, Washington street, is to be a thoroughfare of your city you practically construct a highway connecting the Metropolitan park system.

If it is a question of public necessity and convenience, another point to be considered, you should certainly provide for a wide street. If the street is 100 feet wide, there will be no difficulty in the way when it becomes necessary to locate the second street railway track.

The third point in the consideration of this question relates to expense. I don't think the wealthy city of Newton is called upon to hesitate on that account. If the highway committee lays out a narrow street, it will be laughed at five years from now. Its members would feel ashamed of themselves. If you lay out a wide thoroughfare, you need not fear who your next successors in office will be. [Applause.] The question of election need not trouble you for a moment. I desire in conclusion to urge speed in this matter. Do it at once. I can tell you of an actual sale of property that was killed because somebody told the intending purchaser that the street was going to be widened. The man refused to buy and has gone to Chelsea or some other place. What the Eddy street abutters who try to do this to widen the street at once or forever hold your peace. [Applause.]

Ex-Alderman S. A. D. Sheppard—If the city council is on the defensive, it is because simply of a desire to ascertain just what the people want in this matter of improvement. They want to know how the taxpayers feel about it—the people who are called upon to pay the bills. There can be no doubt, however, but that they will support the city council in laying out a wide thoroughfare sufficient for present and future requirements. They will support you in a liberal expenditure. I was one of the committee appointed by the Garden City Improvement Society to appear here and advocate a thoroughfare, at least, 100 feet wide. The association consists of some of the representative taxpayers of the city and their views in this matter of improvement I desire to lay before you. I think I have every one who has given this subject consideration.

Mr. W. E. Sheldon asked if the Boston & Albany railroad still entertained the idea of moving its tracks northward from Greenwood street to the Washington street crossing in West Newton. His object in asking this, he said, was to see if some arrangement could not be made with the railroad to exchange land needed to accomplish that for land east of the Washington street crossing needed for the widening.

Chairman Bothfield in reply stated that the B. & A. management had abandoned the scheme.

Mr. Sheldon—I favor the widening of 100 feet from Park street through to West Newton. By taking all the land on the south side, I can see opportunities for parkway improvements that would greatly beautify the whole surroundings. I am sure that the B. & A. management might be persuaded to move its tracks at the point I mentioned if an amicable exchange of land could be arranged.

Mr. J. B. Goodrich—It is evident that great progress has been made in the way of generous treatment of the proposed highway widening. At a previous hearing, I had occasion to urge the inadvisability of taking land on the north side to the detriment of the Catholic church property. The reasons which I gave then hold now. The committee proposes now to take only a narrow strip of land, but it lessens the objection in degree. You can't help feeling tender about an encroachment upon that church property, unless there is an absolute necessity exists for it. The only obstacle in the way is the coal yard, and unless I am greatly mistaken, the unanimity of sentiment in this regard must go. [Applause.] If the coal and freight yard are required and the Boston & Albany management see that you mean business, I don't think there will be any trouble about it. I have reason to believe that the B. & A. directors will consider the matter fairly when the time comes for making a decision. As yet, they have not considered it. It would certainly be very sorry for them to stand in the way of such a necessary improvement. The point of beauty has been brought up here in this discussion. What a monument of beauty that coal yard would be! [Applause.] Can it be that the increased expense of taking all the land is only $125,000? Think you that the tax payers would hesitate when by making only that additional expenditure, we get rid of all the objectionable places along the line of the highway? On the broad grounds of economy, at tractiveness and necessity, I can see no reason for hesitation in this matter. I do not agree with a previous speaker that the speed is the great desideratum. Suppose you had speeded it the other night and adopted the first plan of widening proposed. It would have been a waste of time necessary to arrive at a wise decision. With the sentiment of the citizens so clearly understood, I do not apprehend any unreasonable delay in the settlement of this matter. [Applause.]

Mr. W. U. Lawson said that he expected Mr. J. E. Hollis at the hearing as a member of the committee appointed by the Hunnewell Hill Improvement Society. I am disappointed, said he, because of his inability on account of a severe cold, to be present. He wrote to me stating that he could not be here and expressed the hope that the widening would be carried out from Park street and the thoroughfare made 100 feet wide. Judge Kennedy, another member of the committee, is expected later and will probably express similar views.

Mr. H. A. Fuller of the committee of the Hunnewell Hill Improvement Society was the next speaker. He favored the widening 100 feet from Park street. He thought that the buildings from the square on the south side to a point just below the Washington street crossing should be removed. All the land, said he, should be taken east of Channing tunnel and the improvement continued to Park street.

Mr. J. T. Langford stated at this point that he had been requested by Mr. W. J. Follett and F. A. Day to favor in their behalf the 100 feet widening. It was their idea, he said, that the improvement should go forward in the most liberal manner, free from parsimonious considerations, with the purpose in view of securing a thoroughfare that would provide for all present and future requirements.

John Flood—I am in favor of taking all the land east of Channing tunnel as well as west of it. I should like to remain where I am, but if the improvement is to be made, it seems to me that a clean sweep should be made.

Mr. James C. Follett said that he desired to protest against any introduction of an argument that the street should be widened 100 feet and all land taken on the south side because it would secure the re-election of those members of the city council who voted for it. He thought it was right, said he, without regard to the question of your successor in office will be. I think that the street should be 100 feet wide and trust that the members of the city government may see their way clear to carry out the idea which seems to be universally favored. [Applause.]

Mayor Fenno read a letter from Luther Farwell protesting against taking land owned by him or members of his family for the widening. The hearing was closed at 9:28 o'clock.

Upon reassembling in the aldermanic chamber, regular business was transacted with. The common council took up the appropriation bill and concurred with the upper branch in all the items except that for highway sidewalks and street crossings which was reduced from $18,000 to $15,000. The aldermen voted to make the item stand at $15,000 and passed in concurrence the order providing for an appropriation of $838,810 for department expenditures of 1895.

The first business in the board of mayor and aldermen upon reassembling was the consideration of a report submitted by Alderman Bothfeld for the water board calling attention to the corroding of pipes through electrolysis. It stated that much trouble and damage had been reported as a result of the escaping electric current from the street railway tracks into the ground. Recent investigations by the superintendent of the water board showed that the pipes in Newton had been affected. The amount of damage resulting could only be determined by expert examination. The report suggested that the city council give the matter consideration, and determine if possible what metal could be adopted to prevent further injury to the pipes in the future. The communication was received and placed on file.

An order was passed later providing for an appropriation of $500 for an expert examination of the water pipes to determine the extent of damage and to see what means, if any, could be adopted to prevent further trouble.

Orders were also adopted appropriating from any unexpended balances $507 to be added to the appropriation for assessors' department; authorizing the issuing of notice to abutters of the intent to lay out School street at the corner of the street north of and appointing hearings thereon for Wednesday, Dec. 12, before the board of aldermen, and Monday, Dec. 21, before the common council at 7:30 o'clock; authorizing the laying out of sidewalks on Berkeley and Lincoln streets; the laying out of a sewer on Berkeley road, Hancock and Hunnewell avenues, Hunnewell terrace, Paul, Pearl and Alpine streets; appropriating $150 to be added to the appropriation for inspector of buildings for the exchange of horses; granting free use of City Hall for an entertainment in aid of the William Home, Dec. 24; authorizing the public property committee to dispose of the old building known as the Hyde schoolhouse, the proceeds to apply to the sinking fund for the new building; appropriating $3000 from any unexpended balances to be added to the highway street crossing and sidewalk appropriation.

Petitions of the Newton & Watertown Gas Light Co., for locations for poles and wires for electric lighting or power, (or both) on Otis street from Walnut easterly, Clinton avenue, Chestnut and Otis streets were referred and hearings ordered thereon for Tuesday evening, Dec. 4, at 7:30 o'clock, before the board of mayor and aldermen.

John L. Lawrence was granted a license for a two week's exhibition of the Kickapoo Indian Medicine Company in Cole's Hall, under the supervision of the city marshal and the collection of $3 per week was authorized.

A petition of Mrs. John Cody for damages on account of a fall on Hammond street was referred to the committee on claims.

At 10:38 the board went into executive session, and about half an hour later it adjourned.

Political and Otherwise.

Enterprise is considered the one great desideratum in modern journalism. There is a constant rivalry on the part of the great papers nowadays to beat one another on some important piece of news. An exclusive is hailed with delight and is a source of great joy and consolation to the reporter who keeps account of all his big "scopings." How happy then must that weary quill driver have been who furnished the exclusive on the Bronson-Pierce wedding last week? The Boston Herald was about five hours ahead of the ceremony, and its contemporaries were way behind. Talk about bulletin board activity in giving some of the details of the great football match at Springfield, it cut no ice with the rapidity of the Herald's news service in giving a full report of the wedding referred to. It was swifter than the aldermen who tied the knot, and, altogether, an example of hustling extraordinary.

A good story was told the other day of a young man who was trying to explain the disadvantages of the boycott. His education had been somewhat neglected, but he realized that he was under a ban that prevented him from securing employment and thought that he was the victim of a dreadful plot. A friend who chanced to meet him made some inquiries about his progress in the struggle for a living and received the startling information that his former employer had put a limitation upon him to prevent him from securing work anywhere. He unhesitatingly pronounced it a mean trick and expressed the hope that it would be exposed, the public, thereby, getting some idea of the smallness of some people in dealing with wags and wags. A cow boy is a devoted innovation in the labor problem and what the effect will be, advancing the interests of employers or injuring those of employees, one may not predict with any degree of certainty at this time. Perhaps these wild, lawless terrors of the woolly west are to take the place of the Pinkerton detectives. Wonder if they will be recognized by Newton's "Four Hundred?"

In looking over the list of guests which a local paper printed the other day in connection with an account of the Newton's Club reception, one was, at least, surprised to learn that even a few of those who had departed for the other world found it an attraction that they could not withstand. They were present, I presume, invisible to the naked eye, for no description is given of the costumes worn by the shadowy visitants. Others were there, too, who were believed to be thousands of miles away, and some came with wives who were thought to be bachelors. Gosh all hemlock! One never can tell what to believe in these pushing days, until the tip is furnished through the public prints.

Another new paper in Newton. It's a luxury that one need not have if they don't want it.

There was little snap in the Citizen's movement this year. One trouble was that no one wanted to accept the nomination for mayor who had much of a show of being elected against Candidate Bothfeld. Its ticket, there, partook somewhat of the nature of a whitewash, but it was only a sugar coating to prepare for more vigorous campaigns in the future. The old party that appeared in its support on non-partisan grounds, in my opinion, is sure to be a prominent factor in future city elections.

Harvard outplayed Yale. Too bad that victory did not perch on the crimson banner.

What in the world has become of that petition of the master plumbers asking for the appointment of an inspector according to statute requirement? They say it costs too much to have a law laid out for the school board without a murmur of dissent for the agent and two or three assistants. Perhaps it is entirely necessary, but it is certainly a great deal more than was allowed to the man who was legislated out of his office. It doesn't seem fair to keep on doing something that is contrary to the wishes of the best plumbers of the city and contrary to the spirit, if not the intent of the law.

There is consternation in some circles owing to the action of the Republicans in nominating for the school committee from the water board, a candidate from a show of being elected against Candidate Bothfeld. Its ticket, there, partook somewhat of the nature of a whitewash, but it was only a sugar coating to prepare for more vigorous campaigns in the future. The old party that appeared in its support on non-partisan grounds, in my opinion, is sure to be a prominent factor in future city elections.

There is one man in the city whose conceit is so large that he actually advertises it. What a large measure he must take of himself. Well, it seems good that there is a cure for swell head. It will take more than an adult's dose to reduce the abnormal caput development in this case. If, as they say, one could buy these articles for what they are worth and use them for what they are believed to be worth, wouldn't it be a great chance for the accumulation of riches?

One who has given thought to the matter must oppose the plan in most of the suburban cities of managing the police department. It should never be placed in the hands of a committee of the city council, in nine cases out of every ten absolutely without any experience qualifying it to assume any such responsibility. Only a short time ago the police committee had a man up before it to explain why he had discharged a plain duty. It would not be a half bad idea to make the city marshal actual head of his department rather than the executive officer of the police committee. He is supposed to be the practical man. The citizens generally favor the idea of putting more responsibility in his hands to the end that a burden may be taken from the committee that it should not be called upon to bear.

It is to be hoped that the suggestion of Mr. J. B. Goodrich will be regarded and that hereafter the city council will grant all locations for poles and wires subject to the condition of non-interference with locations previously granted. It is said that the local street railway companies have refused to bear any proportion of the expense of making changes where their wires have come in contact with those utilized for street lighting and other purposes. It has become a recognized fact that the same street railway companies expect a vast amount more than they have any reason to. They want all sorts of locations and privileges and the management apparently entertain the idea that the city covers itself with glory by granting its numerous and extraordinary demands for street privileges. In reality the street railroads have added materially to the expense of highway maintenance and it is about time that seemingly ungrateful corporations gave some evidence of their appreciation of favors that have aided them materially in their one consistent effort the multiplication of nickels.

QUERIUS.

NEWTONVILLE'S NEW SCHOOL.

DESCRIPTION OF STRUCTURE SOON TO BE ERECTED AT A COST OF $50,000.

The new grammar school building at Newtonville, soon to be constructed to replace the Adams schoolhouse, which was wrecked by fire in May last, will be one of the best of its kind.

The plans are by Hartwell & Richardson of Boston, and are for an eight-room building with hall. The cost is estimated at $50,000. The building will be located on Watertown street. It will face the north. It will be of brick with trimmings of brownstone. The upper story will be finished in texture work, and the roof covered with gray slate.

The building will have two entrances, one on Watertown street and the other on the Edinboro street side. The doors will open into large square vestibules, from which short flights of steps will lead into the main hallway. The long corridor will occupy the entire north side of the building. At either end wide, open staircases will give access to the second floor and the basement.

The stairways leading to the second stories are well lighted, and are located on the north side of the building. They secure light, warmth and sunshine to the pupils has been the aim of the architects and accordingly all the school rooms will be on the south side. By the unique arrangement of the building six of the 10 rooms are on corners.

On the first and second floors are four class rooms, each 28 by 32 feet. On the second floor, directly over the main entrances, are two small rooms, one for the principal's use and the other for the teachers. On the third floor are two class rooms of the same size of those in the lower stories. The large hall is 34 feet. The seating capacity of the hall is 400, but this may be increased to 500 by throwing open the folding doors, which connect it with one of the school rooms. Near the center of the hall is a large stage.

Connected with each of the class rooms are two large dressing rooms. These are separated from the hallways only by wire screens, thus insuring thorough ventilation and the proper drying of damp clothing. The interior will be finished throughout in cherry and oak, and the walls of the class rooms and main hall will be tinted in dark harmonizing shades. The arrangements for the ventilation of the building are almost perfect, and have been carefully considered. Two main ventilating shafts will run through the hallways in the center of the building at either end.

The schoolhouse is designed to accommodate about 500 pupils, and will allow for a liberal growth of the school, as the present attendance is only about 300. The work of construction will be commenced as soon as the necessary orders have been passed by the city government and it is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1895.

A False Diagnosis.

La Grippe is confounded by many persons with a severe attack of catarrh, which in some respects resembles the one. These individuals suffer severely with pain about the forehead, eyes and ears, with soreness in throat and stoppage of the nasal passages, and in fact, are incapacitated for work of any kind for days at a time. These are catarrhal sufferers. Ely's Cream Balm has been used with the best results in such cases. The remedy will give instant relief.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

The contest over school board members will be confined chiefly to the opposing candidates from Ward Two, and is owing to the difference of opinion that prevails, between those who think that the enormous and growing expenses of our schools demand the presence of more business men on the school board, and those who hold it is impossible to check the growing expenses and believe that school board members should be teachers or others theoretically interested in education.

In Ward Four there is also a contest
but one of the candidates is a clergyman and the other a teacher in the Institute of Technology, so that the issue is not clearly drawn there. In Ward Two, however, the issue has purposely been made very plain. The candidates are Mrs. Mary R. Martin, a former teacher, and Mr. Boyden, who is a teacher in Boston, on the one hand, and on the other Mr. J. L. Richards and Mr. C. F.
Avery, who are two of the most enterprising and ablest business men in the ward. They were chosen at the Republican convention after a vigorous contest, in which the sentiment of the ward in their favor was made very plain, and the convention yielded to public sentiment in putting up the two business men.

At present the board is made up of four lawyers, five men in general business, two insurance agents, one teacher and two ladies, and somehow the impression has gone abroad that the business element on the board needs to be augmented. The city gives the board directly about $150,000 a year to expend, besides the indirect expenses of new school buildings and other things, which would bring the amount up to nearly a quarter of a million. We have a superintendent to attend to the theoretical part of the business, to advise increases of expenses on all sides, and take charge of the board generally, but superintendents are not supposed to be business men and are not hired for that purpose.
The lawyers, the ladies and the teacher
make up at present half of the board,
and many people think that the results
to the tax-payers would be more satisfactory if the business men were in the majority. The retirement of Mr. Ober will leave the business men in the minority, as neither of the candidates nominated to succeed him is a business man.

The contest involves the question of what a school board is for, whether it is merely to serve as an advisory board and carry out the suggestion of the superintendent and teachers, and be a sort of sympathizer in general to the worker in the schools, or whether it is chosen to direct the business part of our school system,
consider the wisdom of proposed expenses, and see that everything is managed economically and prudently and that the city gets the full worth of the large amount of money it provides for the school. The votes cast for the candidates from Ward Two will show what side the people take on this question.

WASHINGTON STREET WIDENING.

The hearing on the widening of Washington street showed how much interest has been awakened in the subject by the Local Improvement Societies, which have been stirring up their members with postal cards for the past few weeks, and it looks as though public opinion had been roused to such a point that something would have to be done in the near future.

There is a good deal of sentiment in favor of making the street 100 feet wide instead of 85, and of taking all the land between Washington street and the railroad tracks, from Newton to West Newton. It would be very fine to have a wide street, but it must be borne in mind that very little addition to the valuation of the city can be hoped for from this improvement. It will be a one-sided street, with the railroad for one boundary, and if the estates on the north side appreciate in value sufficiently to compensate for the property taken on the South side, it is about all that can be expected, according to competent judges.

The improvement will be a very expensive one, even if the narrow width is taken; wide streets cost a great deal to keep in order, and Washington street will never be a very desirable street for residences, and only valuable for business purposes in the centers of the three villages on the line of the widening.

There is a popular craze nowadays for boulevards, and the fad may easily be carried to extravagant limits. They prove profitable investments, when carried through an undeveloped country such as that out through by the new Newton boulevard, but as far as Washington street is concerned, the main thing is to get it wide enough to make it safe for the great amount of traffic that passes over it. More than this would be folly, as wide streets are very expensive to keep in repair, and in time people would object to wading through an extra thirty or forty feet of mud to reach the electric cars, which are to be placed on the south side of the street. Whether an 85 foot street would not answer all present and future needs is something for the city government to consider, and if so it would be foolish to spend $125,000 for purely sentimental reasons, when no return in additions to the taxable property of the city would follow.

The character of the street is already determined, and no great change will follow widening. The proximity of the railroad tracks will prevent its ever being a beautiful street, or one popular for pleasure travel, and it will always remain
as now a business street, used by people
as the shortest way to get to the point they wish to go, so that the widening is purely a business matter and should be considered solely in that light.

THE CITY ELECTION.

With no contest for mayor there promises to be less excitement than usual about next Tuesday's election, but the contest over two aldermen, the school committee, and the candidates for the common council, promises to arouse a good deal of interest, and will save the election from being an entirely commonplace affair.

Particular interest is felt over the Ward Two contest, and the friends of Mr. Hatch feel confident of his success.
A letter in his favor on our first page gives the feeling of some prominent men
from all parts of the city in his favor,
and those who know him will endorse heartily all that is there said of his qualifications for the position. Mr. Hatch is so well posted on all financial matters that he would make a very strong member of the board, which will need just that kind of ability next year. He is well supplied with good business sense,
also, and can be depended on to decide all matters that may come up on their merits. A good deal of important business will come up next year, and the city will need the very best men that can be secured to look after its interests, and for this reason Mr. Hatch should be chosen.

In Ward Five, there is also a warm contest between Mr. Thomas White and
Dr. Thompson, the present incumbent.
Mr. White is said to be a first-class business man and is highly endorsed.

There is a very warm contest over members of the school board from Ward
Two, with the chances in favor of what is called the business men's ticket.

For Councilmen there is a contest in most of the wards in which local influences will for the most part decide,
and the men who are the best and most favorably known will be elected. Unusually good nominations have been made this year by both parties and the next Common Council promises to be one of the best we have had for several years.

THE KILLIAN CLAIM.

On Nov. 8th the Boston Herald published what purported to be a report of proceedings before the committee on sewers of Newton, with reference to the Killian claim. That publication was an injustice to the committee, the counsel for the claimants, the city, and the mayor of the city at the time when the contract was made, and was grossly inaccurate.

The city has had no more efficient administration than that given it by the exceptionally able gentleman who was then mayor and the members of the city council during his administration. The facts of the case are, the contractor entered into a contract which was drawn with great care and skill by the city solicitor, and had every opportunity given him to find out and to know what was the work required to be done—nothing on the part of the city and its officials was concealed. It so happened, however, that serious and unforeseen difficulties were involved in the work, and in consequence of these the cost of construction was largely in excess of what the contractor anticipated. In construing the contract with reference to the unforeseen difficulties very intricate and difficult questions of law and fact have arisen, and a strict enforcement of the city's rights would tend to work a hardship, especially upon the laborers.

The city and its officials have always been disposed to deal justly with the laborers and their claims but has heretofore been prevented from so doing by reason of the insolvency of the contractor and the complex nature of the facts and legal questions.

Now, however, the matter has been carefully gone into, the facts and legal rights of the parties fairly ascertained and it is believed the matter will be speedily and properly adjusted. A final disposition of this case by paying the amount due for labor, which the contractor did not pay,
but which the laborers had earned at the time the contractor abandoned his work,
and of which the city has had the benefit,
would meet the hearty approval of our citizens, and would establish beyond question that Newton, like the other cities and towns of the Commonwealth, will see to it that the honest laborers, who construct her public work, shall receive just recompense for their toil.

THE Republican Ward and City Committee loses three valuable members this year, in the retirement of the chairman, secretary and treasurer, Messrs. Robert H. Gardner, W. O. Knapp and J. M. T.
Allen, and it will be difficult to fill their places. At the last meeting a vote of thanks was tendered to each of them

separately for their honorable service.
Mr. Allen has served as treasurer for eight years, and has always paid the bills
as promptly as the money could be collected in, and the creditors of the committee will hold him in grateful memory.
The position of treasurer is not an easy
one to fill, as he is placed between two fired, contributors who hate to contribute,
and creditors who want their money, but Mr. Allen has served with satisfaction to both.

WELLESLEY has won a great victory over the Boston & Albany, and the railroad commissioners have decided that all the Wellesley stations must be included in the suburban system, with the same advantages as to book tickets, and the fares graduated on the same rate as other towns in the suburban system.
The Boston & Albany fought hard against it but were beaten, much to the gratification of Wellesley people.

We have received a letter from Mr.
W. F. Slocum advocating the re-election of Mrs. Martin and Mr. Boyden, and stating that there is a strong, general approval of the members from Ward
Two, instead of any dissatisfaction. The article was received too late for publication. Articles of any length, intended for publication, should be sent in early in the week, otherwise they run the chance of being crowded out by local news.

THE retirement of Mr. Davis from the Common Council contest in Ward Three has made him many warm friends and in the future he will be able to name any office he desires. He took a very manly stand in the matter, and his letter in another column does him great credit and has made him one of the most popular men in Ward Three.

THE report of the committee on the sounding of the storm signal will be found in the account of the school board proceedings.

SCHOOL BOARD IN SESSION.

A meeting of the school board was held Wednesday.

After the reading of the roll call, the regular order of business was proceeded with. Fred H. Keyes and Willard Marcy were appointed assistant teachers in the evening drawing school at Newton and their compensation fixed at the rate of $3 per evening.

The committee on rules and regulations report follows here:

The committee on rules and regulations, to whom was referred the communication of the Hunnewell Hill Improvement Association regarding the use of the no-school signal, reported as follows:

The suspension of the schools in case of stormy weather is by S. C. 9 of Chap.
2 of the regulations, intrusted to the superintendent and he has explained his views on the subject at some length in his report for the year 1892. He suggests to all parents that in the early morning hours each is in a position to decide whether his children ought to attend school; he knows the distance to be walked, the character of the road, the physical condition of the children, the completeness with which they are protected from the weather. Evidently, one decision may be wise in one family or in the case of one child that in the case of another would be the height of unwisedom. While he deems it best to continue the present rule, he feels that the seems to him clear that the management of the signal should not supersede the judgment of fathers and mothers.

This committee believes with the superintendent that the management of the storm signal is one of the most perplexing of his minor duties; our schools cost about $800 per day and he may well hesitate, except in extreme cases,
at stopping the machinery of the school system at much expense to the taxpayer and loss of valuable time, none too long at most to the pupils.

He has given the phraseology of the rule careful consideration and while no change which seems likely to be an improvement suggests itself to us, the committee suggests that a somewhat more frequent use of the signal may be advisable.

EDWARD H. MASON, } Committee.
W. G. BRACKETT, }
FARN HALL, }

An order offered by Mr. Lawrence
Bond was adopted appropriating $13,- 467.18 for department expenses of the month of December.

Orders were also adopted authorizing the superintendent of schools to establish a kindergarten in the Hyde building, requesting the city council to appropriate $1200 for furnishing the new Hyde schoolhouse with the exception of the hall and $500 for furnishing the hall.

A. I. Benyon, John W. Howe, David
F. Clark, James C. Newcomb and James W. Beecher were appointed trustee of officers with a fee of 50 cents per hour for actual service.

Next in order came the election of superintendent of schools. Mrs. Martin and Mr. Smith were appointed a committee to receive and count the ballots.
There were nine members of the board present. They all voted for Mr. George L. Aldrich and he was declared elected by Mayor Fenno. The board then adjourned.

The Copley Square School has been so overcrowded with pupils that they have not been able to give their usual attention to entertainments the last few weeks.

There will be a Piano Recital, also Vocal Music next week, to which all pupils of the school are invited. Application should be made early in the week for invitations.

The exhibition of the Art Department
last week was a great success.

A gem from the public school: A small boy, required to write a sentence containing the word "hominy," produced the following:

hurt but considerable damage was wrought.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE.—"The Cotton King" has concluded its phenomenal run at the Bowdoin Square Theatre and during the week beginning Dec. 3 will be seen in some of the principal cities of New England. The next attraction at the Bowdoin Square beginning Monday evening is "The Two Orphans," by Kate Claxton and Mme.
Janaussek. Mme. Janaussek will be seen for the first time in the role of Comtesse de Luiniere. She invests the part with an unwonted dignity and impressiveness, and in the great climax at the end of the fifth act she rises to the heights of emotional power to which she has accustomed us. "The Two Orphans" will give way on Friday night to
"My Lady Reckless," a comedy-drama adapted from the French, and which was a great success in Paris and Berlin, Miss Kate Claxton and Mme. Janaussek both appearing in the cast.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—The attraction at the Grand Opera House, week of Dec. 3, is "Coon Hollow," a new Tennessee comedy described by the New York Herald as a play with a plot and heart story. "Coon Hollow" is a complete scenic production and the effects are described as very beautiful. A Tennessee home in Autumn is shown in the first act; in the second, the rocky gorge known as "Coon Hollow" in the third,
an interior home scene, and a dark change to a Mississippi wood landing below Memphis, in which is shown the Lee-Natchez steamboat race. The story is concisely told and the strength of the play does not depend upon the scenic or sensational effects. The characters are noted as flesh and blood creations, drawn true to nature, and having the advantage of a capital company to interpret them.

Little Jack was praying for all the family. His father had been away for a short journey and Jack was saying, as usual, "Bless papa and take care of him," when suddenly he raised his head and listened. "Never mind about it now, Lord," ended the little fellow; "I heard him down in the hall!"

"What have you learned in Sunday-school to-day, Ethel?" asked her mother
as the little girl came running up to her.
"Well, I learned a verse," answered the child, glancing over to where great-grandmother sat, and hesitating.

"What is it, dear?"

"Thou shalt," began the child, and then suddenly whispering, "thou shalt not bear false teeth against thy neighbor."

AN INFERNAL MACHINE.

FOUND ATTACHED TO WINDOW OF MR. G. H. BOURNE'S HOUSE IN AUBURNDALE—CRUDELY CONSTRUCTED—BUT NEVER-THESLESS DANGEROUS—NO CLUE TO THE PERPETRATOR OF THE OUTRAGE.

The family of George Bourne of Woodbine street, Auburndale, were startled Monday morning by finding what appeared to be a bomb attached to a window of the house.

Mr. Bourne did not like the appearance of the machine, so he took it up tenderly, and put it into the hands of Patrolman W. G. Bosworth. By him it was taken in an equally gingerly manner to police headquarters in West Newton, and turned over to Capt. Davis. Without much hesitation the captain attacked the supposed bomb, and drew out the plugs with a pair of pincers.

The officials were considerably surprised to have the withdrawing of the plug followed by a stream of black grains, which proved to be gunpowder. A small bottle covered with red paper followed the black powder, and contained some greasy looking substance thought to be dynamite. It was pronounced to be dynamite by the city marshal and the engineers in the office of the city engineer also declared it to be that dangerous explosive.

The machine consists of a piece of 3 1/2 inch gas pipe 1 1/2 inches long. At the lower end a wooden plug was driven tightly into the pipe and wedged in with two iron nails. At the other end was another wooden plug with a large hole bored through it, through which protruded the neck of a small bottle, which in turn was plugged with a wooden stopper.

Through this plug ran two copper wires about 14 inches in length. The arrangement was completed by several nails driven between the plug and the iron.

The bomb was submitted Monday afternoon to the expert on explosives employed by the city engineer's department. He confirmed the judgment of the police that the contents of the inner tube was dynamite or nitro-glycerine, and further stated that the powder in the iron pipe was the giant powder used in blasting. The charge in the bomb was sufficient, he said, to blow the City Hall out of existence. As soon as this information was received the captain ordered the bomb to be destroyed.

The police have absolutely no clue to the perpetrators of the outrage. Mr. George H. Bourne is one of the best known citizens of Auburndale. Nearly two years ago his house was broken into twice within a few days. The breaks were supposed to have been the work of boys, who were organized into a gang and committed a large number of acts of lawlessness at that time.

Suspicion pointed strongly to one boy at that time, and strangely enough in their investigations at that time the police ascertained that members of the gang, and particularly the one under suspicion, had been experimenting with powerful explosives.

Last night the one topic of conversation was the bomb. General indignation was expressed at the outrage, and a demand will probably be made on the mayor for additional police protection for this section of the city.

It is the general opinion that it was not intended that the bomb should be exploded, but that it was only placed in position in order to frighten the Bourne family. The bomb was, however, ready for use, and required but to be connected with an electric battery to explode.

FAIR.

The committee arranging for the fair to be held Dec. 12, 13, 14 and 15, in Bray's hall, Newton Centre, is hard at work and reports gratifying success. Already over 500 tickets have been sold, insuring a good attendance. The work is being carefully and systematically planned. The committee, consisting of thirty-five members, is divided into sub-committees according to residence in the city, each division having a chairman and a certain portion of the work allotted to it. This committee is as follows:

INTRODUCED IN SOCIETY.

COMING OUT PARTY OF MISS ADELE FENNO AT NEWTON CLUBHOUSE.

One of the social events of the season was the tea given at the Newton Clubhouse Tuesday afternoon to introduce Miss Adele Fenno, daughter of Mayor Fenno, into society.

The affair was very largely attended by the ladies of the society set of the Newtons, Boston, Brookline, Waltham and other adjacent cities. More than 300 invitations were issued, and nearly that number of guests were present.

The tea was held from 4 until 7. The reception and supper rooms were thronged with ladies in handsome gowns.

The reception was held in the large assembly hall, which was decorated with palms and ferns, arranged in graceful groupings. Mrs. John A. Fenno and Miss Adele Fenno were assisted in receiving by Mrs. E. P. Hatch and Mrs. W. F. Chapman.

Mrs. Fenno was gowned in blue brocade with garniture of pearl passementerie and duchess lace. Miss Fenno was daintily attired in white silk and chiffon. Mrs. Chapman wore heliotrope satin and duchess lace, and Mrs. E. P. Hatch was gowned in white silk with trimmings of green velvet.

In the supper room, which was decorated with white and pink roses, the coffee and chocolate urns were presided over by Mrs. William O. Hunt and Miss H. A. Fenno, assisted by Miss Grace Elkins, Miss Kendrick, Miss Ratsey and Miss Chapman. The traps were dispensed by Miss Constance Bennett.

Mrs. Hunt wore blue satin, and Miss H. A. Fenno wore blue silk with garniture of velvet and white lace. Miss Bennett wore a costume of blue and white striped satin.

Miss Elkins was gowned in yellow crepe with trimmings of violets. Miss Ratsey wore white silk. Miss Kendrick figured in white silk with garniture of lavender velvet and chaille, and Miss Chapman red silk and cream lace.

Miss Fenno was the recipient of many beautiful gifts of flowers from her numerous friends, which formed an attractive feature of the decorations. During the afternoon a mandolin and guitar club stationed on the platform behind a screen of palms discoursed sweet strains.

Among the ladies present were: Mrs. Shillabear of Boston, Mrs. Southern of Boston, Mrs. J. Wesley Kimball, Mrs. Richard Hollings, Mrs. Rowe, Mrs. Henry Goodfield, Mrs. H. B. Hackett, Mrs. D. C. Heath, Mrs. H. D. Kingsbury, Mrs. W. F. A. Benson, Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Alfred Ashdown, Mrs. John Morrison, Mrs. Edward White, Mrs. Hopkins, Mrs. A. R. Mitchell, Mrs. George T. Hill, Mrs. Mary I. Martin, Mrs. J. B. Chaloner, Mrs. Wolfe, Mrs. George W. Morse, Miss Morse, Mrs. Elkins, Mrs. A. F. Luke, Mrs. Arthur Vose, Mrs. George Langford, Mrs. D. C. Heath, Miss Alice Brooks, Mrs. W. J. Follett, Mrs. S. L. Powers, Mrs. George B. Jones, Mrs. Charles Craine, Mrs. Thomas Webster, Mrs. F. E. Macomber, Mrs. Upham, Mrs. Albert P. Walker, Mrs. James L. Baldwin.

Rev. Geo. M. Adams.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

In your editorial article on the school committee, last week, you spoke of Rev. Geo. M. Adams, one of the gentlemen nominated from Ward Four, as "not very well known in the city." As I have known Dr. Adams for a good many years, you will, I hope, permit me to tell what I know. Dr. Adams has been a resident at Auburndale four or five years and has built for himself a fine residence there. He has been for many years connected with the public schools. For a good many years he was the chairman of the High school committee in the city of Portsmouth, N. H. He was chairman of the school committee in one or two cities of Massachusetts for a long period. I have known him in connection with educational conventions in this State for years. He is well informed in regard to the methods of school work, and is in sympathy with the best plans for the improvement of our schools. If he is willing to serve on the committee, I am sure he will be a useful member of it. In addition to what I have stated above, Dr. Adams has been for a long time a member of the corporation of Bowdoin College. E. H. BYINGTON, Nov. 27, Franklin street, Newton.

The Newton Boulevard.

Plans are about completed for the extension of Commonwealth avenue around the northern end of the Chestnut Hill reservoir to connect with the new Newton boulevard. Releases will soon be circulated for the landowners to sign, and on their action depends a good deal what Boston will do. The present entrance to the reservoir grounds is taken for the new way, and moved further west to a point on the new avenue. The road is through city and private lands until South street is reached, which is widened mostly on the north side until after Green cemetery is passed, where the widening shifts to the southerly side for the most part. The larger takings are from the following owners: St. John's Seminary, 46,000 feet; James R. Monroe, 67,300 feet; Rebecca Brown heirs, 18,175 feet; Albert Geiger, 22,730 feet; Seth J. Thoms, 28,122 feet; Theodore Monroe, 28,588 feet. Something over 100,000 square feet of land now used by the water board for part of the reservoir park will be utilized for the avenue, which will be about 3700 feet in length.

The Right Kind.

We hope our councillor-elect is made of equally as good stuff as Mr. Leeson, the present incumbent. Yesterday on the petition of the Old Colony railroad to have its officials released from imprisonment for their part in the Abington riot, although tremendous influence was brought to bear, Mr. Leeson held firm for punishment of the guilty. That's the right kind of backbone to have! Let the richest man suffer the penalty of his crime just as if it had been an every-day working man charged with stealing a pair of shoes. Good for Councillor Leeson—and many of them.—Waltham Tribune.

HOW TO GET RICH.

To make money rapidly, become independent, and enjoy a life of ease, has been the ambition of mankind since the days of Adam! "Show me, how, and quickly," is the cry. While the ways of making money are many and varied, the most successful, and that in which the largest fortunes have been accumulated can be told in one word, SPECULATION!

In a measure we are all speculators, whether we buy merchandise which we expect to sell at a profit, houses and lands which we hold for an advance, or stocks, bonds and grain. But of all commodities, stocks, and grain pay the greatest profit. The values are better known and you can always find a market. No long tedious waits, perhaps for months before you realize a profit (as in the case of the development of land), but a constant and rapid change in values, registered daily on the "Ticker," and which if taken advantage of lead to LARGE GAINS. It is impossible to set forth in an article of this character, the ways of speculation and the many advantages to be obtained by a Broker who is constantly on the "Ticker." Suffice it to say: We have had a large experience in the Stock Brokerage business, and our book on STOCK SPECULATION fully explains in all its details the method of speculation.

We charge a commission of but 1-16 in the execution of all orders, and where the trader does not have easy access to the markets, we give him the benefit of our experience by accepting DISCRETIONARY ORDERS, or in other words, buy and sell to the best of our judgment for his account and profit.

We deal in STOCKS, GRAIN and PROVISIONS in lots of ten and upwards on a margin of from 3 to 5 per cent., and all orders receive our personal and prompt attention. Orders can be sent by mail or telegraph at our expense. Deposits received subject to check, and SATISFACTION GUARANTEED.

MIDDLESEX, SS.

In Supreme Judicial Court, November 22d A. D. 1894.

Upon the petition aforesaid, it is ordered by the Hon. James M. Morton, a Justice of said Court, that the parties hereto, parties interested within the Commonwealth to appear before our Justices of said Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County, on the 23d day of June next, by causing an attested copy of said petition and of the order of the Court thereon, to be served upon said parties interested in said petition, and also to notify all other parties interested by causing said attested copy of the petition and order to be published in the Newton Graphic a newspaper published in Newton in the County of Middlesex once a month for six successive months, that they may then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer in said petition set forth should not be granted.

THURSDAY, 22d NOV. 1894.

A true copy of the petition and of the order of the Court thereon.

Attest, THEO. C. HURD Clerk

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

MIDDLESEX, S. S.

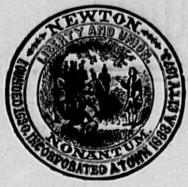

Supreme Judicial Court.
To the Honorable the Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court within and for the County of Middlesex.

Respectfully represents your petitioner, Isaac Smith, Francis Jones, Annie A. Higgins, Ed. Hunt, and William W. Furscher, all of Newton, in said County of Middlesex, as follows: That they are severally seized in fee simple as hereinafter specifically set forth of certain parcels of land, hereinafter described, of a certain parcel of land conveyed by Joseph Clark to Isaac Smith by mortgage deed dated October 24th, 1817, and recorded in Middlesex Registry of Deeds, Libro 233, Folio 337, the conditions of said mortgage being the payment to John Clark of the sum of Two Hundred and Fifty ($250.00) Dollars in two years from the date thereof, with lawful interest; that said mortgage has never been discharged of record; that said parcel of land is in said mortgage described as follows, viz: "A certain piece or parcel of woodland situated in said Newton containing thirteen acres and two quarters, bounded as follows, and being a lot set off to John Clark in the division of his father's estate; Southerly and Westerly by land of Simon Elliott; Northerly by land of Elijah F. Wood; Easterly by land of said Joseph Clark." That your petitioner Isaac Smith is seized in fee simple of the following premises, to-wit: "Commencing at the Northwest corner of the premises on which said houses are situated, and running in an Easterly direction about One Hundred and Fifty (150) feet, (the high ledge of rock being the boundary between the premises hereby conveyed and land of said Isaac Smith) to a contemplated road; thence Southerly on a contemplated road about Two Hundred and Twenty (220) feet; thence Westerly about Two Hundred and Thirty Eight (238) feet on an angle by land of Isaac Smith Sr., and by land of Allen Smith Sr.; thence Southerly about One Hundred and Twenty Five (125) feet, by a contemplated road, forty feet wide to land of Isaac Smith Sr.; thence Northerly about Two Hundred and Thirty Eight (238) feet on an angle by land of Isaac Smith Sr., and by land of Allen Smith Sr.; CITY OF NEWTON.

That meetings of the citizens of this City, qualified to vote therein, are hereby called in the several Polling Places designated by this Board, on Tuesday, the fourth day of December, A. D. 1894, for the election of a Mayor and Seven Aldermen, one Alderman being selected from each Ward; and in each Ward from residents therein two members of the Common Council. Also to elect five members of the School Committee, to be selected as follows, two from Ward One, two from Ward Two, to serve each for three years from the first Monday in January next, and one from Ward Four, to fill the unexpired term to January, 1897, of Col. S. Ober, resigned. Also to give their ballots "Yes" or "No," in answer to the question, "Shall license be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors in this city?"

All the above officers and the question of licensing the sale of intoxicating liquors, to be voted for on one ballot, except that the votes for School Committee by women will be by a separate ballot. The polls will be opened at 7 o'clock in the forenoon, and closed at 12 minutes past four o'clock in the afternoon. In the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, November 14th, 1894.

Read and adopted. ISAAC F. KINGSBURY, Clerk. Approved, November 14th, 1894.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

BOSTON THEATRE—When a play runs for week after week with a constant succession of audiences that tax the capacity of the spacious Boston theatre, it must possess great merit. Such a play is "In Old Kentucky." It possesses an interesting story—the old, old, yet ever new one of the triumph of virtue and the defeat of villainy. The story is not told in the familiar way, and the touch of pastoral simplicity which is a feature of the play is most enjoyable. There are some thrilling deeds of valor and some breath checking situations, but the spectacle is never carried beyond the bounds of probability. The scenic effects and the incidental features are on a most elaborate scale. The race scene, in which the horses struggle for the mastery, is one of the most natural stage pictures ever presented here, and the dynamite explosion, the perilous leap of the heroine across the chasm, and the rescue of the mare, Queen Bess, from the burning stable, are very startling.

COLUMBIA THEATRE—That charming actress Miss Marie Burroughs will make her first appearance as a star in Boston at the Columbia Theatre, Dec. 3, presenting the "Profligate," by A. W. Pinero. Miss Burroughs has a large circle of friends in this city, all of whom will, undoubtedly, be present at the opening, which will tend to make the occasion one of unusual importance, while others remembering her sharing the honors of M. E. S. Willard's tour will, undoubtedly, be on hand to witness her first stellar efforts. An excellent company will surround Miss Burroughs, including Louis Massen, Harry Saint Maur, J. E. Koller, H. A. Barfoot, C. O. Brown, F. W. Maxwell, W. H. Willard, Kate Lester, Marion Abbott, Beverly Sigrares and Irene Perry.

W. A. McGuire, a well known citizen of McKay, Ohio, is of the opinion that there is nothing as good for children troubled with colds or croup as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He has used it in his family for several years with the best results and always keeps a bottle of it in the house. After having a gripe he was himself troubled with a severe cough. He used other remedies without benefit and then concluded to try the children's medicine and to his delight it soon effected a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. W. Kewes, Auburndale; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

It was another little girl, who, going to the Episcopal church, and happening to turn around just at the moment when the congregation bow their adoration in the creed, took it into her head that they were all bowing to her. And so, as she was a polite little girl, and not inclined to receive a salutation without returning it, she bowed very respectfully and exclaimed: "Good morning, people!"

Thousands of cases of rheumatism have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This is abundant reason for belief that it will cure you.

CHRISTMAS NOVELTIES.

VERY PRETTY GIFTS THAT COST ONLY A LITTLE MONEY.

Preparations for Christmas are being briskly carried out already. One of the most attractive novelties, is a baby's egg cup and coxey, which is as pleasing to many grown up people as to the little ones of the family. Upon the side of the cup is painted a most comical tiny face, with a laughing expression that is quite infectious to the beholder. Over the rim of the cup is set a Punchinello cap, knitted in scarlet wool, drawn up into a point with a tassel. This acts as a coxey for the egg, and greatly adds to the whimsicality of the design.

A fan bag is a useful present for theatregoers, and is now brought out in a somewhat novel shape. It is, of course, long and narrow, the lower edges being gathered into a point and finished with a tassel. At the top the two divisions are left unsewn for the depth of some four or five inches. These two flaps are made up with a pretty colored satin lining, and loops of cord are added at the upper corners. These serve the double purpose of a handle and of closing the bag.

Those who make Christmas presents at home will be glad to know that the expanding collars, such as have for some time past been used upon reticules made of antelope skin, are now to be had separately. They cost little, are extremely ornamental, and need only sewing into place. All the trouble either of sewing on rings or of making a casing for the double drawstring, which is sometimes cause for bewilderment to the amateur, is now avoided, and her work or shopping bag, moreover, will have a desirable professional appearance. One of the prettiest of these mounts is of oxidized metal, like many of the waist clasps and buckles, and is provided with a lid of the same metal, handsomely embossed, which fits down firmly upon the lower and expanding portion of the collar.

A novel handkerchief sachet is made as an exact model of a shirt front of cream satin, with the pleat down the centre, studs and all complete. Another and a prettier conceit, likely to be more durable in its popularity, is a sachet covered with the daintiest crepe de chine, embroidered in a tiny floral design with colored silks.

The tracing linen familiar to most workers is now turned to a new purpose, for its surface is found to be admirably well suited for painting upon, and it can be made up into charming workcases for travellers, also into photograph frames, notebook covers, and a thousand and one pretty trifles.

SANTA CLAUS.

BARRETT GETS THIRTY YEARS.

CLOSING WORDS BY HIS COUNSEL, JOHN B. GOODRICH.

The burglar Barrett, who shot a man in the neighboring town of Weston, and whose trial at East Cambridge was brought to a close last Friday, was found guilty of murder in the second degree. His counsel, Mr. John B. Goodrich, in his closing address to the jury tried to impress upon the twelve worthy men the uncertainty and unreliability of circumstantial evidence when a man's life was in the balance, and the duty of giving him every reasonable doubt.

He contended that the evidence could not justify a verdict for more than manslaughter. Farrar had pursued Barrett at his peril, and the defendant was justified in doing what he had. The closing in upon Barrett and other points of evidence were all referred to as showing how the defendant had been brought to bay by a party of men, strangers to him; how he felt himself in danger of his life or bodily harm.

Mr. Goodrich claimed that the prisoner had the right to shoot, after using every means to get away, even to trying to intimidate his pursuers. Barrett's questions, counsel thought, proved that in his mind he was being arrested for setting the fire in the woods, and he did not want to be arrested with burglars' tools in his possession.

On the jury's finding of murder in the second degree, Judge Aldrich imposed a sentence of thirty years. The court took occasion to compliment Counsel Goodrich for the government and Counsel Goodrich and Selfridge for the defence. Said he: "It has been a source of great pleasure to the court to see the manner in which the case has been tried by counsel on both sides. It has been tried with great courtesy, great ability and with great fidelity, and it has been tried in a manner which has given to the court the least possible trouble in the conduct of the trial."

"I think the defendant, the public and all who have witnessed the manner in which the case has been tried must feel great satisfaction in knowing that in this country trials can be conducted with so much ease, so much dignity, so much ability and so much courtesy."

FOR THE HOSPITAL.

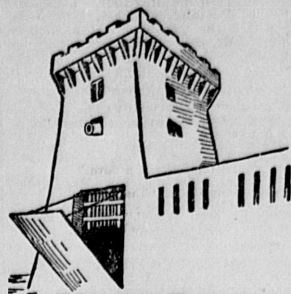

ANNUAL SUNDAY CONTRIBUTION OF THE CITY CHURCHES.

Hospital Sunday came not with the gladness of sunshine and fair skies. It was a gloomy day and the weather was so inclement that church attendance suffered in degree. From all the pulpits appeals were made for donations toward the support of the hospital, certainly one of the most deserving and useful institutions in the city. An appeal for $10,000 was made, but that amount was not realized, the total contributions being:

In view of the unpleasant weather, it is probable that the contributions from the different churches next Sunday will also be devoted to the support of the hospital.

It is an urgent need of funds, and the necessity of obtaining the $10,000 asked for is regarded as pressing. The hospital is dependent largely on private contributions. The wants of the institution are constantly increasing, and the increase next year is expected to be larger than ever. It is expected that the expenses of the institution will also be greatly increased in 1895 on account of the addition of several departments.

The numerous cures of rheumatism by the use of the old standard blood-purifier, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, show conclusively that it is an effective remedy, if not indeed the specific for this most painful and persistent of maladies. What has cured others will also cure you.

IT PREVENTS THE ENTRANCE of disease—pure blood or an active liver. How explained? The circulation of the blood is the great highway over which the germs of disease travel, the liver is the quarantine through whose gate any dread disease may or may not pass, as the liver chooses.

Are you watchful? Is your blood in order and your liver active, so as to repel disease? If not, you will find in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery just the help you need. It comes to your assistance when you have such warnings of impure blood and inactive liver, as pimples, boils or carbuncles; or a feeling of lassitude, weakness and despondency. When your flesh is, from any cause, "reduced below a healthy standard," you've only to take the "Discovery," which will set all the organs into vigorous action and builds up both flesh and strength. Avoid nauseous preparations of Cod liver oil. They add fat, but not wholesome flesh or healthy tissue.

The wedding of Mr. Francis Cassidy of Boston and Miss Julia A. Brennan of this city took place in the Church of Our Lady Wednesday evening, Rev. M. J. Dolan officiating. Mr. John Cassidy of Boston was best man, and Miss Rosie St. George of Waltham, bridesmaid. The bride was attired in a white silk gown, trimmed with satin ribbon. The bridesmaid wore pink cashmere, trimmed with pink lace and ribbon. After the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride on California street and was very largely attended. The members of Division 4, A. O. H., of which the groom is president, presented the happy couple with a costly chamber set, and they were the recipients of other useful and valuable gifts.

A family residing in one of the Newtons has for a pet a tame monkey. The other day the cook was frying doughnuts and as she took them out of the frying pan she would put them in a jar in a closet. On going to the jar to put the last few in she found that some one had stolen every one. After hunting for the thief for some time, the monkey was discovered on the porch with the doughnuts all strung on his tail. He had taken the doughnuts and strung them on his tail by running it through the holes in the doughnuts and when discovered was having a hard time keeping his tail straight up to prevent the doughnuts from dropping off. This is an actual fact.

Residents of this city are interested in a movement looking toward an improved railway station at Columbus avenue. The underground depot maintained by the B. & A. there is not at all acceptable to the hundreds of passengers who find it convenient to board trains at that point. It is dark, damp and dingy and not in keeping with other stations on the road where the patronage is much less. It is whispered that the railroad management frowns upon any significant improvement, fearing that it may increase the agitation for locating the main depot further toward the Back Bay district. The company, however, has plenty of land for the enlargement of the Columbus avenue station and should provide more conveniences there for its patrons.
